PLANS DISMISSAL FOR H. L. WILSON

President Contemplates Summary Punishment of Envoy's Criticism of England.

FOREIGN OFFICE ATTACKED

Ambassador Denies Its Statement That Recognition Followed His Speech to Huerta.

EVENTS NEAR IN MEXICO

Important Developments Expected There To-day—Lind Moves Into Embassy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. — President Wilson and Secretary Bryan contemplated to-night the possibility of immediate acceptance of the resignation of the United States Ambassador to Mexico, as a result of what they were disposed to construe as an affront to the British Government contained in formal comments made by him.

Henry Lane Wilson, whose resignation as Ambassador to Mexico was accepted recently to take effect Oct. 14, issued a reply to-day attacking the reported statement of the British Foreign Office that recognition of the Huerta Government had been extended by England after he made "a congratulatory speech" to the Provisional President of Mexico.

President Wilson read the Ambassador's statement and was so incensed at its tone and contents that he promptly requested Secretary Bryan to ascertain through the British Embassy here whether the utterance of the British Foreign Office as reported was correct, and to-night the dismissal of Ambassador Wilson by acceptance of his resignation to make it take effect immediately was under consideration by the Administration.

Will Take Up Case To-day.

Secretary Bryan and President Wilson to-morrow will discuss the reported statement of the British Foreign Office, which said that Great Britain recognized the Huerta Government only provisionally, pending an election, and pointed out that Great Britain, France, and Germany had accorded recognition after "a congratulatory speech" to President Huerta by Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, dean of the Diplomatic Corps in Mexico City.

The official interpretation of the British statement, which is credited by Administration officials, though they now will formally inquire into its authenticity, has been that Great Britain had expected the United States also to recognize the Huerta Government because Ambassador Wilson had read the speech.

Ambassador Wilson's views are known at the British Foreign Office to be at variance with those of the Washington Administration, but President Wilson is said to be disposed not to permit any attacks on the British Government from an official of the United States, which Ambassador Wilson would continue to be until October.

Take Exception to Remark.

Administration officials took particular exception to the Ambassador's remark, "If this statement really emanated from the British Foreign Office, it is at variance with its traditions and with the character which it has maintained before the world for two centuries."

It was pointed out that should the British Government's statement prove authentic, which is believed here to be the case, the American Government would be in the embarrassing position of maintaining an official who had criticised a friendly nation.

Disapproval also was voiced in Administration circles of the Ambassador's reference to the recognition of the Huerta Administration by European Governments "after waiting vainly for the recognition of the Government of the United States, which they universally thought should be accorded."

Official notice had not been taken of the Ambassador's criticism of the American Government's policy as expressed in published interviews, but to-night Secretary Bryan decided to inquire of Ambassador Wilson, who is now in Washington, whether he had authorized the statement given to the newspapers by him.

Ambassador Wilson's Reply.

In his response to Great Britain, Ambassador Wilson expressed doubt that the statement was genuine, for, he said, the assertions it contained were entirely contrary to the facts. Secretary Bryan announced that the statement had not been communicated to the State Department, and other officials assert that in their opinion any such communication from the British Government would have been telegraphed immediately to Washington by Ambassador Page.

In his response, Ambassador Wilson alleged that the address which he made to President Huerta in behalf of the Diplomatic Corps was drawn not by himself, but by two of his diplomatic colleagues, one of whom was the British Minister. That statement by the Ambassador was regarded as calling for an explanation from the British Government—provided that it was responsible for the implied accusation that Germany and France had recognized the Huerta Government because of Mr. Wilson's address to President Huerta.

According to Mr. Wilson, all the Governments which had diplomatic representatives in the City of Mexico at the time of Huerta's accession to power were parties to the speech which he made.

Doubts Statement Is Genuine.

Mr. Wilson's statement follows:

If this statement (England's) really emanated from the British Foreign Office, it is at variance with its traditions and with the character which it has maintained before the world for two centuries. I doubt the genuineness of the statement, as it is pure subterfuge, unworthy of the British Foreign Office.

As there existed at the time of this reception only a Provisional Government in Mexico, the Government of Great Britain could naturally recognize nothing but a Provisional Government, which it did in exactly the same manner and practically

WILSON'S EYES ON MAINE.

He Assures Pettengall of His Interest in Latter's Congress Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Homer S. Cummings, Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, conferred with President Wilson to-day on plans for the Congressional campaign in the Third Maine district, James G. Blaine's old district, where a special election is to be held on Sept. 8 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Goodwin.

Mr. Cummings also discussed Connecticut appointments with the President and recommended Thomas F. Noone to be Judge of the United States District Court to succeed Judge Platt.

After Mr. Cummings's visit, President Wilson dictated the following letter to William R. Pettengall of Waterville, Me., the Democratic candidate:

"I am taking the liberty of writing you just a line to say how deeply interested I am in your candidacy for Congress. Like all other Democrats, I shall watch the result with the greatest interest as well as with the greatest confidence. My immediate object in writing is to congratulate the party in having a representative in this contest who they can feel represents the principles and the policy of the party so truly and with so much ability."

HAS CROSSED GREENLAND.

Capt. Koch, Danish Explorer, Began His Trip in June Last Year.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 13. — Capt. Koch, the well-known Danish Polar explorer, has succeeded in crossing Greenland from east to west over the eternal inland ice field.

Capt. Koch, who started in June, 1912, with a number of well-known scientists, surmounted the dangers and difficulties of Queen Louisa Land and eventually reached Proeven, near Upernivik, on Baffin's Bay.

Capt. Koch was a member of the Erichsen expedition in 1906.

QUEENSTOWN PROTESTING.

Argument That Big Cunarders Cannot Safely Use Port is Combatted.

CORK, Aug. 13.—A deputation representative of all the business interests in Cork and Queenstown started for London to-day to protest against the decision of the Postmaster General to permit the big Cunard Line mail steamers to omit Queenstown as a calling port.

The decision of the Postmaster General was rendered on the plea of the Cunard Line that it is dangerous for such vessels as the Mauretania and Lusitania to enter the harbor, but members of the deputation deny this, and, as proof of their contention, point out that the White Star Line steamer Olympic, which is much larger than the Cunarders, had no difficulty in calling at Queenstown.

PINNED TO TREE BY AUTO.

Maine Man Hurt by Car Driven by Miss Elizabeth Perkins.

YORK, Me., Aug. 13.—An automobile driven by Miss Elizabeth Perkins of New York City struck James Curran late last night, and he was so seriously injured that he probably will die.

Miss Perkins, who is spending the Summer here, was taking home a party of friends after an entertainment on the village green, when something went wrong with the steering gear of the automobile. Curran, who was on the roadway, was hit by the machine and pinned against a tree.

He is the proprietor of a Summer livery stable here.

TORPEDOES KILLED SLEEP.

Placed on Trolley Tracks, They Awoke Tenth Ave.—Youth Is Fined.

Peter McGuinness of 458 West Twenty-seventh Street was fined $5 in Jefferson Market Court yesterday because he was one of a group of youths whom Patrolman Kelly of the West Seventeenth Street Station caught putting torpedoes along the Tenth Avenue trolley tracks just below Twentieth Street. Residents along that thoroughfare had been complaining bitterly of interrupted sleep because of this annoyance.

Kelly told Magistrate Corrigan he suspected that the torpedoes had been "hooked" from the stores of the New York Central Railroad. They are used for signaling purposes.

BANS SLIT SKIRT IN OFFICE.

New Britain Concern Also Forbids Hobble and Diaphanous Garb.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Aug. 13.—The slit skirt and hobble and diaphanous garb are things of the past among young women employed as stenographers and clerks by Landers, Frary & Clark, a large manufacturing concern.

The management has issued an edict to the young women that they will be expected to garb themselves with decorum.

The polite hint tht they must change their style was conveyed by means of a note each girl found in her pay envelope yesterday, stating that all must appear for work in businesslike and modest clothes.

Many of the young women took umbrage at the order, while others to whom the ultra-modern garments did not appeal said it was "good enough for them." Several hundred stenographers and clerks are affected.

PHYSICIAN A SUICIDE.

Wife and Daughters Hear Shot Which Kills Dr. McGeorge.

Special to The New York Times.

WOODSTOWN, N. J., Aug. 13.—Dr. E. P. McGeorge, 42 years old, a widely known physician of Salem County, formerly County Coroner, committed suicide at his home here last night by shooting. Death was instantaneous.

No cause is known for the suicide. Dr. McGeorge had dined with his wife's father, William B. Turner. He returned later to his own home and spent an hour in smoking on the front porch. He then went into his office, locked the door, took a revolver from the drawer of his desk, placed the muzzle in his mouth, and pulled the trigger. His wife and two daughters were seated on the porch of the house next door when they heard the shot fired in Dr. McGeorge's office. They were afraid to return home until neighbors accompanied them.

Dr. McGeorge was a son of Dr. Wallace McGeorge of Camden. He was a Republican and took an active part in politics.

CLUBS IN HEALY'S; WHITMAN PUT OUT

OBJECTORS ARE BEATEN UP

WENT TO SEE FOR HIMSELF

Had Conferred with Magistrate Deuel, Who Had Threatened Police with Arrest.

Despite the warning from Magistrate Deuel in the West Side Court that he would issue warrants for policemen who laid hands on the diners there, Inspector Dwyer and fifty policemen descended again on Healy's Restaurant at 1 o'clock this morning, and, with violence even greater and more spectacular than that which had been used twenty-four hours before, cleared the restaurant of its patrons. Three hundred men and women were led, pushed, shoved, carried, clubbed, and thrown out.

One of the men who was thrown out of the restaurant was District Attorney Charles S. Whitman. He had spent the evening at the home of Magistrate Deuel and had gone directly from that conference to Healy's, at Sixty-sixth Street and Columbus Avenue, arriving there a few moments before 1 o'clock. He had gone there to see the scenes of violence for himself so that he might know how to act.

District Attorney Pushed Out.

He was standing some fifteen feet from the main entrance, leaning on a chair and watching with compressed lips the rough handling of the patrons and the steady use of the police club, when down the aisle charged Inspector Dwyer himself, rushing a guest to the exit. Behind the Inspector a half dozen bluecoats were pushing a struggling knot of men.

With the District Attorney this flying wedge collided, and, as it moved on, he was carried swiftly to the door and a second later he was in the street.

Within a few more seconds, a little flushed but self-possessed, he was back in the main dining room of the restaurant. And while Mr. Healy was rushing to his side Inspector Dwyer came in. He looked completely crestfallen, and in a voice that could be heard above all the clamor of the ejections he expressed a hearty apology. It had been unintentional, said Dwyer. He was extremely sorry that it had happened.

"I refuse to accept your apology," said the District Attorney quietly. "I am disgusted with the whole business."

Whitman Suggests Warrants.

"If you think that any warrants should be issued as a result of what has happened to-night," he assured the restaurant proprietor, "I shall be glad to give you what assistance I can and will do so if you will call at my office after breakfast."

The air of excitement began to settle over Healy's as early as 12 o'clock, by which time several hundred people had gathered in Columbus Avenue, and every seat in both rooms of the restaurant was taken.

If Acting Police Commissioner McKay were the advertising manager of the restaurant he could not have done better by it than he has. Healy's never knew a more prosperous evening, but the proprieties were all observed and considerably before the crucial hour of 1 A. M. the bar was closed and locked and every drinking gass was removed from the different tables. By 12:55 the crowd in the street had grown to the proportions of a mob, for several thousand persons were straining to get a glimpse of the exciting exit.

The stairways of the elevated railroad station at that corner were lined with men and women, the sidewalks were packed, and the curbstones were pre-empted by automobile parties the members of which stood upon the seats and craned their necks.

District Attorney Whitman arrived in company with Richard Harding Davis. They passed in quietly, elbowing their way through the jostling crowd at the entrance, but they were not unobserved, and in a few moments the word was passing swiftly from man to man that Whitman had gone in.

Then came the cheers. They were picked up all along the street, echoed on the elevated platforms above, and caught by the diners inside. There was a steady cry of "Whitman! Whitman! Whitman!" that rose to a chant as the District Attorney ducked into Mr. Healy's private office for a conference.

Of all those who saw him enter, probably none was more interested or curious than Deputy Police Commissioner Newburger, who, after the excitement had begun to subside, was discovered just outside the front window, guarded from the crowd by an iron rail and with his eyes strained to catch every detail of the rumpus inside.

At 12:55 came the formal notice from the uniformed policeman that the restaurant must be closed and the guests out by 1 o'clock. On Wednesday morning this was received with a deal of laughter and good-natured booing. This morning it was greeted by a storm of hisses, and several muscular men gripped their hands upon the tables as an earnest of the resistance they proposed to offer.

Whitman Presence Worries Dwyer.

The fights began within thirty seconds after the entrance of Inspector Dwyer. As he pushed into the restaurant at the head of his fifty strong-armed guardians of law and order he saw the District Attorney. Dwyer's face went white, he glanced nervously about him, and then stuck out his chin and went about the work that had been assigned to him from higher up.

On Wednesday morning it had been possible to send a bluecoat to each

TWO CANCER DISCOVERIES.

Diagnosis Method Found in France, Alleged Cure in Tasmania.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Thursday, Aug. 14.—The reported discovery of a simple method of diagnosing cancer, which has hitherto been impossible to detect at an early stage of the disease, receives prominence in this morning's papers.

A French doctor named Robinson, who discovered the method, describes it in a paper communicated to the Academy of Medicine. When cancer is suspected the patient's temperature is taken daily. If it remains normal the patient receives an injection of a certain solution.

The temperature is then taken every three hours. If the patient is suffering from a cancerous affection his temperature will rise from half to one degree during the day. If he is suffering from any other disease or is healthy his temperature will remain stationary.

It is stated that cancer has already been diagnosed in several Paris hospitals in this way, and experiments are being made in Italy and Spain.

The Eclair says the Academy of Medicine has decided to award to Dr. Robinson the prize offered for the best contribution to the study of cancer.

GIVE SKIN FOR BROTHER.

2 Little Boys Together Contribute 105 Square Inches to Fire Victims.

Two little boys went under the knife in Lebanon Hospital last evening, each to give skin from his thigh to heal the burns a younger brother had received while playing around a bonfire. In all 105 square inches of skin were transferred.

The most remarkable transfer was that made from the body of 12-year-old William Schwartz of 452 East 171st Street. Sixty square inches of his skin were grafted on the unhealed chest of his 3-year-old brother Albert, who was playing in the street in front of his home on June 19, when his kilts caught the flames from a fire some children had started.

The other operation was performed on 9-year-old Peter Graham, Jr., of 1,102 Southern Boulevard. From his thigh forty-five inches of skin were grafted on the abdomen of his 6-year-old brother Joseph. Joseph's burns were received when he was playing at a fire in a vacant lot on June 18. The flames ignited his clothing, which was almost entirely burned from his body before they were smothered by passersby.

Dr. Kaiden and Dr. Scheinman of the Lebanon Hospital staff did the grafting last evening, and were able to report later that all four boys were doing well.

FOSS MAY DESERT PARTY.

Massachusetts Governor Would Accept Republican Nomination.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Gov. Eugene N. Foss, who was one of the Democratic candidates for the Presidential nomination last year, made public a brief statement to-day which was generally interpreted by political leaders to mean that he would seek the Republican nomination for Governor at next month's primaries. Should the Governor return to the Republican ranks, which he left to be elected as a Democratic Congressman in a strong Republican district, and subsequently to be elected Governor for three successive terms on a Democratic ticket in what is known as a "rock ribbed" Republican State, it would mean a three-cornered contest at the primaries. Col. Everett C. Benton, last year's defeated Republican standard bearer, and Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, have already announced that they would seek the Republican nomination.

"If I am a candidate for the Republican nomination," Gov. Foss's statement said, "I will abide by the result of the Republican primaries and not run later as an independent candidate if defeated."

The Governor has frequently expressed dissatisfaction with the present national Democratic Administration, saying recently that he was convinced that the present national leaders of the Democratic Party offer no hope to the country of a sane tariff revision.

As another indication of the shifting of party lines, Chairman Thomas P. Riley of the Democratic State Committee announced to-night that he had prevailed upon Daniel H. Long, an enrolled Republican, to enter the primaries as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

PUPILS IN SCHOOL SCANDAL

Camden's Prosecutor Takes Up Cases—Detectives Put at Work.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 13.—Prosecutor Kraft to-day approved a bill of $672 which was presented to the Board of Freeholders for detective work. It was then learned that the conduct of the pupils of the Manual Training and the high schools of this city had been a matter of investigation. The detective work was done between July and August, and it was said that the Prosecutor had obtained the names of forty girls who are pupils at the high school who are involved in the investigation.

It was said to-day by the Freeholders that the nature of the cases was such that detectives were needed to obtain the necessary evidence, and that much had been learned that was of a criminal nature.

Supt. James E. Bryan and Miss Clara S. Burroughs of the high school admitted to-day that the charges were true. At least three of the schoolboys and three of the girls had married, they said, since school closed in June. It is said that they gave the private detective much assistance in the investigation, and that some of the pupils were followed to the seashore, where evidence was obtained against them.

E. E. Read, President of the Board of Education, would not say to-day what the charges were. The matter, he said, was in the hands of the Prosecutor.

CALLS SPECIALIST FOR MRS. SULZER

HAS NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

MAY BE HIS CHIEF WITNESS

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—The condition of Mrs. Sulzer, who is prostrated as a result of her husband's predicament, became so serious that Mr. Sulzer telegraphed to New York to-night for Dr. Abrams, a nerve specialist. He will arrive here early to-morrow.

Mrs. Sulzer, it was said to-night, was broken-hearted. She had broken down completely after declaring that she had signed her husband's name to checks received as campaign contributions.

From a source close to the family it was said that Mrs. Sulzer had first made her "confession" to Gov. Sulzer and to Louis Marshall, the New York lawyer. The thought that by her action she had ruined the public career of her husband was responsible for her present condition, it was said.

Mrs. Sulzer may be a witness for her husband in the court impeachment, and on the advice of her lawyers she has decided to make no statement further than the declaration to Senator Palmer. Gov. Sulzer refuses to discuss the part which Mrs. Sulzer says she played in his financial affairs. It was reported on Tuesday night that she had made out an itemized list of her stock transactions, but there has been no confirmation of this report.

When Senator Palmer was asked last night to confirm the report that Mrs. Sulzer had made a confession to him he referred inquirers to Mrs. Sulzer. He explained to-day that he had done this because Gov. Sulzer said he did not want it made public.

"I could say nothing last night," Senator Palmer said to-day, "because the Governor had asked me not to repeat what his wife had said, declaring that he did not want his wife used as a shield to protect him from impeachment. As the story has been told, however, there can be no harm in confirming it. I am of the opinion that the crux of the whole situation is in what Mrs. Sulzer told me.

"I understand Mrs. Sulzer will be a witness in the impeachment proceedings. She told me that she had signed her husband's name to all the checks used in the Wall Street transactions. That was my understanding. She looks upon the Governor as a mere child so far as household finances are concerned. The Governor has no idea of the value of his own money, and she understands this.

"I do not care to become involved in this matter. I enter the case with an open mind. It is a clear page and I shall do my duty as a judge."

It is said in connection with the statement made by the Governor's wife that at the time of Mr. Sulzer's nomination for the Governorship the family finances were at a low ebb. There was said to have been an indebtedness of $40,000. It has also been said that Matthew T. Horgan, Secretary of the Frawley Committee, knew of the situation, and had advised Mrs. Sulzer in relation to her speculative transactions. It is asserted that the record of her transactions is missing, her bankbook, love letters, and trinkets which the Governor had given to her having been stolen. Mrs. Sulzer told Senator Palmer that she knew who had taken the articles.

While Assemblyman Levy was speaking this morning in support of the resolution of impeachment, the statement attributed to Mrs. Sulzer was made public. Mr. Levy characterized the story in his speech as an "eleventh-hour attempt of a faithful wife to shield her husband." The Governor's friends say that Mrs. Sulzer's statement that without her husband's knowledge she diverted some of the campaign contributions will place the situation in a new light, and will benefit the Governor at the trial.

Mr. Horgan said this afternoon that there was no truth in the assertion that he had been fully familiar with the actions of Mrs. Sulzer. He also denied that he had advised Mrs. Sulzer at any time with reference to Wall Street speculations.

MRS. SULZER NAMED ONCE.

Mentioned in Testimony Before the Frawley Committee.

Only one reference was made to Mrs. Sulzer in the testimony before the Frawley Committee. Richard M. Huber, Secretary of the Frank V. Strauss Company, was asked by Eugene Lamb Richards, counsel for the committee, if he had found among Mr. Strauss's canceled checks one payable to Mrs. Sulzer.

A Frank W. Strauss check for $1,000 was among the seven checks, alleged campign contributions, which, according to the testimony, went to pay for 200 shares of Big Four Railroad stock bought.

In examining the clerk, Mr. Richards said:

"I call your particular attention to the date of Oct. 16, 1912, a check from the Frank V. Strauss Company for $1,000. I want to know if you found any sign of that check?"

"No, Sir."

"I do not mean on that day."

"No check to William Sulzer," said the witness.

"I am not talking about that; to any

PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—With William Sulzer impeached by the Assembly and his trial set for Sept. 18, but determined to fight to the last ditch to hold his office, the State to-night has to meet his contest for the Governor's chair.

When soon after 3 o'clock this afternoon the Assembly presented to the Senate the articles of impeachment passed early this morning, Martin H. Glynn, the Lieutenant Governor, automatically became Acting Governor, and announced that he intended to assume the duties of the office.

At the same time both Mr. Sulzer and his counsel, ex-Judge D Cady Herrick, made it clear that he did not intend to relinquish the office without making a fight to retain it. It was said at the Executive Chamber this afternoon that the fight on Mr. Sulzer's part would start the moment Mr. Glynn attempted by any act to exercise the powers of Governor.

Mr. Glynn is as anxious as is Mr. Sulzer for a test of his powers through the courts. In fact, the foundation for such action will be laid to-morrow morning when Deputy Controller Walsh will ask the Attorney General's office for an opinion with regard to his right to pay out money on vouchers signed by Mr. Sulzer.

Friends of Mr. Sulzer announced that their test would come through the pardoning of some convict by Mr. Sulzer and the refusal on the part of some friendly prison Warden to honor the Sulzer order of release. Counsel for the pardoned man would then be in a position to bring the matter into court under habeas corpus proceedings and get a quick adjudication. This, it is said, would settle the entire question focusing in the Governorship.

Sulzer to Stay in Mansion.

Gov. Sulzer probably will be left in undisturbed possession of the Executive suite in the Capitol Building and of the Executive Mansion. He will continue to enjoy a Governor's salary of $10,000 and all the qerquisites that go with the office. Mr. Glynn will be satisfied to govern the State from his little coop of an office adjoining the Senate Chamber, which for days has been the mecca of office seekers. He will be content with his present salary of $6,000, even though he has assumed the strenuous burdens and responsibilities that go with the office of Governor.

"I do not intend to enter into any physical contest with Mr. Sulzer over the office of Governor," said Mr. Glynn when he reached the Capitol late this afternoon. "As far as I am concerned, there will be no circus or military manoeuvres about occupying the Executive Chamber. The law is supreme.

"I regard myself as Acting Governor of the State of New York. The business of the Governor's office will be conducted from the office I have occupied as Lieutenant Governor until further notice. I think there should be a test at the earliest possible moment to determine definitely who should exercise the powers of Chief Executive while the impeachment is pending. To have two Governors would, to say the least, cause a great deal of confusion that would be detrimental to the welfare of the State."

Won't Resort to Force.

Late to-night Judge Herrick issued this statement on behalf of Mr. Sulzer:

"Counsel for Gov. Sulzer have no desire to be interviewed, or to try the merits of his case in the newspapers, and have no desire to make any statements in his behalf, and have advised the Governor to refrain from making any statement at the present time, likewise his wife.

"We have engaged in his defense not for William Sulzer, but as a professional and public duty for the Governor of the State, and to preserve, so far as it can now be preserved, the good name and fame of the State.

"After an examination of Mr. Sulzer in relation to the transactions disclosed by the Frawley Committee we are satisfied that there has been only a partial revelation of the facts so far, and we are satisfied that he has been guilty of no wilful wrong doing; and we ask from the public, on his behalf, a suspension of judgment, until all the facts can be disclosed, before the proper tribunal, and in an orderly way.

"The statement in the papers that the Governor will, if necessary, resort to force to maintain his position, is the merest rot. He will meet the charges made against him in an orderly and dignified way, and will do nothing unbecoming to the dignity of the State, and will engage in no physical scramble to assert his rights to discharge the functions pertaining to the office of Governor."

The decision of Mr. Sulzer and his lawyers to take into court the question of the legality of his impeachment has been reached on two grounds. The first is the contention that the extraordinary session was not empowered to act on anything except such matters as the Governor recommended. The second contention is that an official can be impeached only for malfeasance in office, while they urge that the principal allegations made against Mr. Sulzer have to do with the administration of his campaign fund, which antedates his installation into the office of Governor. The articles of impeachment, however, allege abuse of veto power and other serious offenses while in office.

The other side denounces as absurd the contention that merely because it is in extraordinary session, the Assembly forfeits its right to impeach. In support of that contention it is pointed out that if this argument held good the Governor virtually would be immune, because he would not be likely to take the initiative in impeachment proceedings against himself.

Vast Power for Wagner.

When, through the filing of the impeachment, Mr. Sulzer was shorn of the powers and prerogatives of his office and Mr. Glynn became Acting Governor, Robert F. Wagner, president pro tem of the Senate became Lieutenant Governor and presiding officer of the Upper House, with a salary of $6,000 a year, where at present he receives only $1,500 as Senator. As President of the Senate Mr. Wagner will exercise greater power than did Mr. Glynn. Having been elected a Senator, Mr. Wagner will vote on measures that come before the Upper House, where the Lieutenant Governors who are elected to that office can vote only on certain motions where there is a tie.

Incidentally the elevation of Senator Wagner will involve considerable increase in the power and influence the Democratic organization will wield in the administration of the State's affairs. By assuming the office of Lieutenant Governor, Senator Wagner will have a seat and a vote on various boards through which considerable patronage is being distributed. He will be a member of the Canal Board, of the Land Board and of the Board of Trustees of Public Buildings.

Mr. Glynn declined to discuss his prospective policies. Those who know Mr. Glynn, however, say he will set to work at once to bring some order out of the chaos existing in the State departments, the fight between Mr. Sulzer and Charles F. Murphy having engaged the attention of the Chief Executive almost to the exclusion of other matters.

In a general way it is predicted that Mr. Glynn will not undertake any radical changes in the State Government during the time that must elapse before a settlement has been reached in the impeachment proceedings pending against Mr. Sulzer.

Sulzer Keeps Silent.

It was after 11 o'clock this forenoon when Mr. Sulzer reached the Capitol. He walked over from the Executive Mansion with Samuel Bell Thomas, his close personal friend. Mr. Thomas has been staying at the Executive Mansion throughout the impeachment fight.

The Governor seemed refreshed although he had slept only four hours. Mr. Sulzer sat up with his principal political adviser John A. Hennessy on one of the porches of the Executive Mansion until with the coming of the dawn they received word of the final vote in the Assembly on the impeachment resolution. Through the hours of debate in the lower house Mr. Thomas went between the Governor's mansion and the Capitol building, bringing orders for the Governor's supporters to execute and carrying back with him the latest tidings of the losing fight in which Mr. Sulzer's friends were engaging.

As the Governor left the Capitol he was met by a group of newspaper correspondents. He halted for a moment on the Capitol steps to permit some photographers to take pictures of him in various poses.

"It's a fine breeze," was all Mr. Sulzer would say in response to requests for a statement with reference to his future plans.

"Mr. Sulzer had a long conference with Judge Herrick in the little inner office of the Executive suite. Soon afterward they were joined by Lynn J. Arnold, editor in chief of The Knickerbocker Press, which has been fighting hard to prevent the impeachment. Not once during the day did Gov. Sulzer appear at his desk in the large Executive Chamber. When the newspaper correspondents at the Capitol called for the daily audiences with the Governor Mr. Sulzer sent out word that under instructions from the lawyers neither he nor Mrs. Sulzer would have a word to say for publication before or during the impeachment proceedings.

Mrs. Sulzer, it was learned, in the meantime was prostrated over the ill-fortune that had befallen her husband. Interviewers who called at the Executive Mansion with a view to getting some further explanation from Mrs. Sulzer's lips with reference to her startling "confession" of last night were told that Mrs. Sulzer could not be interviewed and that her lips would be sealed for the future.

Mrs. Sulzer's condition became so serious to-night that Gov. Sulzer wired to New York for a specialist on nervous diseases. The Governor then told his advisers, it was said by those who professed to have knowledge of Mr. Sulzer's plans, that under no circumstances would he allow Mrs. Sulzer to testify at the trial. It was said, on the other hand, that Mrs. Sulzer insisted hysterically that she be allowed to testify in her husband's behalf.

Mr. Sulzer remained at his office until 6 o'clock, when he walked over to the Executive Mansion with George W. Blake. Mr. Sulzer just missed meeting Patrick Edgar McCabe, Senate clerk, when the latter went to the Executive Chamber to serve on Mr. Sulzer a summons and complaint in the impeachment proceedings, together with a copy of the articles of impeachment. Mr. McCabe arranged with Major Schermerhorn, Mr. Sulzer's military aid, for service of the papers at 11 o'clock to-morrow forenoon.

Ex-Judge Herrick remained with Mr. Sulzer almost until he was ready to leave the Executive Chamber for the day.

Great Array of Counsel.

Judge Herrick is only one of a formidable array of lawyers with whom Mr. Sulzer has been conferring regarding his case. Here are some of the lawyers whose advice Mr. Sulzer has sought: Ex-Judge James Gay Gordon of Philadelphia, Samuel H. Ordway, Roland Miles of Northport, Louis Marshall, Peter P. Smith, Austen G. Fox, ex-Judge Irving E. Vann, Samuel I. Frankenstein, John N. Carlisle, Samuel Bell Thomas, Alexander S. Bacon, formerly United States District Attorney; Henry A. Wise, Bainbridge Colby, and ex-Judge Lynn J. Arnold.

As Mr. Sulzer left the Capitol for the day he was asked by one of the newspaper correspondents if he had any statement to make.

"Will you be back at your office to-morrow?" asked one of the correspondents.

"Yes, Sir-ree," said the Governor in his most determined fashion.

Then he struck out and made for the Executive Mansion with his usual long stride.

INDICTMENT IS PRESENTED.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—The Assembly passed the resolution to impeach Gov. William Sulzer at 5:16 o'clock this morning as the climax of an all-night session. The vote was 79 to 45. By the same vote the Assembly adopted the Articles of Impeachment. These were presented to the Senate by a committee of the Assembly this afternoon, the act, according to the opinion of eminent constitutional lawyers, completing the process of impeachment and automatically removing the Governor from office.

After the adoption of the Articles of Impeachment the Assembly appointed a committee to communicate the action taken to the Senate and a board of nine managers to have charge of the prosecution of the impeachment charges before the Court of Impeachment composed of the Senate and the Court of Appeals.

The Senate was to meet at 3 o'clock. It was somewhat later when Mr. Wagner, the President pro tem., ascended the rostrum. When the opening gavel fell about two-thirds of the Senators were in their seats.

The Sergeant at Arms swung open the central doors of the Senate Chamber, and escorted up the aisle the Assemly committee. James B. Vanwoert of Lewis County was Chairman. The other members were Marc W. Cole of Orleans and Clarence Bryant of Genesee.

The Committee's Message.

"Mr. President," said Chairman Van Woert, "in obedience to the order of the Assembly, we appear before you in the name of the Assembly of the State of New York and all of the people of the State of New York, and do impeach William Sulzer, Governor of the State of New York, for wilful and corrupt misconduct in office and for high crimes and misdemeanors; and we do further inform the Senate that the Assembly will, in due time, exhibit articles of impeachment against him and make good the same; and in their name we demand that the Senate shall take order for the appearance of said William Sulzer to answer said impeachment."

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the committee," said Senator Wagner, "the chair begs to assure you that the Senate will take the proper order in the premises, notice of which will be given to the Assembly."

From the moment the three emissaries from the Assembly appeared the Senate Chamber took on an air of solemnity. The massed spectators behind the forum rails preserved unusual silence.

It was not long before the Sergeant at Arms again announced that a visitor was at the Senate gates. This time it was the Clerk of the Assembly who was announced. Mr. Van Namee was escorted up the centre aisle. He announced that the Assembly had appointed nine managers to conduct the impeachment, and that he had conducted to the gates of the Senate the men who were to prosecute the Governor before the court of impeachment.

After a ceremonious bow Mr. Van Namee withdrew, giving way to the managers themselves. In double file they marched up the aisle, Aaron J. Levy, majority leader of the lower house, heading the procession. He carried in his hand the articles of impeachment, certified by the Speaker and stamped with the seal of the Assembly.

"Mr. President," said Mr. Levy, "the Board of Managers appointed by the Assembly to conduct the impeachment of William Sulzer, Governor of the State of New York, respectfully submits the following articles, accepted by the Assembly of the State of New York against William Sulzer, Governor of this State, in maintenance of its impeachment against him for wilful and corrupt misconduct in his said office and for high crimes and misdemeanors."

Levy Reads the Articles.

In a loud, droning voice Mr. Levy read the Articles of Impeachment. The reading occupied more than half an hour. It was just 4 o'clock when Mr. Levy finished. Two minutes were required to convey the bulky document to the presiding officer and for that official to formally accept it.

"The Articles of Impeachment are hereby received by the President of the Senate and by the Senate," said Senator Wagner. "The Senate will in due time appoint the day for the trial of the impeachment.

"The President of the Senate decides to announce that he will call the Court of Impeachment to be summoned to meet at the Capitol in the City of Albany on the Eighteenth day of September, 1913, at the hour of noon."

Senator Wagner then handed the articles to Clerk McCabe. At that moment, according to legal opinion, William Sulzer ceased to be Governor of New York.

Senator Brown's Warning.

As the Senate session was drawing to a close Senator Elon R. Brown, leader of the Republican minority, arose and called attention to the apparent necessity of legislative action at some time in view of Mr. Sulzer's assertion that he intended to retain his office in spite of the impeachment. Senator Brown said:

I ask unanimous consent to call the atention of the Senate to a matter which I consider of great public importance at this time. Article 13, Section 6, of the Constitution, provides that the Assembly shall have the power of impeachment by a vote of the majority of all the members elected. Article 6, Section 4, provides that in case of the impeachment of the Governor or his removal from office, inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, resignation or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor for the residue of the term or until the disability shall cease.

For hundreds of years the meaning of impeachment has been well settled and understood. Impeachment consists in the action taken by the Assembly, together with a presentation of the charges or articles of impeachment to the Senate. It is doubtful if the presentation of those charges is essential to the impeachment itself, as described in the section which I have just read.

It is now reported about the Capitol that the Governor will refuse to recognize that the provisions of Section 6, Article 4, suspend his powers as Governor, and that the powers and duties of Governor now vest in the Lieutenant Governor. It is a matter of the highest importance to this State that a Chief Executive universally recognized by the people of the State as such, be acting as Governor without cessation, and I desire to call the attention of the Legislature to this situation at this ime in order that it may be in a position, if any contingency shall arise, to use its power to the maintenance and continuance of a single recognized Government in this State ,and I hope that nothing will be done by the present Governor, under existing conditions, to add to the peril to which the State has already been brought through the matters which have been presented to the Senate this afternoon.

Passage of the Resolution.

The impeachment resolution was passed after the Assembly had been in session more than seven hours. Organization leaders who had sparred for time all night in the fear that their programme of impeachment would be wrecked by lack of votes, welcomed newcomers to the Assembly Chamber, summoned from New York during the early hours, and, assured of victory by their presence, started a rapid-fire of legislation with the adoption of the impeachment resolution.

The articles of impeachment, embracing the findings of the Frawley Committee in substance, lay ready for presentation in the desk of Mr. Levy, the majority leader, hours before the organization trusted its impeachment resolution to a roll call. With the adoption of this resolution and the creation of a committee, headed by Mr. Levy, to prepare the articles, a recess was taken. Mr. Levy and his associates went through the formality of retiring, to reappear within an hour, and send the articles to the Speaker's desk with a resolution that they be adopted.

After the adoption of the resolution a committee was appointed to acquaint the Senate with the Assembly's findings, also the nine managers named by Speaker Smith as follows: Levy of New York, Chairman; McMahon of New York, Greenberg of New York, Gillen of Kings, Ward of New York, Fitzgerald of Erie, Madden of the Bronx, T. K. Smith of Onondaga, and Schnirel of Ontario.

Mr. Levy moved at 5:05 A. M. the adoption of the resolution for the impeachment of the Governor. A burst of applause swept through the chamber. Assemblyman Prime made a brief reply to Assemblyman Levy and the roll call on the impeachment resolution was begun at 5:07.

"Hiding Behind Womanhood."

"You want to remember now," Mr. Levy said in concluding his speech in support of the resolution, "that the minority leader's law partner is attorney for the Governor, and his newspaper this morning contains a beautiful portrait of Mrs. Sulzer, under which appears the extraordinary statement that she 'makes confession of the Governor's innocence.' I have no sympathy for a man who attempts to shield his own delinquency by hiding behind womanhood."

Assemblyman T. K. Smith of Syracuse, a Republican, the only member to explain his vote, announced that he had requested delay Monday night to afford him an opportunity to study the Frawley Committee report and the impeachment resolution. He had studied them since then, he added, and with reluctance voted in the affirmative.

Assemblymen Burden and Patrie, Democrats, did not vote on the roll call but asked at its conclusion to be recorded as voting in the negative. It had been the assumption that they would vote for the resolution.

The roll call proceeded with smoothness and precision. There was no repetition of attempts made on every previous rollcall in the last two days to delay the result. This was unexpected in view of the fact that Republican and Progressive leaders championing the Governor's cause had announced their intention to fight the resolution to the last ditch.

The committee appointed to formulate the impeachment articles consisted of Levy of New York, Chairman; Deitz of Kings, Kelly of Dutchess, Daley of Onondaga, Democrats, and Bryant of Genesee, Republican.

Asleep in Their Chairs.

Many members had been slumbering in their seats during the tedious hours of the prolonged debate. Others, buoyed no longer by the excitement attendant upon the expectation of a roll call on the impeachment resolution, leaned back in their chairs and closed their eyes. There were audible sounds of deep and labored breathing from some of the members. Speaker Smith, leaning forward, swept with his eyes rows of men with their heads thrust down on their bosoms and their eyes closed.

"A number of the members, I take it, are asleep in their chairs," he thundered, bringing his gavel down with a resounding thump on his desk. "Members will please answer when their names are called."

More whacks of the gavel on the Speaker's desk, reinforced by thumping by newly-awakened members on their desks, aroused the sleepers, and the Assembly took up the next matter on the schedule of unfinished business—the Blauvelt short election bill.

Then the Assembly, at 7:30 A. M., adjourned to meet again at 11 o'clock.

Two hundred spectators, the remnant of the throng that surged through the Capitol last night, walked out of the Assembly chamber with the legislators. They had sat or stood up all night to see the Governor impeached. The heaviest guard of uniformed police ever sent into the Capitol, each armed with nightstick and revolver, walked out, too, leaving the Assembly chamber to solitude, the stale odor of half-smoked cigars, and the hundreds of torn papers that littered the floor.

All through the day criticism was heard as the result of the sensational incident of the early morning hours, when the report of Mrs. Sulzer's "confession" spread about the Capitol corridors. It was learned to-night that Assemblyman T. K. Smith of Onondaga, who worked in close accord with the Republican minority of the lower house in last night's attempt to bring about a delay of a week before taking the final vote on the impeachment resolution, had been stirred to such anger by the incident that he abandoned his Republican colleagues and joined hands with the Democratic majority for immediate action. Mr. Smith demanded that he be given a place on the Board of Managers to conduct the prosecution, and the request was granted.

While the Court of Impeachment has been summoned to meet on Sept. 18, it was said by a member of the Board of Managers to-night that the actual trial of the Governor probably would not begin until a few days later, as it would be necessary at the outset to appoint a committee to formulate rules of procedure and arrange other details of the trial.

EIGHT ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT AGAINST GOV. SULZER.

The Charges, Including Five Felonies and Two Misdemeanors, Contained in Document Filed with the Senate by the Assembly—Campaign Fund Perjury and Grand Larceny in Wall Street Deals Alleged—Bribery of Witnesses and Suppression of Evidence Before Frawley Committee—Trading Patronage for Votes—Using Governorship to Affect Stock Prices.

Articles exhibited by the Assembly of the State of New York, in the name of themselves and of all the people of the State of New York, against William Sulzer, Governor of said State, in maintenance of their impeachment against him for wilful and corrupt misconduct in his said office, and for high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE I.

That the said William Sulzer, now Governor of the State of New York, then being Governor-elect of said State for the term beginning Jan. 1, 1913, he having been elected at the general election held in said State on the 5th day of November, 1912, was required by the Statutes of the State then in force to file in the office of the Secretary of State within twenty days after his said election a statement setting forth all the receipts, expenditures, disbursements, and liabilities made, or incurred, by him as a candidate for Governor at said general election at which he was thus elected, which statement the statute required to include the amount received, the name of the person or committee from whom received, the date of its receipt, the amount of every expenditure or disbursement exceeding $5, the name of the person or committee to whom it was made, and the date thereof, and all contributions made by him.

That, being thus required to file such statement, on or about the 13th day of November, 1912, the said William Sulzer, unmindful of his duty under said statutes, made and filed in the office of the Secretary of State what purported to be a statement made in conformity to the provisions of the statute above set forth, in which statement he said and set forth as follows, to wit: That all the moneys received, contributed, or expended by said Sulzer, directly or indirectly, by himself or through any other person, as the candidate of the Democratic party for the office of Governor of the State of New York, in connection with the general election held in the State of New York on the 5th day of November, 1912, were receipts from sixty-eight contributors, aggregating five thousand four hundred and sixty ($5,460) dollars, and ten items of expenditure aggregating seven thousand seven hundred twenty-four and nine-one-hundredths ($7,724.09) dollars, the detailed items of which were fully set forth in said statement so filed as aforesaid.

That said statement thus made and filed by said William Sulzer as aforesaid was false, and was intended by him to be false and an evasion and violation of the statutes of the State, and the same was made and filed by him wilfully, knowingly, and corruptly, it being false in the following particulars, among others, to wit:

It did not contain the contributions that had been received by him, and which should have been set forth in said statement, to wit:

Abraham Elkus.	500	E. F. O'Dwyer..	100
W. F. McCombs.	500	John W. Cox...	300
H. Morgenthau.	1,000	The F.V. Strauss Company	1,000
T. W. Myers....	1,000	J. T. Dooling...	1,000
John Lynn......	500

That in making and filing such false statement, as aforesaid, the said William Sulzer did not act as required by law, but did act in express violation of the statutes of the State and wrongfully, wilfully and corruptly; and, thereafter, having taken the oath as Governor, and proceeded to perform the duties thereof, the said false statement thus made and filed by him caused great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE II.

That the said William Sulzer, now Governor of the State of New York, then being Governor-elect of said State for the term beginning January 1, 1913, he having been elected at the general election held in said State on the 5th day of November, 1912, was required by the statutes of the State then in force to file in the office of the Secretary of State within ten days after his said election, as aforesaid, an itemized statement showing in detail all the monies contributed or expended by him, directly or indirectly, by himself, or through any other person, in aid of his election, giving the names of the various persons who received such moneys, the specific nature of each item and the purpose for which it was expended or contributed; and was further required to attach to such statement an affidavit, subscribed and sworn to by him, such candidate, setting forth, in substance, that the statement thus made was in all respects true and that the same was a full and detailed statement of all moneys so contributed or expended by him, directly or indirectly, by himself, or through any other person, in aid of his election.

That being thus required to file such statement, and attach thereto such affidavit, on or about the 13th day of November, 1912, the said William Sulzer, unmindful of his duty under such statutes, made and filed in the office of the Secretary of State what purported to be a statement made in conformity to the provisions of the statute above set forth, in which statement he stated and set forth as follows, to wit: That all the moneys received, contributed, or expended by said Sulzer, directly or indirectly, by himself or through any other person, as the candidate of the Democratic Party for the office of Governor of the State of New York, in connection with the general election held in the State of New York on the 5th day of November, 1912, were receipts from sixty-eight contributors, aggregating five thousand four hundred and sixty ($5,460) dollars, and ten items of expenditure aggregating seven thousand seven hundred twenty-four and 9-100 ($7,724.09) dollars, the detailed items of which were fully set forth in said statement so filed as aforesaid.

That attached to such statement thus made and filed by him as aforesaid was an affidavit, subscribed and sworn to by said William Sulzer, stating that said statement was in all respects true and that the same was a full and detailed statement of all moneys received or contributed or expended by him, directly or indirectly by himself or through any other person in aid of his election.

That said statement, thus made and filed by said William Sulzer as aforesaid, was false and was intended by him to be false and an evasion and violation of the statutes of the State, and the same as made and filed by him wilfully, knowingly, and corruptly, being false in the following particulars, to wit:

It did not contain the contributions that had been received by him, and which should have been set forth in said statement, to wit:

A. I. Elkus.....	500	E. F. O'Dwyer.	100
H. Morgenthau.	1,000	The F. V. Strauss Company	1,000
T. W. Myers...	1,000

That said affidavit thus subscribed and sworn to by said William Sulzer was false and was corruptly made by him.

That in making and filing such false statement as aforesaid, the said William Sulzer did not act as required by law, but did act in express violation of the statutes of the State and wrongfully, knowingly, wilfully and corruptly; and, in making said affidavit, as aforesaid, the said William Sulzer was guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury and of a violation of Section 1,620 of the penal law of the State; and, thereafter, having taken the oath as Governor, and proceeded to perform the duties thereof, the said false statement and affidavit thus made and filed by him caused great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE III.

That the said William Sulzer, then being the Governor of the State of New York, unmindful of the duties of his office, and in violation of his oath of office, was guilty of mal and corrupt conduct in his office as such Governor of the State, and was guilty of bribing witnesses, and of a violation of Section 2,440 of the penal law of the said State, in that, while a certain committee of the Legislature of the State of New York named by a concurrent resolution of said Legislature to investigate into, ascertain and report at an extraordinary session of the Legislature then in session, upon all expenditures made by any candidate voted for at the last preceding election by the Electors of the whole State, and upon all statements filed by and on behalf of any such candidate for moneys or things of value received or paid out in aid of his election, and their compliance with the present requirements of law relative therto, while such committee was conducting such investigation, and had full authority in the premises, he, the said William Sulzer, in the months of July and August, 1913, fraudulently induced one Louis A. Sarecky, one Frederick L. Colwell, and one Melville B. Fuller, each to withhold true testimony from said committee, which testimony it was the duty of said several persons named to give to said committee when called before it, and which under said inducements of said William Sulzer, they, and each of them, refused to do.

That, in so inducing such witnesses to withhold such true testimony from said committee, the said William Sulzer acted wrongfully and wilfully and corruptly, and was guilty of a violation of the statutes of the State and of a felony, to the great scandal and reproach of the said Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE IV.

That the said William Sulzer, then being the Governor of the State of New York, unmindful of the duties of his office, and in violation of his oath of office, was guilty of mal and corrupt conduct in his office as such Governor of the State, and was guilty of suppressing evidence and of a violation of Section 814 of the penal law of said State, in that, while a certain committee of the Legislature of the State of New York, named by a concurrent resolution of said Legislature to investigate into, ascertain and report at an extraordinary session of the Legislature then in session, upon all expenditures made by any candidate voted for at the last preceding election by the electors of the whole State, and upon all statements filed by and on behalf of any such candidate for moneys or things of value received or paid out in aid of his election, and their compliance with the present requirements of law relative thereto—while such committee was conducting such investigation and had full authority in the premises, he, the said William Sulzer, practiced deceit and fraud and used threats and menaces with intent to prevent said committee and the people of the State from procuring the attendance and testimony of certain witnesses, to wit: Louis A. Sarecky, Frederick L. Colwell, and Melville B. Fuller, and all other persons, and with intent to prevent said persons named, and all other persons, severally, they or many of them having in their possession certain books, papers and other things which might or would be evidence in the proceedings before said committee, and to prevent such persons named, and all other persons, they, severally, being cognizant of facts material to said investigation being had by said committeee, from producing or disclosing the same, which said several witnesses named, and many others, failed and refused to do.

That, in this practicing deceit and fraud, and using threats and menaces as, and with the intent aforesaid, and upon the persons before-named, the said William Sulzer acted wrongfully and wilfully and corruptly and was guilty of a misdemeanor, to the great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE V.

That the said William Sulzer, then being the Governor of the State of New York, unmindful of the duties of his office, and in violation of his oath of office, was guilty of mal and corrupt conduct in his office as such Governor of the State, and was guilty of preventing and dissuading a witness from attending under a subpoena, in violation of Section 2,441 of the penal law of said State, in that, while a certain committee of the Legislature of the State of New York named by concurrent resolution of said Legislature to investigate into, ascertain, and report to any extraordinary session of the Legislature then in session upon all expenditures made by any candidate voted for at the last preceding election by the electors of the whole State, and upon all statements filed by and on behalf of any such candidate, for moneys or things of value received or paid out in aid of his election, and their compliance with the present requirements of law relative thereto—while such committee was conducting such investigation, and had full authority in the premises, he, the said William Sulzer, wilfully prevented and dissuaded a certain witness, to wit, Frederick L. Colwell, who had been duly summoned or subpoenaed to attend as a witness before said committee hereinbefore named for the eighth day of August, 1913, from attending pursuant to said summons of subpoena.

That in so preventing or dissuading said Frederick L. Colwell, who had thus been duly summoned or subpoenaed to appear before said committee on said day named, from attending before said committee pursuant to said summons or subpoena, the said William Sulzer acted wrongfully and wilfully and corruptly, and was guilty of a violation of the statutes of the State and of Section 2,441 of the penal law, and was guilty of a misdemanor, to the great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE VI.

That the said William Sulzer, now Governor of the State of New York, was duly and regularly nominated by the Democratic Party of said State as its candidate for Governor, at a regular convention of said party, held in the City of Syracuse, on the first day of October, 1912, such nomination having been made on or about the second day of October, 1912, and he was, therefore, until the fifth day of November, 1912, when he was elected to such office of Governor, such candidate of said party for said office.

That being, and while, such candidate for said office of Governor, various persons contributed and delivered money, and checks representing money, to him, said William Sulzer, to aid his election to said office of Governor, and in connection with such election; that said money and checks were thus contributed and delivered to said William Sulzer as bailee, agent, or trustee, to be used in paying the expenses of said election and for no other purpose whatever; that the said William Sulzer, with the intent to appropriate the said money and checks representing money, thus contributed and delivered to him as aforesaid, to his own use, having the same in his possession, custody, or control as bailee, agent, or trustee as aforesaid, did not apply the same to the uses for which he had thus received them, but converted the same and appropriated them to his own use and used the same, or a large part thereof, in speculating in stocks, through brokers operating on the New York Stock Exchange, and thereby stole such money and checks and was guilty of larceny.

That among such money and checks thus stolen by said William Sulzer was a check of Jacob H. Schiff for $2,500; a check of Abram I. Elkus for $500, a check of William F. McCombs for $500; a check of Henry Morgenthau for $1,000; a check of John Lynn for $500; a check of Theodore W. Myers for $1,000; a check of Lyman A. Spaulding for $100; a check of Edward F. O'Dwyer for $100; a check of John W. Cox for $300; a check of Frank V. Strauss Company for $1,000; a check of John T. Dooling for $1,000, and cash aggregating $32,850.

That in so converting and appropriating said money and checks to his own use, the said William Sulzer did not act as required by law, but did act wrongfully and willfully and corruptly, and was guilty of a violation of Sections 1,290 and 1,294 of the penal law, and of grand larceny, and the same was done for the purpose of concealing, and said action and omission of said William Sulzer did conceal, the names of persons who had contributed funds in aid of his election and defeated the purposes of the provisions of the statute which requires such publication that the people might know whether, or not, said Governor, after he had taken office, was attempting to reward persons who had so contributed in aid of his election, by bestowing official patronage or favors upon them, and thereafter having taken the oath as Governor of the State of New York, and proceeded to perform the duties thereof, appropriated the said appropriation to his own use, and his larceny of the same, caused great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE VII.

That the said William Sulzer, then being the Governor of the State of New York, unmindful of the duties of his office, and in violation of his oath of office, was guilty of mal and corrupt conduct in his office as such Governor of the State, and was guilty of the corrupt use of his position, as such Governor, and of the authority of said position, and of a violation of Section 775 of the penal law of said State, in that, while holding a public office, to wit: the office of Governor, he promised and threatened to use such authority and influence of said office of Governor for the purpose of affecting the vote or political action of certain public officers; that among such public officers to whom the said William Sulzer promised, or threatened, to use his authority and influence as Governor, for the purpose of affecting their votes, said persons to whom such promises or threats were made were:

Hon. S. G. Prime, Jr., a member of the Assembly for the County of Essex for the year 1913, the promise being that if said Prime would vote for certain legislation in which said William Sulzer was interested, and, as Governor, was pressing to passage, he, said Sulzer, would sign a bill that had already passed the Legislature and was pending before him, reappropriating the sum of about $800,000 for the construction of roads in said County of Essex and counties adjoining thereto, the said Governor at the time of said promise well knowing that the said Assemblyman S. G. Prime, Jr., was desirous of having said bill for said appropriation for roads signed by the Governor.

Hon. Thaddeus C. Sweet, a member of the Assembly for the County of Oswego for the year 1913, the threat being that if the said Sweet did not vote for certain legislation in which said William Sulzer was interested, and, as Governor, was pressing to passage, he, the said Sulzer, would veto a bill that had already passed the Legislature and was pending before him, appropriating certain moneys for the construction of a bridge in said County of Oswego, the said Governor at the time of said threat well knowing that the said Assemblyman Thaddeus C. Sweet was desirous of having said bill for said appropriation signed.

That in so using the position and authority of the office of Governor the said William Sulzer acted wrongfully and wilfully and corruptly, and was guilty of a violation of the statutes of the State and of Section 775 of the penal law, and of a felony, to the great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

ARTICLE VIII.

That the said William Sulzer, then Governor of the State of New York, unmindful of the duties of his office, and in violation of his oath of office, was guilty of mal and corrupt conduct in his office as such Governor of the State, and was guilty of the corrupt use of his position, as such Governor, and of the authority of said position and of a violation of Section 775 of the penal law of said State, in that, while holding a public office, to wit: the office of Governor, he corruptly used his authority, or influence, as such Governor to affect the current prices of securities listed and selling on the New York Stock Exchange, in some of which securities he was at the time interested and in which he was speculating, carrying, buying, or selling upon a margin or otherwise, by first urging, recommending, and pressing for passage legislation affecting the business of the New York Stock Exchange and the prices of securities dealt in on said Exchange, which legislation he caused to be introduced in the Legislature, and, then, by withdrawing, or attempting to withdraw, from the consideration of the Legislature such legislation which was then pending therein, all the time concealing his identity in said transactions by subterfuge.

That in so using the position and authority of the office of Governor the said William Sulzer acted wrongfully and wilfully and corruptly and was guilty of a violation of the statutes of the State, and of Section 775 of the penal law, and of a felony, to the great scandal and reproach of the Governor of the State of New York.

And the said Assembly, saving to themselves by protestation the liberty of exhibiting any other articles of impeachment against the said William Sulzer, Governor as aforesaid, and also of replying to the answers which he may make to the impeachment aforesaid, and of offering proof of the said matters of impeachment, do demand that the said William Sulzer, Governor as aforesaid, be put to answer all and every of the said matters, and that such proceedings, trial, and judgment may be thereunder had and given as are conformable to the Constitution and laws of the State of New York; and the said Assembly are ready to offer proof of the said matters at such time as the honorable court for the trial of impeachment may order and appoint.

PASSED OVER SULZER'S VETO.

New Legislative Programme Indicated by Action on Bills.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—After having been in session all night, the Assembly at 7 o'clock this morning took up work tending to indicate that, with the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer, there would be a new legislative programme. Two bills were passed over the Governor's veto. No bill had been passed in such manner in a generation.

One of the measures passed permits the purchase by the State of toll bridges over canals and rivers and the abolition of tolls charged by private corporations. The bill was urged by the Governor, at the request of Attorney General Carmody, at the beginning of the extraordinary session. It was opposed by counsel of one of the bridge companies affected for the reason that the measure made the question of damages dependent on the judgment of the State Board of Claims instead of the Supreme Court. Gov. Sulzer, in his veto message, objected to the bill on the ground that it was passed on July 23, when, he contended, no quorum was present.

The other bill passed amended the election law. It was introduced by Senator Blauvelt. Its principal feature is the cutting down of the expense of primaries by about $750,000. The bill was passed by a vote of 108 to 32.

The Senate this afternoon passed both these bills without a dissenting vote.

FRAWLEY CONFAB SOUGHT BY SULZER

ADMITTED GOING TOO FAR

Frawley in Senate Denies Report That He Appealed to Sulzer for Protection.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—From a high authority THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learned to-night the purpose of Senator Frawley's visit to Gov. Sulzer yesterday.

It was Mr. Sulzer himself who sought the conference with the Chairman of the committee which had laid the foundation for the impeachment. Mr. Sulzer was in quest of information.

Gov. Sulzer, it was said, told Senator Frawley that he had been forced into his fight with the organization by well-meaning but ill-advised counselors, who since then had deserted him in the fight for which they in part at least were responsible. Mr. Sulzer is said to have told Senator Frawley that he never intended to carry his fight on the organization as far as it had been carried, and that circumstances which he could not control were responsible for the crisis which had arisen. The Governor then appealed to the Senator to do what he could to avert the scandal that would follow the finding of an impeachment.

Senator Frawley told the Governor that he thoroughly sympathized with him in the difficult situation which confronted him, but that the thing had gone so far that he was powerless.

"Then I will tell you, Senator Frawley," the Governor is quoted as having said, with considerable warmth, "if you do this thing there will be a revolution in this State within forty-eight hours. The people elected me Governor, and they won't stand for Tammany Hall removing me."

Senator Frawley again tried to assure the Governor that he felt sorry, but that nothing could be done and that the machinery set in motion for deposing him from his high office would move irresistably until the grist had been delivered.

Frawley's Own Explanation.

After the impeachment ceremonies in the Senate to-day Mr. Frawley arose to a question of personal privilege, and, waving a copy of The New York World in his hands, entered a vigorous protest against an article printed this morning in which it was asserted that Senator Frawley had called upon Gov. Sulzer yesterday afternoon to seek his protection against threatened prosecution.

"Yes, I visited Sulzer yesterday," said Senator Frawley, "and will visit Gov. Sulzer every day that he is here and I am here. My visit yesterday was purely out of friendship. My friendship for Gov. Sulzer has not changed one iota even in his darkest moments. I had a duty to perform to my colleagues in the Legislature and that is what the committee attempted to do, to be eminently fair in every respect, and I feel that they have carried it out to the letter.

"Now, as far as myself appealing to anybody for protection or for the hiding of anything which has occurred during my legislative career, let me state now that I have no fears whether from Gov. Sulzer, Mr. Hennessy, or any other man in this State.

"I think some time ago, Mr. President, that a similar misstatement was made in reference to my appearing before the Governor, and asking him to protect me. Now, I don't make that request—I didn't make that request then nor do I now. I state to the members of this Senate that I have no fear from anybody within the confines of this State or any other State as to my career in the legislative halls in the State of New York.

"I just simply want to call to the attention, Mr. President, of the members of the Senate and the newspapers that this statement, not made direct to me, making the attack, but by innuendo, that I made an appeal, that I called yesterday on the Governor to make a personal appeal to save me—that is an absolute untruth."

More Sensations Coming.

It was learned to-night after a conference between Senator Frawley and Eugene Lamb Richards, counsel for the Frawley Committee, that the work of investigating the Sulzer campaign fund and the Governor's alleged speculation venture would be resumed before many days. It is known that information has poured in on the committee in a flood during the last forty-eight hours, and it is asserted that far more sensational disclosures are expected.

FIRST IMPEACHMENT HERE.

Sulzer the Only New York Governor Ever Thus Arraigned.

While the Governors of seven other States have been impeached, and two of them found guilty, William Sulzer is the first Chief Executive of New York State ever called upon to defend charges aiming at his removal. One President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, has been called upon then to defend himself

The charge against Johnson was usurpation of the law, corrupt use of the veto power, interference at elections, and high crimes and misdemeanors. The trial continued from March 30 to May 26, 1868, and the verdict was an acquittal, the vote being: Guilty, 35; not guilty, 19.

Here is a list of the Governors impeached and the date of their trials: Charles Robinson of Kansas, 1862; Harrison Reed of Florida, 1868; William W. Holden of North Carolina, 1870; Powell Clayton of Arkansas, 1871; David Butler of Nebraska, 1871; Henry C. Warmoth of Louisiana, 1872; and Adelbert Ames of Mississippi, 1876. Butler of Nebraska and Holden of North Carolina were found guilty. The others were acquitted.

The first impeachment case on record in this country was in 1797, when William Blount, a Senator from Tennessee, was brought to trial on the charge of inciting the Indians of Louisiana against the Spaniards, and of trying to create disaffection among the Indians toward the United States. Blount flatly refused to appear before the tribunal, alleging that the Court of Impeachment had no jurisdiction. He was acquitted.

Next came the case of John Pickering, a Judge of the United States District Court for New Hampshire, who was impeached in 1803 for drunkenness. The trial continued from March 3 to March 12, 1803, and Pickering was found guilty and removed from office.

In 1805 Supreme Court Justice Samuel Chase was tried on the charge of abuse of power, and acquitted.

Judge James P. Peck of the United States District Court of Missouri was impeached in 1830 for tyrannous treatment of counsel. He was acquitted.

District Court Judge West H. Humphreys of Tennessee became a Judge of the Confederate States in 1862, and was removed from the bench on a charge of conspiracy.

The case of William W. Belknap, Secretary of War in 1876, was a sensational one. He was charged with accepting bribes, but was acquitted.

In 1904 District Court Judge Charles Swayne of Florida was tried and found not guilty on the charge of falsifying expense accounts.

A more recent case was that of Judge Robert W. Archbald, who on Jan. 13 of this year was found guilty by the Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment, and removed from office. Archbald was accused of having misused his office.

one on that date; a check to bearer or any other person."

"No, no check to bearer."

"Or to Mrs. Sulzer?"

"No check to Mrs. Sulzer."

Here the subject was dropped.

Mrs. Sulzer has been noted chiefly for her attention to the duties of her household.

Before her marriage she was Miss Clara Rodelheim of Philadelphia. Her parents were Germans and from them she acquired her skill as a housekeeper. She attended high school in Philadelphia until she was 18 years old, when she decided to become a nurse. She began her studies in the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago, and after being graduated there, took a course in the Graduate Nurses' College at Columbia. She became a registered nurse, and was appointed assistant superintendent of Mount Sinai Hospital.

While Mr. Sulzer was a Member of Congress he and Mrs. Sulzer lived in an unpretentious apartment in East Capitol Street in Washington. There was no elevator in the house, so that guests who were invited to Mrs. Sulzer's social entertainments had to climb the stairs.

"I love to read, and to sew, and to cook, and to make cake, and to attempt new dishes," said Mrs. Sulzer once in an interview. "I like visiting my friends, and I do like above all other things to have a new friend to lunch and to cook every particle of food myself. It is genuine liberty to sit down and serve yourself without a black-browed servitor standing by idly, scowling at you if you linger."

At the Illinois Training School for Nurses Mrs. Sulzer is remembered by her classmates as a woman of high character.

"She was one of the finest women I have ever known," said Mrs. Emma Koch, Superintendent of a local hospital, yesterday. "She was a splendid nurse, always sacrificing herself for the patient."

LIKE THE BELKNAP CASE.

Mrs. Sulzer's Story Recalls Impeachment of Grant's War Secretary.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The turn given to the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer by Mrs. Sulzer's efforts to assume responsibility for certain of the acts charged against her husband has recalled to local historians the part played by Mrs. William W. Belknap in the incidents leading up to the impeachment of her husband as Secretary of War in President Grant's second term. Mr. Belknap was charged with selling the office of post trader at Fort Sill for a fixed annuity. The day the House was to order articles of impeachment against him he resigned. The impeachment was presented to the Senate, and although far more than the needed two-thirds of the Senators believed him guilty, he was acquitted on the ground that impeachment could not lie against a man who was a private citizen at the time the charges were formally brought.

One of the articles of impeachment set forth that for the sum of $6,000 a year a man named Caleb P. Marsh was allowed to name a certain John S. Evans as post trader at Fort Sill, a still larger payment for the privilege being paid to Marsh by Evans. Under this agreement, the article recited, Secretary Belknap would corruptly receive from Marsh, either to Belknap's own use or to be paid over to his wife, certain sums.

The House Committee on Expenditures in the War Department investigated the matter, and Marsh swore before it that he had made the arrangement with Mrs. Belknap, but that after her death he had continued regularly to make the payments, and that the Secretary himself had given receipts for them. In begging President Grant to accept his resignation in an effort to head off further investigation, Mr. Belknap told the President that he had always understood that the money he received from Marsh came from one of Mrs. Belknap's private investments.

When the Senate refused to dismiss the charges Mr. Belknap asserted that he had resigned not from any personal fear of investigation, but to save the memory of his wife and others dear to him from scandal. According to this document, which was presented in Mr. Belknap's defense, the Secretary of War had promised Representative Hiester Clymer of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the investigating committee, that he himself would assume full responsibility and blame for the acts of his wife if the committee would agree to suppress Mrs. Belknap's part in the matter. This Mr. Clymer refused to do, said Mr. Belknap, unless he resigned. It was after having received what he considered a promise of immunity for his dead wife that Mr. Belknap then, according to his own statement, did resign. But Mr. Clymer denied the truth of Mr. Belknap's account, proceeded with impeachment and specifically mentioned the deceased Mrs. Belknap as an accomplice.

"He (the Secretary of War) avers the fact to be that a standing committee of the House had examined one Marsh, and he had made a statement to said committee, which said statement, if true, would not support articles of impeachment against him, the said Belknap, but which said statement was of a character in respect to other persons, some of whom had been, and one of whom was, so nearly connected with him, the said Belknap, by domestic ties as greatly to afflict him, the said Belknap, and make him willing to secure the suppression of so much of said statement as affected such other persons at any cost to himself."

The Senate, however, was not impressed by this explanation, and Mr. Belknap's acquittal was formally explained by those who voted him "not guilty" as due solely to the Senate's lack of jurisdiction.

SULZER AS GOVERNOR.

Seven and a half months have passed since William Sulzer became Governor of the State. On the day of his inauguration he proclaimed himself the "Governor of all the people," and said: "I intend to follow in the footsteps of Silas Wright in the honesty and simplicity of my administration."

On the third day after his inauguration Gov. Sulzer when asked by the newspaper correspondents whether he had received the "O. K." of Charles F. Murphy said that he would settle that question once and for all by asserting that he was the Democratic leader of the State. He invited any Democrat who desired to challenge his assertion to come out in the open.

Trouble between the Governor and the leader of Tammany began when Gov. Sulzer refused to appoint James E. Gaffney Highways Commissioner. An effort to patch up the differences between them was made on March 17, when Gaffney was sent to call upon the Governor at the Waldorf. The next day, it was said, Sulzer and Murphy met at Delmonico's, and after a long conference came to an understanding. Sulzer denied that there was anything to the report.

An estrangement between the Governor and the Tammany organization was brought on again by his appointment of John Mitchell, ex-President of the United Mine Workers' Union, as Commissioner of Labor. After Mitchell's nomination had twice been rejected by the Senate his tenureof office was held to be illegal by Attorney General Carmody.

Meanwhile, Gov. Sulzer, in a special message to the Legislature, had renewed his recommendations for a direct primary law that would abolish the State Convention and provide for the direct nomination of candidates for all State officials. There were many who believed that he was planning to obtain a renomination from the Democratic Party next year.

With the opening of the extra session of the Legislature, which was called to pass the direct primaries measure after the regular session had defeated it, the Democratic organization unlimbered its big guns and began its first open attack on Gov. Sulzer. Members of both houses had returned to Albany, embittered by the attacks the Governor had made on the Legislature in his Statewide campaign for the direct primaries bill. Senator Robert F. Wagner was the most outspoken of the Governor's critics:

"I shall not permit to go unchallenged what the Governor has said in insinuations and direct charge concerning members of this body," he asserted. "The time has come when the Senate will look more deeply into accusations made against Senators and more deeply into what has been done since the regular session. The truth will come to light. Let us have patience and the people will know what bargains have been made to get votes for a bill the Governor is so anxious to pass, but which he has not discussed."

It was only a few days after Gov. Sulzer had been denounced for his attacks on members of the Senate in his primaries campaign that the ermant perjury story was sent out. This related to the Sulzer suit in Vermont in 1889 to recover a fee of $10,000 as Counsel for Mrs. Mary Maude Carr Watson, who contested successfully the will of her grandfather.

It was after the defeat of the Direct Primaries bill that the Frawley Committee was appointed to investigate the Governor's administration. From the first it was understood that the investigation was inspired by Tammany Leader Murphy. Meanwhile a suit for breach of promise of marriage was brought in Philadelphia against Gov. Sulzer by Miss Mignon Hopkins, a saleswoman in a department store in that city.

With the inquiry into the Governor's State Prison investigation unfinished, the Frawley Committee on July 17 took up a line of inquiry closely affecting the Governor himself. Several Assemblymen and Senators were examined under oath with a view to substantiating the charge that the Governor used his veto power to win votes for his Direct Primaries bill.

When this line of investigation was taken up the Governor told his friends that the war between him and Tammany Leader Murphy meant "war to the knife and the knife to the hilt." Even at that time it was said that a man who had the confidence of both Sulzer and Murphy was trying to arrange peace between them. The peace parleys never got far, and at last the Frawley committee went into the receipt and disbursement of the Governor's campaign fund, resulting in the present proceedings in the Assembly looking toward the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer.

TAMMANY ELATED.

But Conservative Leaders Fear Impeachment May Hurt City Ticket.

There was a distinct atmosphere of elation about Tammany Hall yesterday as a result of the Assembly's action in impeaching the Governor. All the leaders followed the example of Mr. Murphy and refused to comment upon the subject. The general feeling was that the fate of Tammany hung in the balance while the Assembly was voting to throw the Governor into the discard, for if the Governor won the leaders realized that the Democratic organization would be at his mercy from now on. They feared what might happen if the Governor's investigators were to probe the Tammany Legislators in the same way that the Tammany Legislators probed the Governor's acts.

While there was rejoicing and much praise of Murphy, many leaders who had been close friends of the Governor for years, expressed sorrow at what they termed his complete overthrow and humiliation. They would have liked to have the Tammany boss triumph in a less spectacular way, and to have punished the Governor less severely. Several of the more conservative leaders expressed the opinion that the impeachment might prove a boomerang, and ultimately hurt the organization as much as it did the Governor. They admitted that it would have a serious effect upon the municipal campaign in that it had centred the attention of the people upon the organization in such a way as had probably never happened before. The older leaders realized that their opponents would not overlook the opportunity to use the scandal for all it was worth.

Murphy Still Guides by Telephone.

Tammany made no move yesterday about making up its slate for the municipal election. The district leaders and others who called at the wigwam in Fourteenth Street were told that Leader Charles F. Murphy was giving his entire attention to the Albany situation and would not take up local political affairs until the Sulzer impeachment proceedings were disposed of.

Murphy remained all day at his home in East Seventeenth Street and was in constant telephonic communication with Albany. He refused to say a word either about the action of the Assembly in impeaching the Governor.

GLYNN HAS MANY FRIENDS.

Lieutenant Governor Popular Among All Kinds of Politicians.

Lieut. Gov. Martin H. Glynn was seriously considered as a candidate for Governor at the Syracuse Convention last Fall. However, he became Temporary Chairman of the convention which selected him as a running mate for Sulzer.

Lieut. Gov. Glynn is called a "little man with a big personality," for his good humor and his record as a public official have won him many friends and supporters among all classes of politicians. Mr. Glynn, on assuming office, undertook to co-operate with Gov. Sulzer, but it became apparent soon that the two men officially, as well as socially, had very little in common. It is said that when Gov. Sulzer vetoed the Hydro-Electric bill, in which Mr. Glynn was interested, that hastened the Lieutenant Governor to the conclusion that his relations with the Governor were incompatible.

Martin H. Glynn was born in Kinderhook, Columbia County, N. Y., Sept. 17, 1871. He received his education in the public schools, and while still a student, took a position as assistant bookkeeper in a cotton mill. He was graduated with honor from Fordham University in 1894, and following his graduation began his career as a newspaper man on the staff of The Times-Union in Albany. Later he became managing editor of that newspaper, and spent his leisure hours in the study of law. He is now editor and proprietor of The Times-Union.

In 1897, Mr. Glynn was admitted to the bar, and the following year he was elected to Congress, where he served two terms. He was appointed by President McKinley a member of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Commission and subsequently was elected its vice president.

The nomination for Controller of the State was given to Mr. Glynn by both the Democratic party and the Independence League, and notwithstanding the fact that Charles E. Hughes, the successful candidate for Governor, was a Republican, he was elected, and was controller from 1906 to 1908.

In the race for Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Glynn defeated "Jim" Wadsworth, the Republican candidate. By virtue of his office he became the presiding officer of the Senate, with the power of naming committees. In exercising that prerogative he was not long in opposing the wishes of Tammany, when Stephen J. Stilwell of the Bronx, now a prisoner in Sing Sing, following his conviction on a charge of soliciting a bribe, was proposed as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Instead he appointed Senator John F Murtaugh of Elmira, to head that committee. Generally it is agreed that the Senate, under his direction, has proceeded with its business with regularity and good feeling.

The Albany newspaper correspondents, in their burlesque Legislative "Red Book" have made some very interesting personal observations about Martin H. Glynn, having collaborated on the following biographical sketch:

Martin Glynn is the man who signs letters when Gov. Sulzer is out of the State. He is also the man who says "Sh—h!" when any one breathes heavily in the Senate Chamber. Once Tammany Boss Murphy said "Sh—h!" and Mr. Glynn defied him by appointing fourteen Tammany men and one Independent Democrat on the Judiciary Committee. Mr. Glynn owns a newspaper which sometimes contains articles which, in part, read: "Mr. Glynn spoke as follows." Mr. Glynn's idea of happiness is to wake up some morning and see in a newspaper: "Gov. Sulzer resigned last night." Mr. Glynn made several speeches for Gov. Sulzer during the last campaign, none of which were taken seriously by the newspaper correspondents. If he doesn't quit talking about a hydroelectric plant to supply Albany and vicinity Anthony N. Brady is likely to cut down his campaign contribution next time.

NEWSPAPERS CALL TAMMANY ON TRIAL

Comments of the State Press on the Situation Created by Impeachment.

Strenuous Editorial Fight Waged for Him by Knickerbocker Press—Barnes Organ Against Haste.

The following extracts from leading newspapers in New York State show how the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer is regarded editorially:

Tammany Orders Blindly Obeyed.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 13.—The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle in an editorial to-morrow morning will say:

While Gov. Sulzer appears to have been reckless and heedless of consequences in his wrongdoings and has undoubtedly forfeited all hope of future political preferment, it must be charged against the Assembly that it proceeded with uncalled for haste in voting for impeachment. It made no pretense of examining the merits of the case, but blindly adopted the Frawley report; in other words, it obeyed Tammany orders and rushed through the impeachment as precipitately as it would shoot a mad dog.

This was undignified and disgraceful. It showed an utter lack of comprehension of the seriousness of the work in hand. The Frawley report was swallowed at a gulp and accepted as an item in a previously prepared programme.

To Railroad Sulzer Out of Office.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 13.—The Post-Standard (Rep.) will say editorially to-morrow:

Gov. Sulzer probably deserved impeachment. But he was not impeached because he deserved it. He was impeached upon order of Tammany Hall because he had proved faithless to Tammany Hall. The Assemblymen, summoned hastily to Albany to adopt the hastily drawn Levy resolution, based upon the hastily drawn report of Counsel Richards, were not giving a judicial opinion. They were executing the order given by the Democratic boss of New York.

The Governor of the State was not invited to appear in person or by counsel to reply to the charges made against him. The Assembly was called into session to railroad Mr. Sulzer out of office without regard for tradition, precedent, dignity, justice, order, or the good name of the State. Sitting as a court of impeachment it was governed by the methods Tammany employs in a political convention where there is opposition to be crushed out.

Better Element for Sulzer.

Special to The New York Times.

UTICA, Aug. 13.—The Utica Press says editorially on the Sulzer matter:

Conditions and circumstances surrounding this case are entirely different from those attending any other previous attempted impeachment anywhere in this country. For this reason the people do not consider it as seriously as the proceeding deserves, looking upon it rather as a quarrel and a wrangle between two political factions striving for the supremacy in this State. Even considering it a case where less of two evils is to be chosen the overwhelming majority of opinion among the better element would sooner see Sulzer succeed.

Method of the Gunmen.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, Aug. 13.—The Buffalo Courier, (Dem.,) will say to-morrow:

What a travesty of a proper proceeding in so grave a case! It is an offense to the ordinary decencies that should characterize parliamentary methods. It has the earmarks of desperate conspirators bent upon gaining their ends by trampling under foot the plainest considerations of proper procedure.

Whatever may be the failings of Gov. Sulzer, the gunmen method of seizing the executive office and turning the whole administrative branch of the State Government into a Murphy annex deserves the severest popular condemnation.

Justifies Removal from Office.

ELMIRA, Aug. 13.—The Elmira Advertiser says:

Men should not concern themselves at this time with the motives that induced the exposure of Gov. Sulzer's past. The fact is that serious charges, supported by written and oral testimony under oath, have been brought against him, making a case that on its face justifies removal from public office forthwith. If true, Gov. Sulzer was unfit for the high office for which he was chosen. If false, in no way can this falsity be more clearly displayed than by fair and open trial before the court of impeachment. Tammany may have been the informer and may have been moved by the lowest motives, but, after all, if they have exposed the Governor they have rendered a public service, and if they have falsely accused him, the very attempt will be their own undoing. Gov. Sulzer would be foolish indeed were he to rely on any technicality. The status of his case is such that, in the absence of new and overwhelming proof of his innocence on his part, after a careful trial of the case on its merits, his reputation stands a wreck before the people, and he besmirches the high place to which he clings. Unfortunately, by his own acts and course of conduct, he has added force to the proof that has been aroused against him. The people doubt him thoroughly, and this very fact makes his usefulness as Governor at an end, come what will.

"SULZER STILL GOVERNOR."

Albany Knickerbocker Press So Declares and Savagely Attacks Murphy

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—In an editorial headed "The Constitutional Governor," The Knickerbocker Press to-morrow will say:

William Sulzer is the Constitutional Governor of the State of New York this morning, the same as he has been ever since the 31st day of December, 1912, and he will continue to be the Constitutional Governor until the end of 1914. It may well be that he will also continue to be the Constitutional Governor for another term, and it may well be that he will some day be the Constitutional representative of the people in a still higher office.

Adversity kills weak men. It develops strong men. William Sulzer is a stronger character to-day than he was a week ago. His rugged honesty and strength of character are just beginning to be felt and recognized by the people.

The people of the State of New York and the people of the United States are this morning solidly behind William Sulzer as Governor of the Empire State. The telegrams and letters received hourly at the Executive Chamber are ample proof of this statement. The pusillanimous attempt of Charles F. Murphy and his satellites in the Legislature to besmirch the fair name of this great State, to wipe out Constitutional Government, and to arrogate to themselves complete control of all departments of the State Government and its activities have proved a "fulmen brutum."

Although the attempt of Murphy to arrogate to himself the constitutional powers has failed and will continue to fail, his intent must not be forgotten. He must receive his punishment. His rapacious followers must receive their punishment. They must all be banished from public life to the oblivion of the detested. Nor must Martin H. Glynn's record upon this attempted rape of the State be forgotten by the people.

The first opportunity for the electorate to exercise its sovereign power will come with the election of Assemblymen and Judges of the Court of Appeals. Candidates for these positions must be examined with microscopic scrutiny. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barnes must never again have either branch of the Legislature in their pockets. They must never have the slightest control over the Judges of this State. And especially they must never have any influence with the Judges of the Court of Appeals.

Charles F. Murphy stands unmasked. The masked burglar who breaks into your house in the midnight hours and shoots your wife and children in order that he may escape with his loot is a saint in comparison with Charles F. Murphy. Mr. Murphy's satellites in the Legislature are of a much lower order of humanity than the outside man who waits in the dark to aid in carrying away the swag.

"An attempt has been made to steal the constitutional government of the State of New York," says the editorial in conclusion. "It has failed. But eternal vigilance and the fullest discharge of the duties of citizenship must be the constant watchword of the people henceforth and forever more."

BARNES FOR DELIBERATION.

Republican Leader's Newspaper Makes a Plea Against Haste.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 13.—The Albany Evening Journal, William Barnes's newspaper, devotes much of the space on its editorial page this afternoon to the impeachment proceedings against Gov. Sulzer. The leading editorial contains a plea for deliberation in proceeding against the Governor. Another editorial expresses the unqualified conviction that the filing of the impeachment articles automatically suspends the Governor from office. This editorial said:

Data, through reasoning from which some have reached the conclusion that the impeachment does not suspend the Governor of the State from office and put the Lieutenant Governor in his place to act as Governor pending the outcome of the trial of the impeachment, are incomplete.

The article of the Constitution of the State of New York provides, after conferring the power of impeachment upon the Assembly and constituting the Senate and the Judges of the Court of Appeals the court for the trial of impeachments, that:

"No judicial officer shall exercise his office, after articles of impeachment against him shall have been preferred to the Senate, until he shall have been acquitted."

The contention that impeachment does not suspend the Governor from office is based upon that provision only. The reasoning, logical from that provision alone, is that inasmuch as it is specifically stated that "no judicial officer shall exercise his office," etc., other officers are excepted and shall remain in office through impeachment, pending the result of the trial.

The conclusion would be doubtless correct if there were no other constitutional provision bearing upon the question. But there is another. Section 6 of Article IV. provides:

"In case of the impeachment of the Governor the powers and duties of office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease."

The language is so plain that there cannot be a question of judicial interpretation concerning it.

The provision in Section 13 of Article VI., concerning judicial officers, is supplementary. It simply states that judicial officers shall likewise be suspended from office. The suspension of the Governor, upon impeachment, is definitely prescribed in the preceding article quoted above.

On this point the Constitution is clear beyond doubt.

COMMENTS OF THE CITY PRESS

Is Sulzer Afraid of a Trial?

From The World.

Unless William Sulzer has lost all regard for the decent opinion of his fellow-citizens he will stop his pettifogging and face the impeachment proceedings like a man. This is a serious State trial in which formal charges of corruption and criminality have been voted against the Governor of the State. Evidently the Governor is much more concerned about his office than about his honor.

A great deal of public sympathy has been expressed with the Governor during these proceedings. Most of this sympathy has been earned for him by the corrupt character and blackmailing methods of Tammany Hall, but it is not conceivable that sane sympathy can remain with the Governor while he persists in evading the accusations against him. In the circumstances the only thing an honest man can do is to demand a speedy and impartial trial. In reality the moral influence of this Court of Impeachment will be swung by the Judges of the Court of Appeals, a tribunal that ranks in reputation second only to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Present Status of Glynn.

From The Sun.

Crazy views are attributed to the impeached Governor of New York and the men who are advising him. It is asserted, for example, that "the Governor's office is a Constitutional one and cannot be vacated by the Legislature."

It is a Constitutional office and it can be and is temporarily vacated, so far as Mr. Sulzer is concerned, by the Constitution.

Gov. Sulzer was impeached yesterday and the powers and duties of the office of Governor immediately and automatically devolved upon the Lieutenant Governor, the Hon. Martin H. Glynn. The disability of Mr. Sulzer for exercising the powers and duties of the office of Governor cannot cease until he shall have been acquitted on the trial of his impeachment.

We do not agree with the view attributed to the Hon. Aaron J. Levy in the dispatches, namely, that Lieut. Gov. Glynn "automatically becomes Governor" by the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer. The powers and duties of the office pass to the Lieutenant Governor, but not the title. Mr. Glynn is still the Lieutenant Governor, constitutionally exercising the powers and duties of the office of Governor while Mr. Sulzer is under impeachment, just as he would exercise those powers and duties if Mr. Sulzer were absent from the State or temporarily the inmate of an asylum. The distinction, however, is of no great practical or political importance.

Courts, Not Militia, Must Decide.

From The Tribune.

Gov. Sulzer, having been impeached, continues to regard himself as Governor. His belligerent friends threaten to have the National Guard called out to retain him in the Executive office. Lieut. Gov. Glynn commendably has made no effort to seize control, and promises to make none, of the machinery of government by force.

The general provisions of the State Constitution contained in Article VI., Section 13, are perfectly plain.

As the section says that only judicial officers shall be deprived of their functions while awaiting trial under impeachment, it clearly means that no other officers shall suffer that disability. And it is in accordance with the Federal Constitution, upon which State Constitutions are modeled, not to suspend executives when under impeachment. Andrew Johnson acted as President while being tried by the Senate.

With common sense against the suspension of the Governor during trial, with the general provisions of the Constitution regarding impeachment distinctly implying that the Governor should not be suspended, it seems hardly likely that the courts would hold that the Lieutenant Governor took office before the conviction of the Governor under impeachment. The question may be easily brought before them, however, and should be settled as promptly as possible. The State does not want the scandal of a dispute as to who is Governor.

Should Welcome a Hearing.

From The Herald.

The Governor should welcome the earliest possible hearing. The machinery created by the Constitution provides for this. The efforts of the Governor and his friends to delay or prevent a trial, no matter upon what pretext, have materially weakened the force of his protestations of innocence and of his willingness to face a trial. So, too, have the efforts to becloud the issue by a "back fire" investigation into other matters which, like the flowers that bloom in the Spring, "have nothing to do with the case."

It is undoubtedly true that political animus is back of the case against him, but this fact in no sense subtracts from or militates against the testimony elicited by the Frawley committee. This must stand or fall on its merits, and so must the Governor's denials.

Gov. Sulzer will be given every opportunity to clear his name—but he cannot clear it in any other way than by proving his innocence.

Glynn's Hard Position.

From The Press.

With the impeachment of Mr. Sulzer, Lieut. Gov. Glynn—becoming acting Governor, as very good authority holds, during the trial, and, if Mr. Sulzer is found guilty and removed, becoming Governor—will stand henceforth under the close scrutiny of virtually every voter in New York, and probably a large proportion of the voters of the United States.

Mr. Glynn, if he does not fight his party managers, must stand in the position where he will often be regarded by those outside of it as its selected tool to replace Sulzer. If he disagrees with his party he must be denounced by those within it as a gallery player.

NEWS TOLD IN TIMES EXTRA

Assembly Vote on Sulzer's Impeachment Quickly Circulated.

Although Gov. Sulzer was not impeached until 5.13 o'clock yesterday morning—an hour when the final editions of morning newspapers are already printed and in course of distribution—THE NEW YORK TIMES was able to supply many of its readers in Manhattan, and some in Brooklyn, with copies of the paper containing the news.

The regular editions of the paper had been distributed, but THE TIMES prepared an extra announcing the adoption of the impeachment resolution of Assemblyman Levy by 79 votes to 45.

This edition was rushed to the presses at 5.30 o'clock. The freshly printed copies were loaded into special wagons which the delivery department of the paper had in readiness, and these covering the main avenues of travel, north, south, east and west, soon supplied with the news the principal centres of distribution which were easily reachable, that is, subway and elevated stations, hotel stands, and such places, as well as local newsstands in the centre of the city. Thus readers of THE TIMES using the main arteries of travel were able to obtain the definite announcement of the impeachment a very short time after this action had been taken in Albany.

It did not take the newsboys in Times Square long to obtain their supply of papers, and they did a thriving business in the early hours.

table with the announcement that supper was over. This morning the crowd in the restaurant was so dense and the tables ranged so closely that such procedure was out of the question.

The police decided that it was simply a matter of beginning at the beginning and mowing their way through to the end.

They took the first table, and the man, who had a woman with him, submitted passively, if without good humor, to the order to leave. The next man resisted and the police simply ran him down the aisle and threw him into the street.

Like a Football Scrimmage.

Then, for a moment, Healy's looked like a football field during a scrimmage. Within two minutes after Dwyer had crossed the threshold there were a dozen different fights going on in a dozen different parts of the place.

It was rougher than the rough handling of Wednesday morning. The ejections were more summary, and over the screams of the women, the snarls and curses of the guests and the police, the crash of china and glass, and the splintering of tables and chairs, Mr. Whitman stood watching.

Police Brutality Frightens Many.

It grew so serious that some men who had determined to stand their ground and others who had hoped to linger at least long enough to get a picture of the scramble for their memories turned in a sudden panic and bolted for Columbus Avenue. In this rush more furniture was overturned, more people were tripped and tumbled off their feet, and the excitement redoubled.

Then gradually peace was restored, and by 1:20 o'clock there was no one left in Healy's save Healy himself, the newspaper men and the waiters. It was a noticeable thing that the women, of whom there were at least a hundred present, were escorted out gently, if firmly, and the men who were there as escorts to women were treated with greater consideration. But they all had to get out and they all did.

By 1:30 o'clock Dwyer and his men were able to devote their attention to the crowd outside, which by this time had become so clamorous as to demand attention. The cheers for Whitman were mingled with groans and catcalls for the police, and the 3,000 that had been there at 1 o'clock had grown to more than 5,000 within the half hour. Slowly the work of dispersing this crowd began and was carried on till nearly 2 o'clock.

After it was all over Dwyer would have nothing to say, Whitman would have nothing to say, Newburger would have nothing to say, and Healy would have nothing to say, but one and all looked as though they expected something interesting to happen before it is time for the guests to gather to-morrow morning at 1 o'clock for the forcible closing of Healy's.

No arrests were made.

DEUEL WARNED THE POLICE.

Threatened Them with Arrest if They Laid Hands on Diners.

Magistrate Deuel in the West Side Court yesterday announced that he would issue warrants for the arrest of policemen on charges of assault and battery or official oppression, whichever the circumstances called for, if they again took part in such acts as attended their procedure in closing Healy's restaurant at 1 A. M. on Wednesday.

District Attorney Whitman said he had received no complaint from persons who had been forcibly evicted from the restaurant, but expressed the opinion that they had cause for civil suits against the police. If complaints against the police had been lodged with his office, he said, he would have entertained them. The Corporation Counsel's staff declined to publicly express a legal opinion in the matter. Justice Zeller reiterated his opinion that the police were guilty of inciting riot and disorder in using force to carry out Mayor Gaynor's 1 o'clock closing order. Thus Mayor Gaynor found himself without support in his stand that raiding methods are lawful and necessary to close restaurants which serve food without liquors later than 1 o'clock in the morning.

Magistrate Deuel's opinion was expressed with a vehemence of a denunciation of the police. The occasion was the appearance in the West Side Court of Lieut. Hayes of Inspector Dwyer's staff in response to a summons obtained by Mr. Healy. Acting Capt. Hart of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, for whom a summons also was issued, did not appear because he had gone away on a vacation before he could be served. In court also were John J. Carr and J. M. Ferris, wine merchants of 32 Laight Street, and K. D. Hubbard of 318 West Fifty-seventh Street. They were among the patrons thrown out of Healy's and were prepared to testify against the police. Lieut. Hayes was represented by Assistant Corporation Counsel Godfrey, who said he had just been assigned to the case, and asked for an adjournment until he had time to inspect the papers.

Magistrate Warns the Police.

"It is not necessary," Magistrate Deuel said. "The conduct of the police, according to what I have heard of the circumstances, is unseemly and should not be tolerated. The conditions in New York are absolutely unheard of elsewhere. The police should preserve order and enforce the laws. In this case law and order has been violated by the police, it would seem, and I want to announce my position in the matter. When these summonses were issued I thought that Healy had a hotel license, but since then I have been told he has a cafe license only."

M. Edward Kelley, counsel for Mr. Healy, interrupted to say that Mr. Healy did have a hotel license.

"In that case," Magistrate Deuel continued, "the police can stop the sale of liquor after 1 A. M., but cannot lay hands on diners. And if they do it again I shall not issue summonses; I shall issue warrants, and no courtesies such as parole will be allowed. I shall change the charge to assault and battery or oppression if complaint is made again.

"If Healy sells liquor after 1 A. M. I shall issue a warrant for him, if the police will apply to me for one. But the police have no more right to exclude diners from the dining room than they have to remove sleepers from their beds, and I will do my part to prevent a repetition of the disorderly scenes, which, according to all accounts, were enacted this morning. If Healy has a regular hotel license the police have no right to invade his place. If it were a saloon with a restaurant attached it would be different, but if Healy hs a hotel license he has hotel rights.

"I know nothing of any decision by the Court of Special Sessions. It is unfortunate that so much has been made of that proceeding, as there was no written opinion handed down. Although I dismiss the summons in this case, I want it understood that if any complaint of further disorder is made to me I will issue warrants."

As soon as Acting Police Commissioner McKay learned of Magistrate Deuel's decision he hurried to City Hall and had a consultation with Mayor Gaynor. Afterward he said he would not discuss the matter further than to say that the police would continue to follow the instructions heretofore given to them. Nothing on the subject was forthcoming from City Hall.

Inspector Dwyer, who supervised the police work at Healy's, was in the West Side Court, and after the case was dismissed declined to discuss the warning voiced by Magistrate Deuel, or to say what course he would pursue in the future.

Healy's Patrons to Sue Police.

Before going to the West Side Court, where he expected to be called upon to tell of the raid on Healy's, K. D. Hubbard called at the City Hall to lay his complaint before Mayor Gaynor. Assistant Secretary Matthews received him and said the Mayor was so busy that he could not hear the caller's story.

Mr. Healy said yesterday that many of his patrons had communicated to him their intention of bringing civil suits against the police. He issued the following statement later:

"I request that my establishment, which it has taken twenty years to build up, be left alone, and that my patrons be allowed to finish their meals after 1 A. M. in a leisurely and orderly manner.

"My patrons should not be subjected to the indignity of being thrown into the street. I am not in favor of an all-night restaurant or an all-night license, and would refuse one if offered to me. The doors of my place were open until 6 o'clock this morning. No attempt was made to arrest any one for leaving the doors open, but the police would not allow any one to enter after 1 A. M. At 6 A. M. the police were withdrawn.

"I am in this fight for a principle and for the rights of the public. I feel no animosity toward the police, because they are working under orders from some one higher up. I have no malice against Inspector Dwyer, who is one of the best men in the department. I do feel that as a taxpayer on this property, valued at $450,000, I am entitled to protection instead of having my business ruined through the police."

Although neither Mayor Gaynor nor Acting Commissioner McKay will make a statement on the situation, it is known they take the position that a restaurant proprietor does business under a special privilege which makes him amenable to police surveillance that would not obtain in the case of a grocer, haberdasher, or other merchant. The law applying to holders of hotel licenses authorize the police to inspect the places, and those in which liquor is sold may not sell food later than 1 A. M. Mayor Gaynor takes the position that neither food nor liquor may be sold after 1 A. M. within the four walls of a place operating under a hotel license unless by special permission

FORTS AT WU-SUNG YIELDED BY REBELS

Leaders Escape—Independence Again Proclaimed in Nanking After Fighting.

ASSASSINS SEEK SUN'S LIFE

President Yuan Said to Have Sent 100 Men to Japan to Kill Revolutionary Fugitives There.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 13.—The Wu-Sung forts, which for some time had been in the hands of the rebels, surrendered to-day to the Government troops.

The negotiations for the surrender were made through Dr. Cox of the Red Cross. The commander of the forts asked for guarantees for the safety of the rebel officers and a payment of money to enable the troops to return to their homes. He requested no terms for himself or for Gen. Cheng Chi-men.

The Admiral of the blockading warships accepted the terms, but when Dr. Cox returned for Gen. Cheng Chi-men most of the rebel officers and 1,500 of their men had decamped.

According to Chinese reports, $75,000 was paid to induce the forts to surrender.

The Times's Peking correspondent describes the Chinese revolutionary situation as most unsatisfactory. He says that the unspeakable slowness and clumsiness of the Northern troops have put a premium on sporadic outbursts in defiance of the central Government, and that nobody is able to tell what is going on in the Province of Sze-Chuen behind the broken communications.

"The 25,000 Hunanese rebels," the correspondent adds, "are mostly a mob of untrained and unequipped recruits, short of ammunition and negligible as an army, but their moral effect on the loyal Wu-Chang army may be disquieting.

"The Government has ordered the withdrawal of a third division of troops from Mongolia for operation against the Hunan rebels.

"The neglect of the Government to take advantage of its early successes has encouraged revolt at new points and created a chaotic situation."

NANKING, Aug. 13.—The Southerners in this city to-day for the third time proclaimed their independence of the Peking Government, and rebel flags are again flying outside the Governor's official residence.

The new secession was preceded by sharp fighting for two nights between the First and Eighth Divisions of the troops, the Eighth having declared for the Government. There was a vast expenditure of ammunition, but little loss of life. The fighting ended when the Eighth Division consented to throw in its lot with the rebels.

The famous Lion and Tiger Hill forts and the troops at Hsia-Kwan, a suburb between Nanking and the Yang-tse River, are reported to favor the Government, while thousands of Government troops are massing at Pukow, just across the river from this city.

Hok An-min, formerly editor of The Shanghai Min Li Pao, has assumed the Governorship without opposition.

Fear prevails among the civilians that the Southerners, seeing the hopelessness of the struggle, may pillage the city prior to taking flight. They hold the forts commanding the approaches to Nanking, but it is believed that they will be unable to hold out very long owing to the disorganization among the troops and the lack of capable leaders.

HANKOW, Aug. 13.—It is reported that 25,000 rebels from the province of Hu-Nan have crossed the border into the Province of Hu-Pé and defeated a small force of loyalists. It is said to be their intention to capture Hankow and afterward to move against Peking.

Northern troops with artillery have left here to intercept the rebels, and it is believed they will easily rout them.

TOKIO, Aug. 13.—One hundred assassins are reported by Japanese newspapers to have been sent to Japan to kill Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Huang-sing, and other Chinese revolutionary fugitives by Provisional President Yuan Shih-kai.

The Japanese Government, in consequence of these reports, has arranged to give police protection to the leaders of the Chinese revolution who have sought asylum in Japan. It declares, however, that it will not permit Japan to be used as headquarters for Chinese plotters.

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 14.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Peking says that a Belgian syndicate has obtained a contract to construct a railway 500 miles in length from Ta-tung-Fu, Province of Shan-Si, to Sian-Fu, Province of Shen-Si.

The line will be built via Tai-yuan-Fu, Shan-Si.

STILL REFUSES TO EXHIBIT.

British Government Seems Firm in Attitude to Panama Fair.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Another assault on the position taken up by the British Government in regard to the Panama-Pacific Exposition was made in the House of Commons this afternoon, but it failed to change the situation.

Col. George Gibbs, Unionist, and John O'Connor, Irish Nationalist, who was one of the Royal Commissioners for the British section of the Chicago Exhibition in 1893, urged that the authorities of the San Francisco fair might be induced to change their rules and let the United Kingdom make a single collective national exhibit.

Francis Dyke Acland, Parliamentary Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, retorted that this was only one of the reasons which made British participation inexpedient, and, anyway, he said, the regulation as to scattered exhibits seemed to be a definite part of the exhibition's rules.

Mr. O'Connor asked if this decision of a free trade Government was a proper return to make to the United States for the reduction of its tariff.

"The American tariff has not been reduced," was the only reply made by Mr. Acland.

END OF ITALIAN STRIKE.

Three Persons Killed, 165 Hurt, and 2,478 Arrested in Course of It.

MILAN, Aug. 13.—The "general strike" in Italy, which has now come to an end, resulted in the death of three persons, the wounding of 165, and the arrest of 2,478, while the financial losses to workmen and employers amount to several million dollars.

All the workmen presented themselves at the factories here this morning, but the transport workers still remain out. At some of the factories the employers told the men they could not resume work until Monday, as the furnaces had to be relighted.

Negotiations are proceeding with the purpose of finding an acceptable middle course between the claims of the transport workers and the terms offered by their employers.

CODY DIED PENNILESS.

British Government Will Make Provision for Widow and Children.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Samuel F. Cody, the Anglo-American aviator, who was killed at Aldershot on Aug. 7, died practically penniless.

All the prize money he won was spent by him in perfecting his machines, and his wife and family are left in such a dependent position that the British Government is making an investigation with a view to provide for them in some way.

DENIES DEPERDUSSIN'S PLEA

Court Adjudges Him a Bankrupt Despite Impassioned Appeal.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Armand Deperdussin, the builder of aeroplanes, who is in custody on charges of fraud involving millions of dollars in connection with his financial operations in silk, made an eloquent appeal to the Tribunal of Commerce here to-day not to adjudge him a bankrupt. He urged the Tribunal not to cast his aerodrome and aeroplane construction works and his flying schools into the gulf into which he had himself fallen.

Deperdussin appealed for his work for national defense, "which I developed in my enthusiasm without taking into account the fact that I was using funds in a reprehensible way."

"Will you," he went on, "destroy all that? Whatever may be my indiscretion, I know I have been of use to my country, and I refused to sell my patents to Germany. If these works and flying schools can be bought by public subscription their future will be safe."

The court, however, decided to adjudge Deperdussin a bankrupt.

ISAACS AS CHIEF JUSTICE.

London Paper Says the Office Will Undoubtedly be Offered to Him.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 14.—The Daily Chronicle announces that Lord Alverstone's resignation is in the hands of Premier Asquith, but that his successor as Lord Chief Justice will not be appointed till after the long vacation.

The appointment will, it is added, undoubtedly be offered to Sir Rufus Isaacs, who in the event of his acceptance will be succeeded as Attorney General by Sir John Simon.

Reports of the probable resignation of Augustine Birrell as Chief Secretary for Ireland are contradicted on the same authority. Mr. Birrell is reported to have said in his characteristic whimsical way that he intends to cling to his office until it expires with Home Rule for Ireland, as his one chance of distinction.

"There have been many Chief Secretaries," he said. "It will be a real distinction to be the last of them."

FRENCH-GERMAN AIR TREATY

Aircraft Across Frontier Driven by Bad Weather to Descend.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—A convention has been signed between France and Germany providing for the future landings of aircraft in each other's territory such as the descent of a German Zeppelin airship at Luneville last April.

In case military aircraft, French or German, are driven by stress of weather over the territory of the neighboring country their pilots are to hoist signals of distress and to descend as soon as possible.

The commander of a trespassing airship will be called upon to pledge his word of honor that nobody in the airship has committed any act, such as sketching or photographing, capable of affecting the security of the country in which he landed.

LE QUEUX IS BANKRUPT.

Novelist Hasn't Enough Money to Travel from Brussels to London.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—William Le Queux, the well-known novelist, is in the Bankruptcy Court on the petition of his wife, who claims $1,380 under a deed of separation.

The Chairman of the Bankruptcy Court said to-day that Mr. Le Queux had written from Brussels, saying he was without funds to come to London, but if time were given to him he would endeavor to appear.

The meeting was adjourned for a week.

$1,000 Check Stolen at Hotel.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—There was a daring check theft at the Hotel Cecil last evening. Prince Rolenburg, who recently arrived from South America, placed an open check for £200 ($1,000) on the hotel cashier's desk. Several persons were standing about at the time, and when after a few moments of inattention the Prince turned again to the desk the check had disappeared. A telegram was sent to the bank stopping the check, so the net loss is the 2-cent Government stamp.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 13.—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies to-day reported in favor of the ratification of the agreements reached by the Pan-American Congress of 1910, obligating the republics of America to submit to arbitration all pecuniary claims which they are unable to settle amicably through diplomatic exchanges and to protect copyrights on literary, scientific, and artistic works and trademarks.

Japan Feared Insult to America.

TOKIO, Aug. 13.—The Japanese press, commenting to-day on Japan's request to Mexico to postpone the visit of Gen. DISASTER FEARED BY LLOYD GEORGE

He Thinks Increase in Armaments Will Result in Revolutionary Protest.

POWERS SCARE EACH OTHER

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A striking speech was made by Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George in the House of Commons to-day on the question of the expenditure on armaments.

Mr. Lloyd George said the powers were just scaring each other into this expenditure. He was afraid it would end in a great disaster. He would not say the disaster would be in this country, but it would come. He did not suppose there would be a revolution in any country because the Government was spending money on armaments, but the consequences would be such that the people would be goaded into some form of revolutionary protest.

Nothing, said the Chancellor, had done more to create money stringency and arrest new orders than not alone the war in the Near East, but the sudden feverish rivalry in the expenditure on armaments in France, Germany, and Russia. With every additional pound spent on armaments credit was destroyed, with the confidence which created the activity and energy of commerce.

When, said Mr. Lloyd George, they spent money on social reform they were improving the health and efficiency of the people as machines; they were making better men.

BOND MYSTERY SOLVED.

Former Bank of England Employe Arrested on Forgery Charge.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A sequel to the missing bond mystery at the Bank of England, which caused some stir last April, was the appearance at the Guildhall Court to-day of Joseph Phillips, who was charged with forging and uttering a transfer of 450 ordinary stock of the Sao Paulo Railway Company.

Phillips was second clerk in the Treasury Department of the Bank. The Bank of England is not prosecuting, and the action was taken by the Director of Public Prosecutions. The arrest of Phillips, it is said, caused surprise at the Bank.

The prisoner was remanded.

BIG MARCONI PROFITS.

17 Per Cent. Dividend Declared, Despite the Parliament Controversy.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The annual report of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company has just been issued.

In spite of controversies which have been unfavorable to the company's affairs, the gross and net profits show very large increases. The same dividend of 17 per cent. as for 1911 has been declared, while $500,000 has been placed to the reserve. The amount carried forward is $731,630, which is more than the whole net profit of the previous year.

PRINCE POLICE WANT SAILS.

Sulkowski and Los Angeles Bride Are Off for Japan.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13.—Prince Stanisalus Sulkowski of Austria and his bride, formerly Miss Marie Louise Freese of Los Angeles, sailed for Jepan to-day on the steamer Empress of Russia.

ADELE RITCHIE IN PIG SUIT.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Aug. 13.—Adele Ritchie, otherwise Mrs. Charles N. Bell, finds that not all Greenwich neighbors are neighborly, for she has been summoned to appear before Justice S. L. Radford to explain business transactions between herself and her neighbor across the street, Charles Fleming. She has engaged Judge John J. Walsh of Norwalk to represent her, and has promised William C. Rungee, Mr. Fleming's attorney, over the telephone all the excitement he wishes. Mr. Rungee was informed by Mrs. Bell, he said to-day, that she was no ordinary person, and that she intended to prove to her neighbors that he was pretty small.

"The idea of suing me and attaching my talking machine!" she exclaimed over the telephone. "Sheriff Finnegan had no right to take it, and he must return it immediately. I will show this Fleming up for what he is," she added.

According to Mr. Fleming, when Mrs. Bell leased Applejack Farm, opposite his home, last year she bought chickens from him, also several shoats. He waited for his money, he says, until she was convinced that the hens were hens because they laid eggs, and until the shoats found themselves pigs in clover. He says he then asked several times for payment. Besides selling to her stock for the farm, Mr. Fleming relates, he carried Mr. Bell to and from the Greenwich Station in his automobile in Bell's courting days.

Mr. Fleming demands $50 from Mrs. Bell, and $12 from Mr. Bell. His attorney instructed the Sheriff to visit Mrs. Bell and seize something worth $200. Mr. Fleming kne wthat a talking machine had been received by Mr. Bell, which had cost over that amount because he was asked to carry it from the station.

Finnegan visited Applejack Farm last Saturday, and was informed that Mrs. Bell would be home on Monday. He went again and found the Bells absent, so he called Fleming and the two carried the machine to the plaintiff's house.

Mrs. Bell's attorney gave the Sheriff a receipt for the instrument last night, and the Sheriff released the machine.

Mr. Walsh to-day had the case transferred from Justice Radford's court to the Borough Court, which allowed a thirty-day delay.

the same phraseology as all other European nations.

That Great Britain was moved to recognition by its desire to assist in the restoration of order is most likely true, and I believe this factor was the determining one with all Governments which followed the example of Great Britain, though most of them recognized the Mexican Provisional Government at a much later date.

The action of the Government of Great Britain was not in the slightest degree affected by the so-called congratulatory speech made by me on behalf of the Diplomatic Corps. This address was not drawn by me, but by the Spanish and British Ministers at the request of the entire resident Diplomatic Corps. I purposely declined responsibility for the wording, and in the form in which it finally appeared it was the expression of the views of the entire Diplomatic Corps, representing Governments which had none of them at that time recognized the Provisional Government.

For more than a month after this reception, the British Government maintained an attitude of hostility toward the Government of Gen. Huerta, and when final recognition was accorded it came as the result of a complete reversal of policy. The Governments of the other European powers recognized the Mexican Provisional Government some time after the recognition of Great Britain was given, after waiting vainly for the recognition of the Government of the United States, which they universally thought should be accorded.

The truth of the statement I have made here is of record in the Department of State at Washington, and doubtless also upon the record of every Government accredited to Mexico at that time.

Europe Will Not Meddle.

The United States Government has informally sounded the powers and learned that foreign Governments generally will do nothing to embarrass the peace policy of President Wilson toward Mexico, and are inclined to support it.

As a step in the direction of obtaining the moral support of other nations in the effort to restore peace in Mexico, this Government has communicated to chancelleries abroad a report received from Mexico City in regard to the visit made yesterday by John Lind, President Wilson's special representative, to Frederico Gamboa, the new Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs. Hereafter reports of the progress of Mr. Lind's mission will be sent to foreign Governments. It is part of the Administration's plan to keep those powers informed of the endeavors it is making through Mr. Lind and otherwise to restore normal conditions in Mexican territory.

By that means the Administration hopes to convince other Governments of its earnestness in seeking to end Mexico's troubles and to obtain the approval of the powers having interests in Mexico, resulting either in direct or indirect pressure on Provisional President Huerta and his following to consent to proposals from the United States.

The report that came to the State Department concerning Mr. Lind's visit to Señor Gamboa shows that their talk was not perfunctory, in spite of the fact that Mr. Lind was received merely as a distinguished citizen of the United States.

Although Secretary Bryan declined to give information as to the details of the report, it is the opinion among officials that Mr. Lind let it be known to the Mexican Foreign Minister that the United States would not grant recognition to the Mexican Government until a President and Congress had been elected by constitutional means and installed in office. This is the first positive step the United States Government has taken. It is intended to provide a foundation for the proposals that are intended to restore order

The department received confirmation of the press report from Tokio that the Japanese Government had notified Mexico Gen. Felix Diaz, President Huerta's special emissary to Japan, would not be received officially in the Japanese capital.

Much gratification was expressed at Japan's action. Officials said it was in line with the fine spirit shown by Tokio in connection with negotiations over the California alien land law. It was construed as a mark of Japan's friendliness and came with particular good grace at this time, it was said, because of the difficulties the United States faced in the Mexican situation. The refusal to receive President Huerta's representative evidently was intended as a snub to the efforts of certian factions in Mexico to impress this Government with the idea that Japan and Mexico had an agreement that would put Japan on Mexico's side should there be trouble between the southern republic and the United States.

Senators Feel Easier.

The quieter feeling that prevailed in the Senate regarding the Mexican situation was indicated clearly in the way the Committee on Foreign Relations received this morning the first installment of Senator Smith's report, as Chairman of the sub-committee appointed to investigate the alleged share of American capital in Mexican revolutions. Mr. Smith's report was not ready for presentation in writing, but as he outlined it orally it was apparent that his colleagues did not agree with the deductions he seemed to draw from testimony before his sub-committee.

The testimony became public, for the most part, as fast as it was received, and several months ago was printed as a Senate document. Mr. Smith's statement to-day was a part summary of facts, with argumentative deductions from them, in general supporting the position of Ambassador Wilson. Chairman Smith's preliminary statement made little impression, and when a bell announced a call of the Senate the committeemen arose, probably not to meet again before next Wednesday.

Clapp Praises Wilson's Course.

During the tariff debate in the Senate to-day Senator Clapp, Progressive Republican, referred, in passing, to President Wilson and the Mexican situation.

"I believe your President has the love and the confidence of the American people," said he. "I do not share in the effort here or elsewhere to embarrass him in the delicate situation which now confronts him.

"While I would put a stop to the President's dictating tariff bills, I would leave him alone in the delicate situation which now confronts him, believing that he will find the right solution. I believe he has shown wisdom in his high office."

MEXICO CITY EXPECTANT.

Important Developments Possibly To-day—Lind in Embassy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13.—Authoritative statements were made to-night that important developments in the efforts of John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, toward restoration of peace in Mexico would probably take place in this city tomorrow. No intimation as to the nature of the expected developments was given.

Mr. and Mrs. Lind moved from their hotel to their new quarters in the United States Embassy this evening. They did so at the request of President Wilson.

The fact that the move was made at this time because Mr. Wilson wished it to be done gave rise to a rumor that Mr. Lind was directed to establish himself in the Embassy because the Washington Administration feared that impending action would precipitate disorders in other parts of the city.

Emphatic denial of that rumor was made by the Mexican officials. It was stated positively by Gen. Huerta's representatives that full protection would be given to President Wilson's emissary and Mrs. Lind.

Rooms in the American Embassy had been prepared for Mr. and Mrs. Lind under the supervision of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the Chargé d'Affaires.

There was no other actual development in the Mexican situation to-day, but reports were current here that European pressure was being brought to bear on the Wilson Administration in favor of recognition of the Huerta Government on the part of the United States.

It is evident that the feeling in this city in favor of Gen. Huerta is increasing. There is much talk of the possibility that he will be a candidate for election to the Presidency in the next national election. A monster demonstration in support of President Huerta has been planned by his friends for Sept. 16.

Gen. Aureliano Blanquet, Minister of War, made a statement to-day in which he refused to countenance the idea of his own Presidential candidacy.

"My only candidate is Gen. Huerta," said Gen. Blanquet, "as he is the only man who can pacify the country."

Lind May See Huerta To-day.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13.—There is a report to-night that President Huerta and John Lind, President Wilson's representative, may meet to-morrow.

SAY HALE IS WILSON AGENT.

Washington Officials So Construe His Quoted Words.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Officials and others following the Mexican situation read with interest to-day the confidential letter from Mexico City written by an aid of Gen. Felix Diaz to his chief, setting forth the details of an interview with Dr. William Bayard Hale, in which Dr. Hale made observations concerning President Huerta and conditions in Mexico. Statements attributed to Dr. Hale dovetail so close with views of the Wilson Administration as to give inferential confirmation to the belief that he is in Mexico as an agent of the United States.

It never has been admitted officially here that Dr. Hale was sent to Mexico to obtain information for the Administration. The only official explanation offered of the reports that he was President Wilson's representative was that he had gone to Mexico for a newspaper and had offered to keep the President informed of what was going on, and that the President had expressed a desire to learn what Dr. Hale had to impart. That explanation was official in the sense that it came from one of the highest officers of the Government.

Little doubt is felt, however, by those who have made close inquiry that although Dr. Hale does not bear the commission of the President or a warrant from the State Department, he occupies in lesser degree the same status as John Lind, the President's special representative, with the difference that Mr. Lind has power to act through the medium of the American Embassy and Dr. Hale has not. Dr. Hale was in Mexico City when Henry Lane Wilson was there as the American Ambassador. The general belief among officials here that it was Dr. Hale's mission to "check up" on the Ambassador is said to have embarrassed Mr. Wilson greatly.

A report that has reached Washington from Mexico City runs that Dr. Hale is in possession of a copy of the State Department's secret cipher code book. Such books are intrusted only to diplomatic officers or in some cases to Consular officers. There is evidence indicating that Reginald Francisco Del Valle, who was in Mexico for a month prior to the departure of Ambassador Wilson, used a secret code book to communicate with the State Department.

Reports reached here when Mr. Del Valle was in Mexico that he had been sent there as a special Commissioner of this Government. The explanation of his visit given in official circles here was that he was sending communications indirectly to President Wilson, but that he had no official connection with the Government and was not serving under orders. It has come to be understood recently, however, that Mr. Del Valle went to Mexico by Secretary Bryan's authority and that he made official reports to Mr. Bryan in regard to the Mexico situation. In view of this, there is a disposition to believe that Dr. Hale is in Mexico on a similar mission.

In the letter of the Diaz aid Dr. Hale was reported as saying that financiers having options on Mexican bonds would not take them on account of the nonrecognition of the Huerta Government by the United States. That fits the idea pervading the Administration that if an announcement should be made that President Wilson would not recognize President Huerta in any circumstances, Huerta would find such difficulty in obtaining money that his embarrassment would lead him to heed a proposal from this Government that he consent to cessation of hostilities pending a constitutional election.

Officials have admitted that the information they were receiving about Mexico was "rather mixed." It has been assumed the confusion arose from the fact that in addition to the American Embassy, this Government was getting reports from Dr. Hale and Mr. Del Valle. Mr. Lind supposedly is engaged in an effort to straighten the tangle.

BAIL FOR MEXICAN GOVERNOR.

Former Campeche Official Must Stay in New Orleans 40 Days.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.—What was considered a delicate situation involving the United States and Mexico was somewhat cleared to-day when Emmanuel C. Brito, former Governor of the Mexican State of Campeche, arrested on charges of murder and robbery in Mexico, was released on bond of $10,000. It was stipulated that Brito was to report every day to the United States Marshal here for forty days, the time given in a treaty with Mexico for that Government to produce proof of guilt.

Brito does not deny that he killed one of Huerta's men when the latter came to arrest him, but argued that it was done in time of war, is a political offense, and not extraditable.

LIND'S ORE LANDS LEASED.

Envoy to Mexico to Share in Profits of Mesaba Deal.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., Aug. 13.—Forty acres on the West Mesaba Iron Range owned by ex-Gov. John Lind, ex-Congressman C. B. Buckman of Little Falls, and P. H. Berg of Los Angeles, have just been leased to the Interstate Mining Company of Chicago. Royalties of 25 cents a ton, with a minimum of $7,500 a year, are provided for.

Twenty acres that have been drilled are said to show 4,000,000 tons of ore. A lease on the same land was canceled by the Oliver Mining Company a year ago.

THE HOUSE FOR THE CAREFUL BUYER

FINDS MANY CLUES IN MARTIN MURDER

Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty took charge yesterday of the case of William Grieve Martin, the proprietor of a millinery establishment at 75½ Carlton Street, in Toronto, Canada, whose body was found partly clad on a bed in a rear room on the first floor of 453 West Fifty-seventh Street by Theodore Jones, proprietor of the house, on Tuesday night. Commissioner Dougherty's investigations led him to believe that the conclusion of the police, arrived at after the discovery of the murder, that Martin had been decoyed to the room in which his body was found by a woman and murdered and robbed there, was correct. He made many trips throughout the day to the furnished room house where the murder occurred, and questioned a dozen persons who he thought might be able to throw some light on the identity and whereabouts of the persons who occupied the room last where the body was found.

The detectives are searching the city for eight persons, four of whom they suspect of having some connection with the events leading up to the murder, if not with the murder itself. These four are a young man and woman who called themselves Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who lived in the room in which the murdered milliner was found from Monday, Aug. 4, until the day of the murder; another man by the name of Johnson, said to be a brother of the young woman's alleged husband, who called at the furnished room house with the young woman on Aug. 4 to engage the room, and a third young man described as "tough" in appearance, who was the last person seen by the landlady in the room before the murder.

Seek Missing Tenants.

The police would also like to know the whereabouts of a woman whose name is not known, who called on the Johnsons with a little girl 4 or 5 years old and who, they think, may know where the Johnsons can be found. They would also like to find a Mr. and Mrs. Rose who occupied the same room last Winter and who are said to know the Johnsons.

The eighth person for whom the detectives are searching is a man named Beatty, whose first name is said to be Frank, and who married an aunt of Martin. When the murdered man left his friend, Mrs. Hanna Barrett, at her apartment at 355 West Fifty-eighth Street, at 7 o'clock on Monday evening, promising to be back in an hour to take her and two other women friends to the theatre, he told her that he had met an old friend, Beatty, and that he was going to "run over" to see him for a while. But Commissioner Dougherty said last night that he did not connect Beatty with the murder in any way, and that he was inclined to believe that Martin had used Beatty's name only as an excuse to break his theatre engagement with Mrs. Barrett so that he might accompany the young woman who is thought to have decoyed him to his death.

The murdered man's aged father, with a brother and William Mortimer, Martin's partner in the millinery establishment in Toronto, arrived in this city on the Empire State Express at 10:10 o'clock last night. They would not talk to reporters and went at once to the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station, where they conferred with Commissioner Dougherty. At her apartment last night Mrs. Barrett said:

"Mr. Martin arrived at 8 o'clock on Monday morning at my house and left his grip. He said he was going back to Toronto on Tuesday night on the 9 o'clock train. He had come to New York to see the latest fashions in millinery, and his partner, Mr. Mortimer, who had departed from Toronto with him, had stopped off at Niagara Falls. Both Mr. Martin and Mr. Mortimer had been in New York in July on a buying trip.

"Mr. Martin and I spent all day Monday in the wholesale houses looking at goods, and for the evening we had arranged to go to the theatre and supper with Miss Margaret Graham and Miss Bessie Collins, millinery buyers of Toronto, who are stopping at the Hotel Victoria.

"Mr. Martin always carried a powder puff with him, and this powder puff was found on his body. At 7 o'clock on Monday night he returned to my house and told me that he had met an old friend named Beatty, who, he said, was no longer living uptown, but 'just around the corner.' He said that Beatty's mother was dead, and that her body had been shipped to Canada two months ago. Beatty's three sisters were trained nurses in this city, he asserted. He seemed elated at having met Beatty, but when I suggested taking him with us he said:

"'No; nothing doing. Beatty is too much of a kid.'

"When he left he said he would see me later; that he would be back in an hour. When he failed to communicate with me by Tuesday I got in touch with the police. After his body was discovered I identified it at the house.

Dead Milliner Effeminate.

"Mr. Martin drank occasionally. The character of his business had made him decidedly effeminate in his manner, and he was tall and rather thin.

Commissioner Dougherty gave a full account of his investigations last night, saying:

"I have decided to take charge of this murder investigation personally, not because the men assigned to it lack ability, but because it is a case that interests me. Information has come to me that Martin associated not long before he disappeared on Monday night with a man for whom the police are looking.

"I have just received word by telegraph from Chief of Police Crasette of Toronto that Martin had some $200 in cash with him when he departed for New York, a diamond ring, half a karat in weight, another ring with a diamond weighing one karat, and a gold hunting case watch and gold chain.

"Neither money or jewelry was found on his body. This was lying, when it was discovered, with the feet on the pillow and the head toward the foot of the bed. The coat, collar, necktie and shoes had been removed. Martin died of strangulation, apparently, as a gag, which was rammed into his mouth, made breathing impossible. His hands were tied behind his back with a piece of gas tubing. He may have been knocked unconscious before he was bound and gagged.

"Whether Martin met Beatty, as he said he did, is not certain. I am inclined at this time to believe that he used Beatty's name only as an excuse for breaking his engagement for the evening. It is a curious fact that Martin left a handsome pearl stickpin behind in his grip, as if he had planned to go to a place where he thought there was a possibility that he might lose it. How much money he had when he got to that room in Fifty-seventh Street I don't know, but in his handbag $1 was found. Now the person or persons who killed him must have been tenants or friends of the tenants of the room in which his body was found. That is the theory on which we are working and we have fairly good descriptions of them.

Suspected Decoy Short of Money.

"At 4 o'clock in the afternoon on Monday, Aug. 4, a man and woman rented this room for $5 a week, but paid only $4 down. The landlady never got the other dollar. It was found that the man who came with the young woman to hire the room was not her husband, but her alleged brother. Johnson, the husband, came later in the day. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson kept unseasonable hours, and at least one fight took place in the room. Their actions were such that Mrs. Jones, the landlady, and her husband became suspicious and tried to overhear what they said. The only thing they heard was the remark, "Oh, you couldn't get much in hock on that," indicating that her lodgers were hard up financially.

"At 2:30 o'clock in the morning on last Thursday a man under the influence of liquor came to the front door and demanded to see the Johnsons. They declined to see him. Next morning Mrs. Jones told her lodgers that she did not relish such scenes, and the woman asserted that they had not wanted him to come in as there was no room for him, since she and her husband and brother-in-law were all three occupying the room that night.

"On the day of the murder, that is on Monday, in the afternoon, a woman with a child came and asked for Mrs. Johnson. Soon after she departed Mrs. Johnson and one of the Johnson men departed, but were not seen to carry away any baggage. Noticing that the key of the front door had disappeared, Jones, the proprietor, knocked on the door of the back room, and a man who looked like a dissipated truck driver answered. This is the third man for whom we are looking.

"Mrs. Johnson is described as American, girlish in appearance, 18 years old, slender, weight 110 pounds, height 5 feet 2 or 3 inches, large blue eyes, fair complexion, full face, bleached blonde hair parted on the side with some tresses around the ears, good figure, and well dressed. She had a pale blue dress and a black one; also a small black turban with a feather. She said that she and her brother-in-law were going to do a novelty dance in burlesque, and that she had been with the American Beauty Burlesque Company, but she changed the subject and flushed when her landlady remarked that she knew some one in that company and asked if Mrs. Johnson knew her.

"Johnson, the husband, is said to look like an American clerk. He is some 22 years old, weighs 140 pounds, is 5 feet 7 or 8 inches in height, smooth shaven, with large blue eyes, and a well-shaped nose.

"The brother looks something like an Italian. He is neat in appearance, 18 or 19 years old, 5 feet 1 or 2 inches in height, weighs 140 pounds, has dark hair, a sallow complexion, and good features, with brown eyes and well-shaped face."

Commissioner Dougherty believes that the Johnsons will seek lodgings similar to those they occupied before—a single room fitted with a gas range for light housekeeping. He hopes to get on their trail through Mr. and Mrs. Rose, who occupied the same room last Winter. He is trying to find them with the aid of Joseph W. Smith, an automobile washer, and Smith's wife, who are said to have known the Roses.

Smith and his wife were found by the detectives without any difficulty, and were taken to the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station for a long talk with Commissioner Dougherty. Afterward they departed in Commissioner Dougherty's automobile accompanied by a detective. Their destination was not known.

What may prove to be an important clue, which Commissioner Dougherty apparently did not know about, was picked up by reporters yesterday afternoon at the house where the murder occurred. George Needham, 14 years old, who lives in the house with his mother in a room on the second floor, said that at 7:40 o'clock on Monday evening he had seen two men enter the front door and then disappear into the room where the murdered milliner was found on the next night. The boy said he heard one of the men lock the door after them.

Mrs. Needham who returned from a brief visit to Rockaway Beach yesterday afternoon and only then learned of the murder committed in the house, was inclined to take no stock in what her son said, and did her best to suppress him, finally sending him out to play, but the lad persisted that he had seen the two men come in, and seemed equally positive about the time, which would agree with the time at which Martin must have arrived at the place, if he went there direct from Mrs. Barrett's apartment.

CHILDREN SEE DUAL KILLING

Watchman Murders Woman, Then Shoots Himself Dead.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Three small children saw a double tragedy on the west side to-day when Henry Beeson, an old watchman, shot and killed Mrs. Lulu Climie and then committed suicide in the back yard of a neighbor's home.

The woman was talking with Mrs. Ellen Killen, her neighbor, when Beeson approached. She said she was "through with Beeson." The watchman fired at Mrs. Climie.

Mrs. Killen's three grandchildren were standing within a few feet of her. Mrs. Climie was killed by the second shot, a bullet piercing her heart. Beeson then shot himself through the head.

FIRE RESPITED MURDERER.

Then San Francisco Murderer's Case Was Overlooked Two Years.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—In 1906, just before the big San Francisco fire, August Geber was convicted of the murder of Charles Hartman and sentenced to be hanged. The fire destroyed the records of Geber's trial and he was sent to San Quentin Penitentiary to await the outcome of an appeal.

The appeal was dismissed in 1911, but for some reason nobody bothered about resentencing Geber so he remained in San Quentin.

Yesterday George Hartman, whose son was Geber's victim, called the attention of Judge Dunn to the slayer's protracted tenure of life, and Geber was ordered to appear in court on Saturday and be resentenced to death.

DIGGS DEFENSE SCORES A POINT

Establishes the Fact That the Eloping Girls Had Long Been Wayward.

WARRINGTON GIRL ADMITS IT

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Two distinct surprises were sprung to-day in the Diggs trial. One was a solemn warning by the Judge to the jury that if any one of them had had any talk with any one connected with the defendant or Caminetti, he wished to know now, as the disclosure at this time would have less serious effects than later. The jurors showed their surprise, but no one spoke. Then the Judge admonished them again to have no conversation with the defendant or his counsel, and ordered the trial to proceed.

The second surprise was the revelation made by Marsha Warrington, on cross-examination, that the elopement to Reno was not the first escapade in which she and her chum, Lola Norris, had figured with Diggs and Drew Caminetti. Attorney Coghlan drew from her the admission that both girls had accompanied the two young men on other out-of-town trips on which they had registered as married couples, which tended to establish the contention of the defense that Diggs and Caminetti were not responsible for their waywardness. While Marsha Warrington was known to have been wild, every one believed that Lola Norris was an innocent girl, until she was led astray by Caminetti. It was only a few days ago that Coghlan was able to break down her defense and compel her to admit that her escapades with Caminetti were not her first.

Judge Van Fleet permitted this questioning to allow the defense to make its points with reference to the fifth and sixth counts of the indictment, but he warned the jury that it had no bearing upon the first four counts.

Marsha Warrington was on the stand all day, and her testimony evidently made a painful impression upon the jury and all in the courtroom. She told of repeated visits to Diggs's office in the Capitol Building at night, where champagne orgies were held. She picked up the unfinished story of her intimacy with the defendant, and carried it through to the end, lowering her eyes at times and dropping her voice almost to a whisper, but never faltering in her answers. When she left the stand, still subject to further examination to-morrow, her story remained unchanged. Diggs, she said, had induced her to leave home against her wishes and judgment; it was he who had bought her transportation, and their trip to Reno had not been merely an episode in a platonic friendship.

During the cross-examination Diggs constantly prompted the questions of his attorneys, and steadily kept his eyes on the girl's veiled face, but she as constantly avoided his gaze.

Just before adjournment Nathan Coghlan, for the defense, asked permission to place Theodore Roche on the stand. On the return trip from Reno, Roche said, while all four were under arrest, Marsha Warrington had given to Assistant District Attorney Atkinson of Sacramento a statement of the elopement, which was taken down by an official court reporter, and was entirely at variance, he was informed, with her testimony in court. The defense wished this statement placed in evidence.

Judge Van Fleet held that he had no power to compel the prosecution to surrender the statement, but he was willing that it should be introduced by agreement, and said that if introduced it should be made the basis of cross-examination. Roche resisted the motion.

Two minor witnesses—the managing editor of a Sacramento newspaper and the probation officer of Sacramento County—denied to-day that there had been any scandal connected with the names of the four on the point of exploding into print, or that arrests would have been made impending if they had remained in Sacramento.

TYPHOID PATIENT A SUICIDE

Ill with typhoid fever and despondent, James Romano, 34 years old, of 181 West Street, jumped from a window in a ward on the third floor of St. Vincent's Hospital late yesterday afternoon and died two hours later in the hospital. He gave a hint to his wife earlier in the day of what was in his mind by saying that he felt like jumping from the window, but she did not think he seriously meant what he said.

When he left his cot and ran to the window, the nurse was in the other end of the ward and could not reach him in time to prevent him from jumping out. Other patients cried out in horror as they saw him prepare to leap from the window, but none of them could do anything to stop him. Romano fell inside the iron picket fence on the Eleventh Street side and was carried back into the hospital by Patrolman Quinn of the Charles Street Station, who saw him jump. He never regained consciousness.

Twelve days ago Alexander Spear of 323 West Eighty-third Street, a patient in the same ward, committed suicide by jumping from the window next to the one Romano leaped out of yesterday. Neither of the men, the doctors in the hospital said, was fatally ill, but both were despondent.

DANCE HALLS AND NO TAXES

Proposed in Cleveland to Run Them for Support of the Parks.

To support the entire park system of Cleveland by dance hall tickets instead of taxes is the new plan broached by the city park department. A. J. Sindelar, Secretary of the department, has just completed a study of municipal dance halls. In his report he estimates that one large dance pavilion operating in each of the five principal city parks at 3 cents a dance would yield the city a clear net earning of $300,000 a year.

This would mean that the $200,000 required to operate the entire park department would all be danced into the tills on three-cent tickets, doing away with the necessity for drawing upon taxation, and a surplus of $100,000 a year would be left to take care of improvements now covered by bond issues. Cleveland's extensive system of parks would be made self-supporting.

Mr. Sindelar's estimate is based on the operation of dance halls all year round and on floors measuring at least 100 by 125 feet. The first move in carrying out the plan will be to recommend the erection of such dance halls at the two large lake front breathing spots, Edgewater and Gordon Parks.

ADMITTED AS NON-RESIDENT

American Who Lived in Japan for 18 Years Freed from Paying Duty.

The Board of General Appraisers decided yesterday that a person who had lived abroad for eighteen years, and in that time had made but one short visit to this country, was a non-resident so far as the enforcement of the customs law was concerned. H. T. Terry, who lived at one time in East Orange, N. J., went to Japan from this country eighteen years ago. There he became a professor in the University of Tokio.

Early this Summer the professor arrived in Boston. The Collector at that port ignored Mr. Terry's assertion that he was a non-resident, and exacted full duty on the professor's baggage. This will be refunded.

CARRIED COFFIN WITH HER.

Wealthy Invalid Feared She Would Not Live to See Her Home in Chile.

When the steamship Metapan of the United Fruit Company's fleet sailed for Colon by way of West Indian ports yesterday afternoon Suite B was occupied by Mme. Paula Diaz of Valparaiso, Chile. Mme. Diaz, one of the wealthiest women in Chile, feared that she would not live to see the end of her voyage, so she had a costly mahogany coffin put in one of her cabins.

A few weeks ago Mme. Diaz, accompanied by her private physician, Dr. F. Raneriz of Valparaiso, and trained nurses, arrived in New York. For years she has suffered from an incurable malady. She came to New York to consult specialists in the hope of prolonging her life. She was told that medical science could do nothing for her.

Mme. Diaz was advised to stay here for a time in the hope that the change in climate would afford her relief. But when she was told that her death was near she insisted on returning to Chile. From Colon she will go by rail to the City of Panama, and from there by ship to Valparaiso.

Mrs. L. T. Gomez, a widow, whose home is in Guayaquil, Ecuador, was another passenger on the Metapan. With her are her two boys, G. and L. T. Gomez. Her husband died in this city four days ago while the family was on a visit here. He was a prominent merchant and was once a candidate for the Presidency of Ecuador.

CLAWS CHILD'S TONGUE.

Hurdy-Gurdy Monkey Injures Dorothy Thorburg at Rockaway.

When Gabriel Gonzora of 10 Dodge Avenue, Rockaway Beach, appeared on the beach yesterday afternoon with his pet monkey, Mike, and his hurdy-gurdy, children as usual began to flock about him. The monkey went through with some of his antics and cents were thrown to him by several of the children. Among them was four-year-old Dorothy Thorburg of 1,917 Willow Avenue, Hoboken, N. J., who was spending the day with her mother at Rockaway Beach.

Amazed at the cleverness of the monkey, the little girl stooped down to caress it, and as she did so unconsciously she poked out her tongue. In turn the little girl's tongue excited the curiosity of the monkey, and Mike had grabbed hold of it before Dorothy knew what he was about. The child's tongue was badly clawed before the organ grinder could force the monkey to release its hold.

Dr. Lanes was summoned from the Rockaway Beach Hospital, and he took little Dorothy back with him for treatment. The monkey was taken to the police station, and its owner was summoned to appear in the Rockaway Beach Court to-day.

7,000 PLAN STRIKE TO-DAY.

Cloakmakers' Committee of Fifty Will Give Signal with Red Circulars.

A strike of 7,000 cloakmakers, it was said yesterday at the headquarters of the Joint Board of the local unions of the Cloak and Suit Makers' Union, would, if expectations were fulfilled, begin to-day. The cloakmakers are working for sub-contractors, and the strike will be for union wages and conditions.

A committee of fifty was appointed yesterday to order the cloakmakers to strike in the shops of the sub-contractors. A meeting of the union shop Chairmen was held, at which the decision to strike was approved.

The Committee of Fifty will call the strike by distributing red circulars among the cloakmakers. According to the officers of the union, while union conditions are generally observed by the independent manufacturers as well as the members of the Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Association, the sub-manufacturers do not live up to union conditions. The coming strike will not involve the rest of the 60,000 or 70,000 cloakmakers in the city.

$20,000 ASKED OF A STUDENT

Charge of Attempted Extortion Made Against a Brooklyn Man.

On the charge that he attempted to extort $20,000 from Roberto Bahamon, a 20-year-old student of the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, Ciro J. Moreno, a clerk of 214 Clinton Street, Brooklyn, was held in $2,500 bail yesterday by Magistrate Barlow in the Tombs Court. He will be brought up for examination this morning.

Bahamon, who lives at 178 Amity Street, Brooklyn, said in his complaint that for months he had been visiting Moreno's home to see Miss Purificacion Fernandez of Colombia, South America, who is Moreno's ward. This fact, he said, was unknown to Moreno for a long time.

Moreno, learning finally of the student's friendship for his ward, the affidavit continued, demanded that Bahamon pay him and Miss Fernandez $10,000 each. Articles of agreement were drawn up, and yesterday afternoon the parties were to meet in a law office in the Woolworth Building.

Meantime, Bahamon says, he saw a lawyer, who took him to the Central Office, where Detective Mootola was assigned to accompany the young man and the lawyer to the place of appointment. Moreno was there. He was arrested and taken to the Tombs Court.

CAN'T SHAVE WITH A BIBLE.

Patron Returns Hotel's Copy of the Scriptures He Took for Razor Case.

C. G. Lambert of Atlanta, who comes to New York every few months, says he is not in the habit of purloining property belonging to hotels in which he stops; nor is he such a devoted student of the Scriptures that he feels he must carry about a Bible with him wherever he goes. But when he arrived at the Imperial yesterday morning he called for the assistant manager, opened his suit case, and solemnly handed the other a book which the manager recognized as one of the kind kept in every room of the hotel.

"I swiped it," said Mr. Lambert, "but inadvertently. I am not in the habit of stealing bibles. I remember that when I left here the last time, some two months ago, I packed my bag in a hurry. This is about the size of a safety razor case, and I must have put it in without looking at it."

New York Firm Notifies Woman's Club That It Will Change Styles.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 13.—The first result of the campaign of the Fourth District of the Federation of Woman's Clubs for more modest dress for women came up to-day, when Mrs. Albert R. Hall, one of the officials of the federation, received a letter from a large suit manufacturing firm in New York in which the company stated it had taken steps to modify the style in suits. The company declared it would place on the market this Fall suits that are two yards wide at the bottom and of proper length.

The federation some time ago started the crusade by writing to all the large manufacturing concerns of women's dress, asking that dresses fit for "modest gentlewomen" be made.

FAIL TO IDENTIFY GIRL MURDER VICTIM

Fragments of Letters Prove to be Too Water Soaked to be Legible.

WERE WRITTEN IN GERMAN

Captain Herlihy Thinks Murderer May Be Same Man Who Attacked Miss Lillie Witzell.

After working all day in an effort to piece together the torn letters found in a hollow log in Cold Spring Grove, not far from where the body of the unidentified Inwood murder victim was discovered, Detective Lagerenne, the Central Office handwriting expert and linguist, announcd last night that he had been unable to reassemble the small bits of tattered paper in anything like an intelligible fashion. The labor of the expert was rendered more difficult because the fragments had become rain-soaked and rendered almost illegible.

Detective Lagerenne, however, reported to Acting Captain Herlihy of the West 125th Street Detective Bureau, who is handling the case, that the letters were written in Geman and that the penmanship was of a bold, masculine charcater. The letters were penned in a thin, light violet ink, and appear to be love letters addressed to a woman named "Elsie" or "Elise." There is no clue to the identity of the writer, as the parts of the letters bearing the signature are missing.

Capt. Herlihy yesterday went to work upon a new theory as to the nature of the murder following the reported attack upon Miss Lillie Witzell of 723 Eagle Avenue, the Bronx, Tuesday night by an unidentified man as she was walking along New Rochelle Road in the vicinity of her home.

"The assailant of Miss Witzell may be the murderer of the girl found in Cold Spring Grove Sunday night," said Herlihy. "There are a number of things about the Inwood murder which would uphold the theory that the crime was perpetrated by a degenerate. The frightful manner in which the body was mutilated after death is subject to only two possible explanations.

"Either the hacked and stabbed body was mutilated by a new 'Jack the Ripper,' or else it was deliberately slashed for the purpose of preventing an identification. I am inclined to agree with the Coroner's Physician, Dr. Weston, however, that an effort was made to decapitate the body after death for the purpose of throwing the head into the waters of the adjoining inlet or creek. The shoemaker's iron last might have been brought along by the murderer for the purpose of serving as a weight with which to sink the head. The whole case presents one of the most baffling mysteries in my experience. We have worked night and day to bring about an identification of the body, but we are as much in the dark as when the murder was first discovered."

Detectives Hawkins, O'Connor, Hyman, and others made another search of the Spuyten Duyvil Slav colony last night to trace down a clue which appeared to be promising. Information had reached the detectives that a Slav laborer employed by the New York Central Railroad had found a blood-stained pair of trousers hidden near the tracks along the Hudson about half a mile from the scene of the murder. Their investigation revealed that the "blood-stained" trousers consisted of a pair of torn and dirty overalls which had been apparently discarded by some laborer working on the roadbed. The overalls bore no bloodstains.

Coroner's Physician Weston yesterday postponed again the autopsy which has been ordered on the body of the victim. The autopsy has been delayed in the hope that the detectives may be able to produce witnesses to identify the body this morning. A man named Wells, who resides in Centre Moriches, L. I., and his wife will look at the corpse at the Bellevue morgue this morning at the request of the police. The couple notified the police that a Slav servant girl who had been in their employ was missing. A woman named Keating of 417 West Twenty-sixth Street will also view the body in the hope of identifying it as that of a household servant once in her employ. A number of Hungarians from the section of the city adjoining Fourteenth Street and Second Avenue will also be taken to the morgue by detectives to see if they can recognize the body. A Hungarian picnic from this section of the city was held at Cold Spring Grove last Sunday afternoon, and the police at first were inclined to believe that the crime had been committed by one or more of the roysterers.

If the efforts to bring about an identification of the body fail this morning, the autopsy will surely take place this afternoon, Dr. Weston announced last night.

Receiver for Woman Lawyer.

Supreme Court Justice Guy announced yesterday that he would grant the application of Hugo Lehman for the appointment of a receiver in foreclosure proceedings against Agnes K. Murphy Mulligan, a well-known woman lawyer of the Bronx; her husband, and Francis E. McKiernan. Mrs. Mulligan has figured in many Supreme Court actions which have attracted public attention. In some of them she has been a picturesque figure with her children about her, and frequently with a nursling in her lap.

RADER COMPLAINS AGAIN.

Accused Fence Now Says Tombs Keepers Are Leagued Against Him.

From his cell in the Tombs, Isidor Rader, fence and Fagin, who is being held pending investigation of an alliance between the police and the underworld, wrote yesterday to Assistant District Attorney Morris B. Moskowitz:

"I am in trouble. Would like to speak to you about the way they are treating me. They are trying to make me crazy."

Mr. Moskowitz sent word to have Rader brought over to his office. There Rader told a story of oppression on the part of the Tombs officials, who, he said, were trying to drive him insane, so that the investigation of his charges would fall through. Rader has already accused his fellow prisoners of trying to punish him as a "squealer."

"For five days," Rader said, "I have been in solitary confinement because a keeper accused me falsely of calling him bad names. They have also taken all my privileges away. I am not allowed to take exercise, to see anyone, or to have food and clothing brought in to me. The keepers have it in for me."

Stories of an insane man who is being persecuted in the Tombs were related by Rader. This man, he says, goes about with his hands shackled behind his back.

Warden Hanley said that Rader's act of calling the keeper an offensive name brought the usual punishment, solitary confinement and the withholding of all privileges. Rader has received special protection, Warden Hanley said, ever since he complained that the prisoners were attempting to kill him.

DROPS JOCKEY CLUB SUIT.

Maryland State Fair and Racing Interests Here Reach an Agreement.

Judge Lacombe, in the Federal District Court, signed an order yesterday discontinuing the injunction suit brought by the Maryland State Fair, Incorporated, which had a race course at Laurel, Md., against the Jockey Club, the Coney Island Jockey Club, the Brooklyn Jockey Club, the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association, August Belmont, Frank Sturgis, Harry K. Knapp, Fancis R. Hitchcock, Schuyler L. Parsons, Andrew Miller, James B. Haggin, and Perry Belmont, as officers and stewards of the Jockey Club. The discontinuance of the suit was consented to by Grant C. Fox, counsel for the complainant corporation, and Charles H. Tuttle, representing the defendants.

The injunction was sought to restrain the Jockey Club and the other defendants from exercising any control over horse racing outside the State of New York. The first application was denied by Judge Ward because the Maryland State Fair had not paid 1 per cent. of its receipts from the meeting of October, 1912, to the Jockey Club, as the Jockey Club's rules required. To comply with the requirement, the Maryland State Fair made the 1 per cent. payment before renewing the application for the restraining order. It was understood that the suit was discontinued because a satisfactory agreement regarding the October meet at Laurel was attained by the Maryland State Fair and the Jockey Club.

HAS ANNOYER ARRESTED.

Cloak Model Says an Importer Has Threatened to Kill Her.

Anna Keller, a cloak model of 1,628 Voorhies Avenue, Sheepshead Bay, came tearfully to the patrolman on post at Madison Avenue and Thirtieth Street early last evening, and asked his protection from Peter Mustakis of 126 West Seventieth Street. She said he had been following her threateningly.

The man was arrested, and the girl told of his having met her two years ago and dogged her steps ever since, sometimes growing ugly and threatening to kill her.

Mustakis is a Greek importer. As he was being led to a cell in the West Thirtieth Street Station, he whispered to Miss Keller that he would "fix her." The Lieutenant on the desk overheard and instructed Patrolman Hall to report the incident to the Magistrate.

Seven Others Who Fell Into Water at Same Time Saved.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 13.—Seven of twenty-three persons in a launch party were drowned in St. Louis Bay to-day when a canopy top used for seats on the launch Dauplaise gave way, and fourteen persons were thrown into the water. The dead:

LASKY, Mrs. LOUIS, Superior.
LASKY, Miss NETTIE, 19 years old, Superior.
GOLDSTEIN, Miss CLARA, 20 years old, Minneapolis.
SEGAL, Mrs. AARON.
SEGAL, BENNIE, 7 years old.
SEGAL, PHILIP, 4 years old.
SEGAL, SYLVIA, 14 years old, all of Superior.

GRANTS HEIRESS'S PLEA.

Surrogate Ousts Metropolitan Trust Co. from McDonald Estate.

Surrogate Cohalan signed an order yesterday appointing M. Joseph McCloskey of 600 West 138th Street administrator of the estate of Alexander McDonald, the Standard Oil official, to act with Mr. McDonald's granddaughter, Miss Laura McDonald Stallo, under a joint bond of $1,000,000, to be approved by him. With the order the Surrogate revoked the order making the Metropolitan Trust Company administrator.

The petition of Miss Stallo showed that the current assets of the estate were some $500,000. In addition she listed her claim and that of her sisters against the trust company for alleged mismanagement of the estate and wrongful sale of securities deposited as collateral for a $200,000 note.

ALLAN HAGEN PIRIE REWEDS SECRETLY

CUT OFF IN FATHER'S WILL

Special to The New York Times.

SEA CLIFF, L. I., Aug. 13.—Allan Hagen Pirie, son of the late John T. Pirie, the Chicago dry goods merchant, who left his son only $1,000 out of his $12,000,000 estate, has again married, after having been divorced by his first wife last February. He was married last Thursday in Maryland to Miss Louise Marguerite Soder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Soder of Sea Cliff.

Miss Soder, to whom Mr. Pirie had been paying suit for some months, was believed to be engaged to Mr. Pirie, but no one knew that they contemplated immediate marriage. A week ago yesterday she left home and it was believed that she had gone to visit friends in Brooklyn. Mr. Pirie and she slipped off to somewhere in Maryland, obtained their license and were married. Mrs. Soder did not know of the wedding until a few days ago, when her daughter called her up on the long distance telephone and announced that she had wed. Mrs. Soder did her best to keep the matter a secret, and succeeded until yesterday. The Piries told Mrs. Soder they would visit Sea Cliff soon, after which they may make an extended tour. They expect to make their home at Wading River, L. I.

Mr. Pirie was first married in 1902, when he led a young French woman to the altar. She got a separation in 1909, and Justice Newburger gave her a divorce decree last February. Pirie did not defend the action, and was in Florida when the decree was signed. He was directed to pay his former wife $300 monthly for the support of herself and their daughter, Hazeldine Adair Pirie.

John T. Pirie of the firm of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. of Chicago died last April. His will, disposing of an estate of about $12,000,000, cut Allan off with $1,000, giving no reason for so doing. The residue of the estate was divided between the widow and the six other children. It has been intimated that the reason Allan did not enter a contest was that some sort of provision had been made for him by members of the family out of the large estate.

The Indestructo Trunk Is Imitated

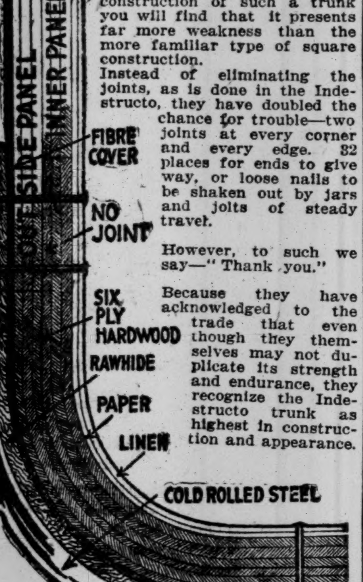
Almost every trunk manufacturer in the country has at one time or another during the past seven years attempted to imitate the Indestructo.

No success has attended their efforts because "Indestructo" is a principle by which trunks are made without a joint. In a great many cases, very similar appearance to the Indestructo has been secured.



But if you stop to analyze the construction of such a trunk you will find that it presents far more weakness than the more familiar type of square construction.

Instead of eliminating the joints, as is done in the Indestructo, they have doubled the chance for trouble—two joints at every corner and every edge. 32 places for ends to give way, or loose nails to be shaken out by jars and jolts of steady travel.

However, to such we say—"Thank you."

Because they have acknowledged to the trade that even though they themselves may not duplicate its strength and endurance, they recognize the Indestructo trunk as highest in construction and appearance.

INQUIRY MAY REVEAL HIDDEN BANK LOANS

MILLIONS NOT REPORTED

Ingenious Expedients Have Been Used to Avoid Disclosure of Indirect Liabilities.

If the new blanks and instructions for reports by the national banks that have been prepared by Acting Controller of the Currency Kane result in bringing to light all the indirect loans obtained by country banks from those in the reserve centres, their reported liabilities will be increased by from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, according to an estimate made yesterday by a former Government official who has had much experience in tracing down such undisclosed obligations.

There was no definite basis, he said, for any close estimate of the aggregate amount of these loans, and it would vary at different seasons, but in one case in his experience a national bank in a moderate-sized city had $400,000 of such loans outstanding, and the total of such loans for the banks of that city was fully $1,000,000. In another case a bank of $100,000 capital had borrowed indirectly $1,000,000, although it could not, under the law, borrow directly more than its capital.

Acting Controller Kane's circular calls for detailed statements of "all money borrowed from other banks in the form of rediscounts, bills payable, or in any other manner." Whether those banks that resort to indirect loans will see fit to report them under this formula or not remains to be seen Those who have had experience in such matters are skeptical as to their doing so.

The principal check on the practice seems to be a growing tendency on the part of New York banks especially to frown upon the making of such loans. In recent years nearly all the banks in this city have refused to enter into such arrangements, but there are still some that do, and in Chicago and St. Louis, it is said, they are quite general, with the result that statements made to the Controller by country banks having such undisclosed obligations are misleading as to their actual condition.

Several ingenious schemes have been devised by country banks to get money from city banks without increasing their reported obligations. A favorite plan is for the Directors of the country bank to "buy" a lot of the unmatured paper held by the bank. The Directors raise the money to pay for it by giving their own note to a city bank, with the paper they have "bought" as collateral. This money goes to the country bank.

National bank examiners often become curious about large sales of paper made to individuals who happen to be the same as the Directors of the bank, and in order not to arouse such curiosity Directors of country banks in many cases have formed corporations for the sole purpose of handling such transactions, as the examiner is not so likely to question a sale of paper to some investment company.

This operation comes so close to a bona fide sale by the bank that it has been found practically impossible to put a stop to it. The point at which it departs from a bona fide sale is that the country bank, not its Directors, pays the interest on the loan obtained from the city bank, and the country bank continues to receive the interest on the notes "sold" to the Directors.

Another plan is for an officer of the country bank to give his own note for the money borrowed from the city bank, the country bank indorsing his note. There have been cases where the same officer made the note and signed the guarantee on the part of the bank. In such cases, of course, the officers of the city bank have no illusions as to the real character of the transaction and probably wouldn't lend any money to the country bank officer for his own use.

A simple way of getting money from a city bank without having it appear as a loan is for the country bank to give a certificate of deposit instead of a note. The city bank's money is then merely a deposit. The trouble is that the city bank has no collateral, and this sort of arrangement is unpopular for that reason, and is rarely used.

Sometimes the country bank "sells" a quantity of notes to the city bank and guarantees their payment. This is really the same thing as rediscounting the notes, but it doesn't appear as a rediscount in the country bank's statement. Similarly, a country bank sometimes "sells" a block of securities to a city bank, at the same time writing a letter agreeing to "buy" back the securities on a certain date, and at a price enough higher to equal the interest that would be paid on a loan.

In all these cases the Controller of the Currency is left in the dark by the country bank's statement as to its actual liabilities.

SENATE WON'T TAKE A RECESS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Whether or not a single amendment to the tariff bill shall result from the slow fight waged in the Senate will probably be decided at a caucus of Democratic Senators to-morrow morning. The caucus has been summoned ostensibly to fill committee vacancies arising from the death of Senator Johnston of Alabama, but it is expected that a general discussion of the tariff situation will come up with special reference to prompt action on currency as soon as the tariff bill is disposed of.

Several important amendments that have been taken under advisement by the Finance Committee may be passed upon at to-morrow's caucus. The policy of the committee leaders has been, when Republicans proposed amendments of apparent merit, to pass over the paragraph to which the amendment was offered with the promise that the committee would consider the proposed change.

In this way the committee has before it an amendment offered by Senator Root of New York, providing that the income tax be levied only upon incomes received after the signing of the bill by the President. Mr. Root, in a brief statement, told the Senate that income received befor the enactment of the bill would be capital for the purposes of taxation, and that a levy under the Constitution could not be made upon capital, except in proportion to population.

Another important amendment before the committee was offered by Senator Sutherland of Utah, providing that existing rates should be levied against goods now in bonded warehouses, even if they remained under bond until after the Underwood rates became effective.

Considerable interest was aroused in the Senate cloakrooms this afternoon by a report that the Democratic caucus would probably decide in favor of a recess by both Houses for a month or more after the enactment of the Tariff bill and before the currency measure should be taken up by the Senate. But Democratic leaders emphatically asserted that nothing would prevent the immediate consideration of the Currency bill. Some even intimated that if the rate of progress on the tariff was not hastened there would be no time for a recess, whether Senators desired it or not.

Senators James and Thomas said that as soon as the Tariff bill was passed the Senate would take up the Currency bill and pass it at this session. Senator Kern was of the same opinion. While many Democrats and practically all the Republicans would be glad to confer with their constituents before proceeding to the second number on the President's legislative programme, there is no likelihood that a junction can be effected between the Democrats, who are weary of the protracted session, and the Republicans. The President is known to be immovable in his demand that the currency system shall be revised now, and no one doubts his ability to put his wishes into effect.

For hours the Senators debated the whole tariff question with wheat the item under consideration, the result being that the entire day, with the exception of a few minutes devoted to rice, was taken up on that one item. Democratic leaders were visibly disturbed by the failure to make progress during the day.

INVITED ELDRIDGE TO SERVE.

But Galveston Bankers Withdrew Request When McAdoo Objected.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Aug. 13.—When the Galveston Clearing House Association had to appoint a representative to attend the Conference of Southern bankers recently called by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, it first selected Vice President Eldridge of the National City Bank of New York. It was learned here to-day that this selection proved to be unsatisfactory to Mr. McAdoo, and that, therefore, a substitution was immediately made. This explanation of the change was made by Vice President Hoopes of the City National Bank of this city.

"When the Galveston Clearing House Association received notification of the conference called by Mr. McAdoo there was not then left time enough for one of our officers to get from Galveston to Washington and attend. As we knew that Mr. Eldridge was cognizant of local conditions we telegraphed to him and asked him if he could find time to represent us at the conference. The Vice President of our Clearing House Association, Sealey Hutchins, was then about one day's journey from Washington, and we telegraphed him to attend the conference.

"That same day we received a telegram from the Government department at Washington advising the Galveston Clearing House Association that Mr. Eldridge could not be permitted to represent us at the conference, and that Mr. McAdoo expected Galveston to have an official of this city actually in attendance. Thereupon we again wired Mr. Hutchins, and he actually attended the conference, acting as representative of the Galveston Clearing House Association, of which he is Vice President.

"When we telegraphed to Mr. Eldridge we did not think of him as being connected with the National City Bank or with any other bank of New York or the Northern and Eastern sections, but merely thought of him as a man well acquainted with conditions of Galveston and this section of Texas, and on that account wanted him to act as our representative as we could not possibly get a man from Galveston to Washington in time. We want it understood, however, that we were represented by a Galveston man at this conference. When informed that Mr. Eldridge could not legally represent us and would not be allowed to attend the conference, we promptly wired him that he was disqualified."

SAY CLAYTON IS NOT NEEDED

Democrats in Any Event Will Not Seat Alabama Appointee.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Representative Clayton of Alabama did not reach Washington in time to-day to present his credentials as Senator by appointment to succeed the late Senator Johnston, but will deliver them to-morrow. When his credentials are presented the general opinion is that they will be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and that the committee will declare them inadequate.

"The public exigency supposed to lie in the need of Democratic votes to pass the Tariff bill," said Senator Kern of Indiana, the majority leader, this afternoon, "will have no effect on the report of the committee of which I am Chairman. As things stand now, we have enough Democrats to pass the bill, even if another Senator on our side should be missing."

The margin of Democratic control, it was learned to-day, had been somewhat increased by the departure of Senator Works, a Republican, of California, for his home without a pair. Mr. Works is understood to be out of sympathy with his party on many tariff questions, and to be disgusted with the slow course of events in the Senate. The illness of Mrs. Works is said to be the immediate cause of Mr. Works's departure, though the Senator, as a Christian Scientist, is thought reluctant to admit it.

CAN'T SELL OLD CRUISER.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The Government is having a hard time trying to sell the old cruiser Newark, which recently was advertised for sale to the highest bidder. Although the Newark cost $1,248,000 twenty-four years ago, and was regarded as a likely ship in times not so far back, not a single bid has been received for her. It is estimated by naval constructors that there is fully $25,000 worth of copper and composition metal on her.

Navy officers know well enough why it is that such a ship does not bring a fair price, and say that the trouble is that the proceeds of the sale are to be turned into the Treasury. If the funds could be held and applied to the cost of new ships a better way of selling would be devised quickly. For instance, if the rifles that were taken off the Newark and virtually thrown away never to be used again on any ship were put back on board the Newark she might be snapped up at $150,000 or thereabouts in a short time by some country so far from the United States that the sale would be justified from every point of view.

Part of the trouble in selling the Newark is that her protective deck is an obstacle to fitting her for commercial uses, and she is worth more for a warship than for anything else.

FUNDS FOR MRS. HALLERAN.

Supreme Court Justice Crane in Brooklyn, yesterday, awarded $75 a month alimony and $250 counsel fee to Mrs. Sarah G. Halleran of Flushing pending the trial of her suit for separation from Aloysius G. Halleran.

Mrs. Halleran is the sister-in-law of Borough President Connolly of Queens who has been made the defendant in a suit brought by her husband for $50,000 on the charge that he alienated Mrs. Halleran's affections from him.

Commission in Parker Will Contest.

Another step in the will contest over the estate of Joseph M. Parker, the blotting paper manufacturer, who died leaving an estate estimated at several million dollars, was taken yesterday when Supreme Court Justice Guy granted the appliction of Katherine Trowbridge for the appointment of a commission to take the testimony in New Haven of Julia M. Thrall. Miss Thrall is also one of the contestants. Justice Guy appointed Harrison Hewitt of New Haven commissioner to take Miss Thrall's testimony.

TO PUT SUFFRAGE IN CONSTITUTION

Representatives of 4,000,000 Women Voters Plan for National Amendment.

CONFERRING IN WASHINGTON

They Urge the House to Create a Woman Suffrage Committee—Pressure on Democrats.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A three days' session of the National Council of Woman Voters was begun here to-day for the purpose of discussing legislation in favor of equal suffrage and the resolution pending in Congress providing for submitting to the States a proposed Constitutional amendment permitting women to participate in national elections. It was evident from the start that the sessions of the council would be enthusiastic.

The council is sitting behind closed doors.

Miss Jane Addams, who was elected a Vice President at Large at this afternoon's session, was responsible for action taken that was regarded as the most important of to-day's meeting. She proposed a resolution that the 4,000,000 women voters of the United States be urged to concentrate their energies upon the endeavor to have Congress enact legislation permitting the proposed equal suffrage amendment to be voted on by the States. The resolution was seconded by Dr. Cora Smith King of the State of Washington, Treasurer of the council, and was adopted unanimously by the delegates, who represent the ten suffrage States and Alaska, the only territory where women vote.

Miss Alice Paul, Chairman of the Congressional Committee of the National Woman Suffrage Association, said that it was no longer practicable to work for suffrage State by State.

"In past years," she sid, "the State has undoubtedly offered the line of least resistance for suffrage work. The fact that about 4,000,000 women are now able to vote for President has changed the situation, however, and brought close at hand the time when the slow and tedious process of winning the vote State by State may be shortened by the direct cut of Federal action. In view of this new situation, the National Suffrage Association is concentrating upon the work for a Federal amendment. For the first time in many years it has, through its Congressional Committee, opened headquarters in Washington. Every effort is being made to secure the passage of the amendment during the present Congress."

Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs of Illinois said that one-fifth of the members of the Senate, one-seventh of the members of the House and one-sixth of the electoral votes for President came from States where women voted.

"The Democratic Party," said Mrs. Stubbs, "has not yet taken a stand nationally on the woman suffrage question. But no doubt the case will be put up to it during the present Administration, step by step. The first tests submitted to the party will be the creation of a Woman Suffrage Committee in the House. The Democratic Party has the control of the Senate and the House, and therefore, naturally, a majority of every committee. It is the business of the women of the country, whether voters or not, to declare their attitude in regard to women's present status."

Miss Jeannette Rankin, President of the Montana Suffrage Association, and Miss Lucy Burns, Vice President of the Congressional Committee of the National Association, spoke in favor of bringing pressure to bear upon the House to elect a standing Committee on Woman Suffrage. They pointed out that the Senate had such a committee, while in the House all bills relating to suffrage went to the Committee on the Judiciary, which was busy with other things. Miss Rankin said that the Senate Committee on Woman Suffrage had made favorable reports six times on suffrage measures, and that the present committee had acted favorably on the Constitutional amendment resolution.

Others who spoke to-day were Mrs. George Sutherland, wife of the junior Senator from Utah; Mrs. Burton French, wife of the Representative from Idaho; Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, wife of the Representative from Wyoming, and Mrs. Edward Keating, wife of the Representative from Colorado, who told of the success of woman suffrage in their States.

This is the birthday of Lucy Stone, one of the pioneer suffragists, and at the opening of the conference Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood paid a tribute to Mrs. Stone's memory. When Mrs. Lockwood finished a representative of each suffrage State and the Territory of Alaska brought a ribbon to the platform, and these were draped over a photograph of Mrs. Stone.

CRUSADERS IN MIDDLETOWN.

Advance Guard of Mounted New York Suffragists Glad to Rest.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Miss Harriet Porrit and Miss Nora Blatch De Forrest of New York City, two of the party of female suffrage crusaders from the headquarters of the Women's Political Union, arrived here shortly before noon to-day. They were on horseback, Miss Porrit riding "Dr. Parkhurst" and Miss De Forrest riding "Senator Root." They were apparently very sore and tired from excessive riding, and were glad to rest when they arrived here.

The crusaders were given a rousing welcome at Chester last night, and the crowd listened with respectful attention. Their first stop to-day after leaving Chester was Goshen, where another good crowd welcomed them and where they disposed of all their souvenir buttons and pencils. On the ride from Goshen to this city, "Senator Root," the horse ridden by Miss Porrit, shied at a camper's tent along the road, and Miss Porrit dropped a bag of money which she was carrying. Miss Porrit quickly controlled the horse, but lost half an hour trying to find all of the coins.

In this city the crusaders made two addresses at the Ontario & Western shops, and to-night spoke to a good crowd at Midway Park, a Summer resort. They were treated with uniform courtesy.

"COUNTRY LIFE" LABOR ROW

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Aug. 13.—Country Life Press, the printing plant of Doubleday, Page & Co. here, is again the centre of a strike agitation. The refusal of J. O'Brien, head of the mechanical department, to recognize the union is said to have caused the trouble. The plant runs an open shop, but a large percentage of its employes are union men. The policy of the company is not to be controlled by union dictation.

Seven men walked out of the foundry this evening, joining those who departed before that, in a parade around the building. On Friday night half of the press room employes walked out. The foundry room, the composing room, and the photo engraving room are also affected. About fifty men in all are on the insurgent list. Doubleday, Page & Co. had a strike on their hands less than a year ago on account of the union, which had lasted almost a year.

ASKS $30,000,000 FOR COAST CANALS

SEEKS TO LINK BIG BAYS

Would Connect This Harbor with Delaware River and Make Waterway at Sea Level.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A $30,000,000 project for the development of coastwise trade to New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore by means of inter-coastal canals was sent to Speaker Clark to-day by Acting Secretary of War Breckinridge with the recommendation of Brig. Gen. Bixby, Chief of Engineers of the Army, that it be adopted immediately by Congress.

The recommendations of Gen. Bixby are based on the report of the special board of five army engineers which for several years, under directions from Congress, has been surveying the feasibility and advisability of constructing a chain of inland waterways from Boston to Beaufort, N. C. The preliminary report of that board was submitted to Congress last year. Congress has appropriated funds for the purchase of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal connecting Norfolk, Va., to the North Carolina Sounds, and giving a safe inside route beyond Cape Hatteras.

The plan sent to Congress to-day recommends:

First—The purchase of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, connecting the Chesapeake and Delaware Bays, at a cost not exceeding $2,514,290.

Second—The expenditure of approximately $8,000,000 by the Government in transforming this canal from a lock canal into a sea level canal, with a depth of twelve feet throughout and a ninety-foot width at the bottom.

Third—The postponement of the ultimate deepening of this canal to twenty-five feet until after the effect of the new twelve-foot canal upon commerce is apparent.

Fourth—The construction of a lock canal twelve feet deep and ninety feet wide from the Delaware River to New York Harbor, at a total cost of $20,000,000, so built as to provide for economical enlargement of the canal to twenty-five feet depth and 125 feet of width, and the future reduction of the canal to a sea level basis.

Fifth—The ultimate development of this canal into a twenty-five-foot-deep sea level canal, in cooperation with New Jersey and other benefited States.

The officers who made the survey were Col. William M. Black, Col. Frederick Abbott, Lieut.-Col. J. C. Sanford, Lieut.-Col. Maron H. Patrick and Maj. R. R. Raymond. Their report was considered by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, of which Col. Rossell is chairman, could not be ber. The special board, of which Col. Black is chairman, after discussing the advantages and disadvantages of a twelve-foot waterway from Philadelphia to New York, recommended a sea level canal twenty-five feet deep connecting Delaware Bay with New York Harbor, but the higher board, of which Col. Russell is chairman, could not be convinced that a twenty-five-foot canal should be undertaken. In view of the large expenditure for a smaller depth, the Russell board did not believe the public benefits would justify such an outlay and reported against even a twelve-foot waterway at present.

Urges Twelve-Foot Lock Canal.

Gen. Bixby, the Chief of Engineers, reviewed the arguments and concluded the Government ought to authorize immediately the construction of a twelve-foot lock canal between the Delaware River and New York Harbor.

"I concur," runs the report of Gen. Bixby, "with the special board in its view that some day a twenty-five-foot sea level canal will be advisable across New Jersey from New York Bay to the Delaware River; also that it is very undesirable to have any new canal built at present between those points unless it is so located as to be susceptible of development into a deep draft sea level canal.

"But I concur at the same time with the Board of Engineers of Rivers and Harbors in the view that a less depth than twenty-five feet will take reasonable care of present demands of commerce, especially in consideration of the report of the special board showing that the majority of the increased tonnage will be that of barges of from 1,000 to 2,000 tons.

"After having considered the estimates of the special board for a lock canal of 12 feet depth or 25 feet depth and a sea level canal of the same dimensions along the selected line, I am of the opinion that the general public will be benefited by a lock canal of 12 feet depth and 90 bottom width, sufficiently to justify its construction at public expense—provided the State of New Jersey or other local parties will promptly secure and donate to the United States free of cost all rights of way necessary for a 125-foot bottom width, 25-foot depth sea level canal along the same route, and will assume the cost of all water power damages connected with it, and provided the 12-foot depth canal construction work be carried on in general accordance with plans and estimates of the special board along its route in such way as to allow of later development of a 25-foot depth canal whenever it is found advisable.

Recommends Ample Width.

"The special board," says Gen. Bixby's report, "has based its local canal estimates upon locks of forty-five feet width, but indicates that harbor dredges may require a fifty-foot width. It would seem desirable to make the width sufficient to allow, if practicable, the passage of such dredges and other craft of about this width likely to demand passage frequently. This will add slightly to the cost of construction.

"If the lock canal is ever to be deepened to twenty-five feet, it would be advantageous to so arrange its foundations as to allow such widening without serious extra cost or interference with traffic, and this will add somewhat to the cost. Making allowance for these items and stating the special board's estimates in round numbers, the estimates stand as follows:

"Lock canal twelve feet deep, cost $20,000,000; annual operating cost, $610,000.

"Lock canal twenty-five feet deep, $30,000,000; annual operating cost, $720,000.

"Sea level canal twelve feet deep, $33,000,000; annual operating cost $270,000.

"Sea level canal twenty-five feet deep, $45,000,000; operating cost, $320,000."

Gen. Bixby states that if a right of way can be obtained immediately along a route comparatively level, short, straight and free from railroad or other troublesome crossings, the $20,000,000 project is worth being started immediately at Federal expense. He states his belief that New Jersey easily can cooperate immediately on that basis, and that while the canal is being built New Jersey and other adjoining States can decide how much more extensively they desire to co-operate.

The General asks that Congress make an immediate appropriation of $500,000 and steady annual appropriations sufficient to complete the work in eight years.

LAST PACIFIC DIKE TO GO.

Canal Open from Miraflores for Light Vessels Aug. 25.

PANAMA, Aug. 13.—The destruction of the last dike in the Pacific section of the Panama Canal between the Miraflores locks and the ocean will take place about Aug. 25.

The event will lack somewhat the spectacular features attending the dynamiting of the dike in the same locality some time ago, but will mark an important step toward the completion of the canal by establishing uninterrupted water communication for vessels of light draft between Miraflores and the Pacific.

CHARLTON SAILS TO-DAY.

Will Be Transferred to Italian Authority on Liner.

Porter Charlton, the son of Judge Paul Charlton of Washington, who in June, 1910, murdered his wife at Lake Como, Italy, after which he placed the body in a trunk and dumped it into the lake, spent what may be his last day in the United States yesterday. This morning the youthful prisoner will be taken from the Hudson County (N. J.) Jail to the Italian liner Re d'Italia, on board of which he will sail for Naples this morning at 11 o'clock. Two detectives of the Italian Government will have charge of him.

The young man was visited at the jail yesterday by Judge Charlton, who was with him several hours. Judge Charlton, it was said, will not sail on the Re d'Italia, but will go on a later steamer.

Early this morning Giuseppi Gentile, the Italian Consul General in New York, accompanied by the two Italian detectives, will go to the Hudson County Jail and will produce the papers ordering Charlton's extradition. Sheriff Wedin and Under Sheriff Clark will then take Charlton to the Italian piers in New York and on the deck of the Re d'Italia turn him over to the Italian officers. The pier, it was said yesterday, will be closed to visitors during the few minutes that will be needed to transfer Charlton from American to Italian custody.

Sheriff Wedin said yesterday that Charlton does not appear to have the least concern over the outcome of his trial in Italy. Charlton himself said yesterday that he was certain he would be acquitted, and that he would be back in New York within a year's time.

HENRY D. OLIPHANT ROBBED

Former Court Clerk Is Held Up in His Own House.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 13.—Henry D. Oliphant, former United States Circuit Clourt clerk, and one of this city's best known men, was held up at the point of a revolver in his home here to-day by a burglar, who made him surrender $6.50 and who then locked him in a room and escaped.

Mr. Oliphant's family is spending the Summer out of town and the house has been closed since Spring. To-day he found occasion to go there and reached the second floor before being surprised by the thief.

Sights Rowboat 120 Miles at Sea.

A rowboat, painted white, with two oars in the bottom, was sighted 120 miles east of Sandy Hook by the steamship Memphian, which arrived from Manchester yesterday. There was nothing about the boat to indicate to whom it had belonged.

GEM THEFT ON YACHT.

BRIDGEPORT, Aug. 13.—Diamonds and other jewels valued at $2,000 were stolen from the yacht Saracen, while the vessel lay at anchor off the Poquonnock Yacht Club, a few days ago, according to a complaint made to the police to-day by Frank S. Mott of Buffalo, N. Y.

MacDonald to Speak for Canada.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13.—The Perry Centennial Commission announced to-day that Dr. J. A. MacDonald of Toronto would be the speaker to represent Canada at the exercises at Put-in-Bay on Sept. 10. Ex-President Taft and President Wilson also will deliver addresses. On Sept. 11 the remains of American and British officers and sailors who perished in the battle of Lake Erie will be placed in the crypt of the Perry memorial.

In seven months of 1913 THE NEW YORK TIMES published 5,313,630 lines of advertisements, compared with 4,998,770 lines in the corresponding period of 1912, a gain of 314,860 lines—the best seven months in its history. The gain of THE TIMES is 48,464 lines more than the COMBINED net gains of the four other New York morning newspapers, leading in volume of advertising.

Dry Goods—1,686,283 lines, compared with 1,547,977 lines in the corresponding seven months of last year, a gain of 138,306 lines, a greater volume than any other high-class New York morning newspaper, and exceeding by 65,617 lines the COMBINED volume of three other New York morning newspapers.

Books—141,992 lines, a greater volume by 65,124 lines than any other New York newspaper, morning or evening, and almost equal to the COMBINED volume of all other New York morning newspapers.

Automobiles—344,788 lines, compared with 325,476 lines in the corresponding period last year, a gain of 19,312 lines, leading all other New York newspapers, and exceeding the volume of the next New York newspaper by 43,285 lines.

Financial—479,229 lines, 222,165 lines more than the next New York morning newspaper, and 175,105 lines more than the New York evening newspaper making a feature of financial matters—a volume equaling the COMBINED volume of five other New York morning newspapers.

Real Estate—631,132 lines, compared with 554,740 lines in the corresponding period of 1912, a gain of 76,392 lines—31,215 lines more than the net gains of all the other New York morning newspapers COMBINED.

Railroads and Steamships—339,016 lines, a gain of 25,480 lines compared with the corresponding period last year, a greater volume than the next New York newspaper by 50,023 lines.

Hotels and Resorts—272,419 lines, surpassing the record of two other high-class New York morning newspapers.

Miscellaneous—930,732 lines, compared with 892,893 lines in seven months of 1912, a gain of 37,839 lines, and exceeding the volume of two other high-class morning newspapers COMBINED by over a quarter million lines.

CIRCULATION

The statements recently published by the New York daily newspapers show that THE NEW YORK TIMES has an average net paid total sale far more than DOUBLE the next high-class morning newspaper; MORE THAN THREE AND ONE-HALF TIMES that of the third high-class morning newspaper; MORE THAN FOUR AND ONE-HALF TIMES that of the fourth high-class morning newspaper, and considerably more than the three COMBINED.

In the Metropolitan District THE NEW YORK TIMES has a net paid daily sale MORE THAN FOUR TIMES that of the next high-class morning newspaper; MORE THAN SIX TIMES that of the third high-class morning newspaper; MORE THAN SIX TIMES that of the fourth high-class morning newspaper, and more than DOUBLE the net paid daily sale in the Metropolitan District of the THREE other high-class New York morning newspapers COMBINED.

SUPERBAS SCORE 2 VICTORIES IN A DAY

On Aug. 13, 1911, President Charles Holiday Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club drafted Steve McKeever from the Fish Fertilizer League, in which he was then engaged, calmly remarking as he ushered McKeever into baseball: "I got yuh, Seve." A few minutes after the elder McKeever broke into the pastime as financier and magnate brother Ed followed. When Ebbets was making out his extensive list of holidays for the new field in Flatbush, Aug. 13 was set aside as McKeever Day, and a double-header was arranged for the date so there would be one game for each brother. Threatening skies had no terror yesterday, and the Superbas went through with their holiday programme, using the Pittsburgh Pirates as victims. The first game was Steve's, as he was captured first, and the Superbas won that in ten innings, 4 to 3. Ed's game also went the right way, the count being 7 to 3.

In honor of the double capture two years ago the band was out there unloading all the late turkey trot and tango tunes, and each fan was presented with a pocket mirror as he entered the grounds. Only one to each customer was the motto strictly adhered to by the boys with the baskets. On the back of the mirror were pictures of the McKeever brothers, showing Ed as he looks to-day and Steve as he must have looked about the time Ned Hanlon was the baseball impresario across the bridge. About 5,000 fans collected mirrors.

Little Leo Callahan, inserted into the opening struggle while the score was tied, two on the bases, and two out in Brooklyn's half of the tenth inning, delivered the blow that kept Steve McKeever's game from going wrong. Jake Daubert was on second as the result of his infield hit and Bob Fisher's scratch hit past Camnitz. Little Leo tucked his bat into the path of a fast one and sent the sphere whizzing over Hans Wagner's head, enabling Jake to hustle home with the deciding count. That one blow was a day's work for Callahan, as he was not needed in the second game, which belonged to Brooklyn most all the way.

A timely clout by George Cutshaw in the ninth inning put the Superbas in the running when all hope seemed about dead. For seven innings Lefty Robinson and Cliff Curtis hooked up in one of those air-tight pitching duels, each settling down to shut-out ball after some hitting in the opening frame had pushed across a run for each team. Hans Wagner's double accounted for the Pirate run in the first inning and Zach Wheat's single chased home the Brooklyn counter. For six innings more the two pitchers had things their own way, but in Pittsburgh's half of the eighth, with two out, Curtis lost his grip.

A pass to Viox started the trouble, and the mighty Honus, slated for the baseball boneyard a few weeks ago, slapped out his second double, which was his third hit of the game. The blow chased Viox around to third, and Jack Miller lined to left field, breaking the tie and adding a run for good measure. This two-run advantage kept the Pirates in front until one was out in the last half of the ninth inning. Otto Miller singled past Byrne and Benny Meyer, batting for Curtis, singled to centre. Moran's sacrifice advanced both runners and caused Robinson to retreat to the bench under orders. Camnitz took up the burden, and Cutshaw promptly touched the veteran for a single which scored Miller and sent Meyer to third. A slow roller from Stengel's bat trickled through Camnitz's hands, and Meyer raced home with the tying run. Bill Wagner retired the Pirates in the tenth, and then Little Leo had his chance to make Steve McKeever happy.

The second game was as full of loose playing as the box score is full of pitchers and alleged pinch-hitters. Fred Clarke sent Marty O'Toole out for the first time since the $22,500 beauty was separated from his appendix, and Marty showed he was just as wild as in the days when his anatomy was complete. Two successive passes in the third inning, closely following a similar gift in the second frame, ended Marty's labors for the day. Camnitz, who had dropped into the Steve McKeever battle just in time to be charged with the defeat, was picked to succeed Marty, and he lasted just long enough in this game to have another defeat inserted in his pitching record. Camnitz worked less than six full innings in the two games, while decorating himself with the double defeat. George McQuillan, the greatest of the 1913 come-back clan, worked like a champion during the last two frames, when the Superbas had all the runs they needed.

The Pirates made one big splash during the second game, and for a few minutes it looked as if Ed McKeever would have to run second to brother Steve. Chink Yingling was pitching his first game since recovering from a battle with ivy poisoning, and the Pirates got after him roughly in the third inning. Three hits, properly mingled with a collection of Brooklyn blunders, gave the visitors three runs, and put them in front, 3 to 1. This was just before Marty O'Toole got generous and paved the way for more Superba runs. After the Dahlen boys had grabbed off three runs in the same inning and regained the lead Ed Reulbach made his Flatbush début in Superba livery, and he held the visitors hitless through the remaining six innings. An epidemic of Brooklyn batting in the fifth inning while Camnitz was still on the mound added three more runs and put the Ed McKeever game out of all danger. The scores:

REDS TO DROP FOUR MEN.

Suggs, Sheckard, Egan, and Bates on Market—Egan May Join Yankees.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Aug. 13.—Before the Cincinnati Nationals left Pittsburgh last night it was reported from their camp that waivers have been asked on Suggs, Sheckard, Egan, and Bates, the veterans of the team. When the various deals in which the players are being considered are concluded official announcement will be made. All the clubs in the National League have waived on Bates and Egan and President Hermann and Manager Tinker are trying to make deals for them with American League teams. They expect to pull off a trade for Egan with either the White Sox or the Yankees, both of these clubs being in need of infielders of Egan's class. They will not let Egan go until they arrange a first-class trade for him. It is likely that several changes will be made in the club on the present Eastern trip.

All the clubs have also waived on Suggs, for whom Manager Tinker has been trying to pull off a deal for some time. The veteran pitcher has been unsuccessful with the Reds this season, not having won a game that he has started in since last May. Both himself and Tinker feel that he could do better with some other club. Trades are said to be under way for Sheckard and Bates. One or two or the quartet, however, are expected to go to the minor leagues.

MARBLEHEAD TARS WIN NAVY CUPS

Irolita and Barbara Capture Chief Prizes in New York Yacht Club Race.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 13.—The major honors in the run of the New York Yacht Club from Marblehead to this famous fishing port to-day, by way of Boston Light, were won by Marblehead Corinthian sailors.

The navy challenge cups were the chief prizes and these were captured by the schooner Irolita, owned and sailed by E. W. Clark of Philadelphia and Marblehead, and by the fifty-footer Barbara, owned by H. P. Whitney of New York, but sailed by R. W. Emmons, 2d., of the Eastern Yacht Club.

The class prizes went to the "P." boat, Windward, owned by R. A. Monks of New York; the sloop Dorello II., owned and sailed by G. L. Batchelder of Boston and Marblehead; the sloop Shimna, owned by Commodore R. T. Paine, 2d., of the Eastern Yacht Club, and sailed by F. B. Crowninshield of Boston; the schooner Venona, owned and sailed by Edgar Palmer of New York; the schooner Muriel, owned and sailed by Commodore Charles Smithers of the Larchmont Yacht Club, and the schooner Irolita.

As the course was only twenty-four miles and the race was sailed in a ten-knot southerly breeze the entire fleet was at anchor inside of Dog Bar Breakwater before mid-afternoon. The winners were announced by the Corsair by wireless.

The power boat section of the New York fleet as well as yachts like the Enchantress, Savarona, and Sea Fox, which do not go in much for racing, made the run across the entrance of Salem Bay about noon. A heavy rain prevented many of the yachtsmen from going ashore until late in the afternoon.

The cruise of the New York Yacht Club for 1913 will terminate to-morrow in another racing run in Massachusetts Bay, with a start off Eastern Point, turns at Cape Ann whistler and Boston Lightship, and a finish at Halfway Rock, a distance of thirty-seven miles. The fleet will disband just before sunset, but the fifty-footers will remain over a day in order to take part in a special race arranged for them on Friday by the Eastern Yacht Club, prizes for which have been contributed by Capt. S. Reed Anthony. It is expected that the yachts will illuminate to-morrow night in Marblehead Harbor.

Nineteen yachts came out to the start to-day at Halfway Rock, six schooners and thirteen sloops, the Marblehead P boat Amoret entering the regatta in order to give the Windward a competitor. A fine southerly breeze was sweeping across the bay, and as the course from the first leg of the course of nine miles to Boston Lightship was about south-southwest, all the yachts sent their baby jibtopsails up in stops for some windward work.

The Windward captured the weather gauge of the Amoret in the start for small sloops at 10:10 o'clock, and soon established a safe lead, which she kept to the finish.

The sloops were next away, with the Shimna in the lead, followed closely by the Avenger, while the Dorello II. was considerably astern. The Shimna drew gradually away from the Maxwell boat throughout the race, leading at the turn by more than three minutes and at the finish by 4 minutes and 38 seconds. It was the Shimna's first victory over the Avenger since the cruise started, and was won within a mile of her moorings behind Norman's Woe.

Riverside Yacht Club Regatta.

Several showers and one wind squall, the latter at one time approximating a velocity of twenty miles, and shifting from the southwest to the northwest, marred the special Fall regatta of the Riverside Yacht Club, held yesterday afternoon off Great Captain's Island. Seventeen boats were entered in the five classes, only thirteen finishing, the unfavorable weather conditions being the direct cause of the withdrawal of several boats. The start was off the Gas Buoy and return, and, notwithstanding the weather, some good racing was witnessed. The summaries:

AH CHUNG WINS IN RING.

Chinese Boxer Stops Paddy McCarthy in Sixth at St. Nicholas A. C.

About 900 boxing enthusiasts gathered at the St. Nicholas A. C. last night to get a view of the only "Chinese" boxer now engaged in the pastime of hit and get away. They saw a youngster who came into the ring wearing the regulation Chinese loose-fitting coat, and they heard him introduced as Ah Chung. After the bout four real Mongolians who gathered close to the ringside, in the most expensive boxes, to see their countrymen in action, went to the boxer's dressing room to exchange a little Chink conversation. They did not get very far with the interview, as Chung spoke a peculiar Canton dialect such as is spoken in Canton, Ohio.

Chung had all the appearance of a Mexican, and would hardly pass the outside guard at a laundrymen's convention. His manager, Eddie Keevin of Boston, acted as his chief second, and most of the time he called the boxer "Harry." On a few occasions he referred to him as Chung. Some of the spectators were loud in their demands to know which of the two boxers in the ring was the Chinaman, so close was the resemblance of Chung to a regular Mongolian.

The bout in which the alleged Mongolian figured lasted only six rounds and Chung got the verdict. He was opposed by a youngster from the west side known as Paddy McCarthy, and the latter picked out a soft spit on the ring floor when the bombardment became too active in the sixth round. In the first three rounds McCarthy outpointed the supposed Chinaman, but in the fourth he began to weaken and Chung had the better of the next three rounds.

In the opening ten-round bout Battling Levinsky, weighing 165 pounds, clearly outfought Tim Logan, the ex-sailor, who weighed twenty pounds heavier. In the final bout, scheduled to go ten rounds, Jack Keating stopped Soldier Bacchus in three rounds. Bacchus weighed 169 pounds and Keating 188 pounds.

GREAT SOUTH BAY RACE.

Special to The New York Times.

BABYLON, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Thirty-four boats sailed in the first regatta of the second annual cruise of the Great South Bay Yacht Racing Association off this port to-day. The wind was light and from the south, giving the boats a beat for the first leg, a reach on the starboard tack for the second leg, and a jibe and another reach home. The larger boats sailed over the course three times. Toward the close the wind lightened considerably and backed into the east, allowing some of the smaller boats an opportunity of carrying spinnakers home.

Interest centred principally in the P class. It is impossible to announce the winner of the division, as the craft all have to be remeasured. J. W. Overton's Alva was the first to finish. The boat was protested by J. W. Lawrence, owner of Kid, who claimed that he was forced about while on the starboard tack at the start of the race.

In the Q class, which on both actual and corrected time was won by Dixie, the winner was protested by R. H. Post, owner of Constance, who claimed that he was not given room at the second mark. The only disqualifications were in the catboat division of the Unqua of the Corinthian Yacht Club and in the B. B. catboat class. In the latter division Adelaide was disqualified for fouling a mark, and among the Amityville boats Unquanama was not recognized, as she carried no class letter or number.

The winners in the other divisions were as follows: Nyssa, Sylph, Mollusc, Ethel S., Happy, White Hope, and Wee Win.

The race was well managed by the Regatta Committee of the Babylon Yacht Club, made up of T. L. Lane, A. L. Stoutenbergh, E. F. Coombs, and Frank Osborn. The boats leave here to-morrow morning for Sayville, where they will sail another race. The summary:

Harlem Yacht Club Race.

The annual long-distance race of the Harlem Yacht Club, from Execution Light to Stratford Shoal and return, will start on Saturday, Aug. 16, at 5 o'clock P. M. The race will bring out a larger number of starters than in previous years, and is open to cabin yachts in cruising trim of over 17 and not over 31 rating. At 6 o'clock P. M. on the same date the Harlem Yacht Club annual motor boat race will start.

One Hit Off Pitcher in 18 Innings.

PETERSBURG, Va., Aug. 13.—Pitcher Hedgepeth established a world's record here to-day when he pitched both games of a double-header against Richmond and was hit safely only once in the eighteen consecutive innings. He was not scored against, only gave three bases on balls—one in the first game and two in the second—and did not hit a batsman. Hedgepeth was sold to the Washington Americans several weeks ago. Ayres, who opposed Hedgepeth in the first encounter, also belongs to Washington. He had won thirteen consecutive games for Richmond up to to-day's defeat.

Motor Cycle Race Postponed.

The seventy-five-mile team race scheduled for last night at the Brighton Beach Motordrome was postponed owing to unfavorable weather, and will be staged to-night. The teams that will race are as follows: Chapple and Grapperon, Davis and St. Yves, Cox and Ohne, Costello and Mercier, Veditz and Kessler, Sayer and Sperl, and Hagan and Cronin. Ladies will be admitted free.

Nine Golfers Rated at 6.

Nine more players have been made eligible to compete in the National amateur championship tournament over the links of the Garden City Golf Club on Sept. 16. The following players have been given a rating of six in the handicap list of the United States Golf Association: E. H. Giles, Butler C. C.; C. C. Ingraham, Midlothian C. C.; R. S. Kampmann, San Antonio C. C.; S. C. Mabon, Nassau C. C.; E. F. Mayberry, Charleston C. C.; H. L. Nichol, Midland C. C.; W. N. Read, Country Club of Augusta; O. P. Thompson, Alleghany C. C., and A. C. Ulmer, Florida C. C. The United States Golf Association also issued a warning last night to the effect that the entries for the National amateur championship will close on Monday evening, Aug. 25, at 6 o'clock, and that there will be no entries accepted after that time. Competitors must be entered through the secretaries of their respective clubs, and the application, together with a fee of $5, sent to the secretary, John Reid, Jr., 50 East Forty-fifth Street, New York.

OLD ROSEBUD WINS HOTEL STAKE RACE

Western Champion Two-Year-Old Again Shows Fine Quality at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Old Rosebud, the champion two-year-old of the West, won his second Saratoga Association stake this afternoon when he galloped off with the United States Hotel prize, worth $2,355. His only other start of the meeting was the opening day, when he captured the Flash Stakes. His victory to-day was even more impressive than his performance in the Flash, and had not Harry Payne Whitney's Pennant been shown yesterday, this wonderfully fast son of Uncle and Ivory Bells would be hailed as a real champion. The title, however, will not be settled until after the two meet, which will probably be in the Hopeful Stakes to be run Saturday.

The sport was in a measure marred by a disqualification. It followed the running of the fifth race, in which F. Mannix's Superintendent handily disposed of his company. After the finish, Jockey Wolfe, who had the mount on Richard T. Wilson's Northerner, which finished second, lodged a claim of foul that was allowed, and his mount was awarded the race. Northerner was the chief offender in the stretch run, and when he bore over to the inner rail behind Superintendent, he seriously interfered with those that raced inside. The Stewards did not take this view of it, and Superintendent was charged with the offense, while the real offender was awarded the purse.

In the running of the steeplechase, which was taken by L. L. Tompkin's Juverence after a spirited drive, Delirium broke down so badly that it is possible he will be permanently retired. He is in the Green Tree stable of Mrs. Payne Whitney, and raced with much success on both sides of the Atlantic for H. P. Whitney, his breeder and previous owner.

Frederick Johnson's Light o' My Life and Jefferson Livingston's Princess Callaway furnished the best finish of the day when they fought it out in the mile handicap, the Johnson 4-year-old winning by a narrow margin after a remarkably game finish.

William Garth, who holds the contract on Jockey James Butwell, has become so dissatisfied with the boy's riding that he has set him down. The decision was finally reached after Butwell had been guilty of a particularly bad looking ride on Executor to-day. When he was threatened with the punishment, Butwell told his employer that he did not have the power to set him down, and that he could take as many outside mounts as he chose. The whole matter has been referred to the Stewards for a decision, which will probably come out of the meeting to-morrow when Jockey Wilson and the others connected with the stopping of Working Lad at Belmont Park are to be investigated.

The Stewards to-day suspended Jockey Steele for six days for his ride on Superintendent, the horse that was disqualified in the fifth race, while Starter Cassidy set Jockey Musgrave down for five days for his misbehavior at the post. The summaries:

New York Veteran Cricketers Lose.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 13.—A two-days' cricket match between the Bermuda Garrison team and the New York Veterans ended to-day in the defeat of the visitors by a score of 294 to 287. In yesterday's play the Veterans made 143 runs and in their second innings to-day gathered 144 for nine wickets. Rain stopped the match during the time at bat of the garrison team yesterday, when the soldiers had made 141 runs for three wickets. At the resumption of play to-day the locals made 153 runs, and thereby won the game in their first innings. The Veterans will play to-morrow and Friday against the team of the Hamilton Cricket Club.

Giants in Double-Header To-day.

The baseball game between the Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals at the Polo Grounds yesterday was stopped by rain, just as Rube Marquard had commenced to pitch, in the first inning. The players waited half an hour for the rain to cease, and then Umpire Bill Brennan called the game off. A double-header will be played to-day, with the first game at 1:30 o'clock.

FAST POLO AT PIER.

Second Leg for Atlantic Cups Engages Six Teams.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 13.—Three games of polo were played to-day in the second leg for the Atlantic Cups, in which thrill after thrill made it the most interesting afternoon of the tournament at the Point Judith Polo Club.

Great Neck lined up against the Leopards on No. 1 field and allowed the Leopards four 2 goals handicap. However, there were very few moments in which the Leopards were not playing the aggressive. Although the game between the Philadelphia Country Club and Freebooters was quite one-sided, and kept Referee Fishe busy calling fouls against the Philadelphia four, it was exciting for its mad gallops and rough scrimmages.

The game in which the two foremost lady players of America participated took place in the morning, and the skill with the mallet by Miss Marion Hollins and Miss Emily Randolph was amazing, Miss Hollins having a shade the better stroke of the two. Both teams are composed of the youngest players in America. The Preece children showed many promising drives and rode well, but their side lost the game by making a safety. The line-up:

Gershel Equals Billiard Record.

Maurice Daly's Billiard Academy, Forty-ninth Street and Broadway, was the scene last night of one of the fastest and most interesting three-cushion-carrom billiard games ever witnessed in a local academy. It was an exhibition match of partners, William Gershel, who last season gained considerable repute as a balk-line cueist, teaming up with A. Lowenthal against Isaac Polser and John W. Cooke. Gershel displayed remarkable form from the beginning, and with a run of fifteen points in the tenth inning, won the game for his side. Polser and Cooke made a score of 18 to 25 for Gershel and Lowenthal. Gershel's run of fifteen points equals the world's record, which is held by George Moore, the professional player, who tallied fifteen in a match for the championship with John Daly two years ago at Doyle's Academy.

CLOTHIER DEFEATS JOHNSTON AT NET

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 13.—William M. Johnston, the phenomenal California schoolboy tennis player, was put out of the running to-day in the men's invitation tennis tournament of the Meadow Club, when William J. Clothier of Philadelphia, the former national champion, defeated him in a hard three-set match by the score of 4—6, 7—5, 8—6. It was Johnston's first defeat since his Eastern invasion, and the result eliminated the first of the four famous Western players who are entered in the tournament.

Clothier's victory was due to his steadiness at critical stages, and Johnston's failure to take advantage of openings when the result hung in the balance. One remarkable feature of the match was the fact that nearly all the games were won on the opponent's service. The Philadelphian played well back in the court, and found little difficulty in returning his opponent's speedy service. His unusually long reach enabled him to play a number of shots which under other conditions would have passed him. His placement shots were splendid, and he won a number of points through his ability to outmanoeuvre the Californian.

Johnston played a magnificent game, but lacked the experience and steadiness of Clothier. He double faulted frequently, and in attempting criss-cross court shots repeatedly played into the net. In the last set it was an open question as to which of the pair would triumph, but the former champion rallied and after a series of brilliant shots forced the Californian to his first defeat.

A remarkable reversal of form was witnessed in the match between Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia and Gustave F. Touchard of New York. Johnson, who had been playing in splendid form, lost the first set, 6—3, but settled down and ran away with the second, 6—0. Following this the Quaker added five more games in the third set before Touchard could make any headway. The capture of eleven straight games made Johnson careless, and Touchard began to creep up, and before the Quaker realized it the New Yorker was on even terms with him. Touchard by this time had struck his gait, and the match was carried to 11—9 before the Philadelphian was vanquished.

William A. Larned and William J. Clothier were paired in the doubles against D. Buffem and C. J. North, and won in straight sets. The other ranking players in the doubles came through with no upsets. The summary:

Meadow Club Men's Singles.—Second Round—J. S. Strachan defeated William McKim, 6—1, 6—3; C. G. Griffin defeated F. M. Watrous, 6—2, 6—3.

Third Round—Karl H. Behr defeated William M. Washburn, 4—6, 6—2, 6—2; Frederick G. Inman defeated George M. Church, 6—3, 6—4; Gustave F. Touchard defeated Wallace F. Johnson, 6—3, 0—6, 11—9; William J. Clothier defeated Robert Leroy, 6—0, 6—4; H. A. Plummer defeated S. Wainwright, 6—1, 6—2.

Fourth Round—William J. Clothier defeated William M. Johnston, 4—6, 7—5, 8—6.

Meadow Club Men's Doubles.—First Round—Wendell P. Kuhn and A. M. Kidder defeated A. E. Kennedy and William McKim, 6—2, 6—4; R. Babcock and Trevor defeated Robert Leroy and C. Brown, 2—6, 6—2, 6—0; C. F. Watson, Jr., and Gustave F. Touchard defeated Allan Tobey and Leonard Beekman, 8—6, 6—3, 10—8; F. T. Freylinghuysen and Eric Winston defeated G. L. Livingston and Geary, 6—3, 6—0; F. M. Watrous and S. Wainwright defeated H. Rea and J. Orr, 6—0, 6—4; A. S. Dabney and George M. Church defeated L. G. Morris and L. Dupont Irving, 6—1, 6—1; Dr. Ewing Taylor and F. W. Paul defeated Bouvier and Ropp, 6—2, 6—2; Richard Harte and G. C. Caner defeated T. G. Thomas and Sproul, 6—2, 6—1; J. L. Lee and J. G. K. Lawrence defeated G. R. Payne and A. Temple, 7—9, 6—3, 6—2; T. C. Bundy and William M. Johnston defeated Nixon and Bouvier, by default; William A. Larned and William J. Clothier defeated D. Buffem and C. J. North, 6—3, 6—2.

Second Round—Karl H. Behr and H. A. Plummer defeated Wendell P. Kuhn and A. M. Kidder, 6—4, 12—10; T. C. Bundy and William M. Johnston defeated J. Larkin and H. Nickerson, 6—3, 6—4.

"POP" GEERS'S STAKE.

Lands Reusens First in M. and M. Classic at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 13.—"Pop" Geers won his sixth M. and M. to-day, when, after five hard-fought heats, he landed Reusens victor in the classic $10,000 stake. Tenara, the Kentucky mare, winner this year of three big stakes, could not withstand the terrific rushes of Geers's gelding, and, having taken first place in two heats, was unable thereafter to do better than second.

Cabel won the 2:10 pace and Flower Direct the 2:05 pace, both in straight heats, while Dr. Burns, Jr., captured the 2:08 pace after dropping the first heat. The summaries:

McDERMOTT'S GOLF BEST.

John J. McDermott of Atlantic City, the national open golf champion, who recently added to his list of achievements the winning of the Philadelphia open title, yesterday led the field in the first day's play of the metropolitan open championship over the Salisbury links at Garden City. McDermott went around twice in 71 for a total of 142, leading Jack Hobens of Englewood, the 1908 title holder, by two strokes. Hobens had two seventy-twos. Thomas L. McNamara of Boston, the champion, had to be content with 74 and 75 for 149, which was fifth on the list. Alec Smith of Wykagyl, former national and metropolitan champion, was third with 75, 71—146, while a newcomer, Elmer W. Loving of Arcola, finished a stroke better than McNamara.

There was a record field of fifty-eight starters out of sixty entries, which was taken as an indication that the outpouring of the professionals was in a measure due to the desire to be prepared against the visit of the foreign element later this month. As a rule the quality of the golf was high, though some of those who returned cards had not appeared in competition for several years.

Oswald Kirkby of Englewood, former New Jersey champion, led the amateur contingent. Jerome D. Travers did not enter. Kirkby's scores were two seventy-sixes for a total of 152, while Fred Herreshoff, the Oakland winner, could get no better than 81 and 83. An indifferent first round of 85 spoiled the chances of J. Devereux Lord, the Forest Park amateur, but he improved nine strokes on his second attempt. The scores:

THE IMPEACHMENT.

In its proceedings against Gov. SULZER the Assembly has drawn up articles of impeachment upon the plan of an indictment, presenting under the general charge of willful and corrupt misconduct specifications of many kinds of misdoing. Upon some of these specifications no great emphasis will be placed during the trial before the Senate. Cause for impeachment and for conviction would be found in proof of acts showing such a defect of private honor as to constitute unfitness for public office. The attempts to define grounds of impeachment which were made in our earlier Constitutions have disappeared from the present instrument.

The charge set forth in Articles 1 and 2 that Mr. SULZER swore to and filed a false statement of the contributions made toward the expenses of his campaign, omitting therefrom many checks and gifts to a total of thousands of dollars, presents in itself a valid ground for the proceedings now begun. The charge set forth in Article 4 that Mr. SULZER diverted to his personal use large sums of money received as campaign contributions is one the proof of which would necessarily have great weight with the tribunal before which the trial is to be had. Proper enough for inclusion among the grounds of impeachment are the charges that Gov. SULZER has influenced witnesses summoned by the Legislative Committee either to withhold their testimony or to flee the jurisdiction, and that he has improperly used his Executive authority and influence to control the action of members of the Legislature. Being in their nature not so readily susceptible of proof convincing to the minds of impartial judges, these specifications will naturally have less public attention than those relating to the acknowledgment and the use made of campaign funds. The testimony taken before the Frawley Committee gives a pretty clear idea of the evidence to be presented.

The proceeding has given rise to some strange suggestions of resistance to the process on the part of the Governor. It seems incredible that any person trained in the law should advise Mr. SULZER that, not being a judicial officer, he may under the terms of Article VI., Section 13, of the Constitution continue to exercise the powers of his office after the filing of the articles of impeachment. The controlling provision of the Constitution is Article IV., Section 6, which was quoted in these columns yesterday morning. There can be no possible doubt of its meaning, no room for question that upon the filing of the articles of impeachment in the Senate yesterday, the powers and the duties of the office of Governor devolved upon Lieut. Gov. GLYNN, who under the language of that section will continue to exercise them for the residue of Mr. SULZER's term, or until Mr. SULZER's "disability shall cease," as it would cease should he be acquitted. Resistance to the due operation of the organic law would stamp Mr. SULZER as a person reckless of the consequences of his acts, and it would be futile. A suggestion has been made, too, that an injunction would be asked for to restrain the Legislature from proceeding with the impeachment trial, or that the case would be carried to the "Supreme Court of the United States." These strange ideas will be dismissed when those who advance them come to understand a little better the nature of the authority which the legislative department of the State is now engaged in exercising.

A touch of pathos has been lent to these unpleasant proceedings by published reports of an attempt made by a member of the Governor's family to assume the blame for some part of the misconduct charged against him. In a better cause such an act of wifely devotion would be acclaimed as heroic. But the responsibility cannot be transferred from the Governor, the charges involve him, and in the main him alone, and nothing but positive disproof can bring exculpation. It is futile, too, to seek to palliate his offending by the parrot-like repetition of the perfectly well-known truth that the motives of his accusers are not above suspicion, and that they are no better than he is. No cause, however good, could do much to sweeten the reputation of the Tammany contingent in the New York Legislature. But that does not help the Governor's case. For his exculpation it is not enough to show that Tammany would have let him go unwhipped if he had consented to bend the knee. It is against him as Governor that these charges of willful and corrupt misconduct, of high crimes and misdemeanors, are brought, and nothing but disproof will satisfy the tribunal or the public. Statements and proclamations and lawyers' devices for evasion will avail him nothing. He must stand his trial and abide by its result.

ONE O'CLOCK CLOSING.

The so-called "curfew" law, which occasioned early yesterday morning the forcible ejection of men and women patrons of a restaurant on Columbus Avenue by a band of strong-arm men under Inspector DWYER, relates solely to the "room or rooms, where "any liquors are sold or kept for "sale, during the hours when sale of "liquors is forbidden." The Inspector and his fifty policemen found the bar of this restaurant closed and padlocked. Yet they wrecked the place and outraged the men and women guests. Mayor GAYNOR, who is a stickler for the enforcement of law according to its terms, and a champion of the individual rights of the people, can hardly fail to call the attention of Commissioner WALDO to this act of police folly and impudence.

This is one of the world's great cities. It possesses a diverse population with interests that keep some or other of its classes up and stirring daily during every hour of the twenty-four. The 1 o'clock closing order as applied to restaurants and eating places was uncalled for, arbitrary, and unsanctioned by public sentiment. In small country towns, the hour of 1 in the morning may be regarded as unseasonable for decent folk to be about, but hardly in this city, where reasonable opportunities to seek refreshment and refection, even entertainment, should be had without question. Mayor GAYNOR has often had occasion to speak of police oppression of individuals, he can hardly characterize Inspector DWYER's act in too scathing terms. DWYER and his men should be proceeded against in the courts.

Outrageous as was their proceeding, the hypocrisy of the enforcement of the 1 o'clock closing policy, as applied to restaurants, is more glaring. Everywhere throughout this city liquor saloons may be found open after the legal closing hour and plying their business without interference.

LOANS BETWEEN BANKS.

The Controller's call for information regarding loans by banks and to banks is reported to be designed to enable the Treasury to discriminate between banks "which borrow or loan money for speculative purposes" and those other banks which "earnestly strive to meet the currency "demands of the agricultural sections." It is not fair to hold the Treasury responsible for the motives attributed to it, and it would be slighting to the Treasury's intelligence to assume that it had never heard of speculation in agricultural products. There are corners in products of the soil as notoriously as in the products of Wall Street. Even if that idea is novel it is necessary to assume that the Treasury knows of the legislation pending in Congress to prevent the mixing of the two speculations. Farmers and planters have no fancy for speculation in their products in the Wall Street manner, that is, speculation for the fall or for the rise indiscriminately. Farmers and planters think that speculation for the rise is highly moral, and that speculation for the fall is as base in agricultural products as it would be in Government 2 per cents.

There is no novelty about loans between banks. Some Clearing Houses have a standing quotation for loans at the Clearing House, where only banks are either borrowers or lenders. Every response to the Controller's calls contains totals of loans by and to banks. The present call is novel only in its requirement of details. Nothing can be based upon any single report of that character. There must be a series of reports before it can be established which banks are chronic or excessive borrowers. It is well that the subject should be studied, however, since rediscounts are to be the cornerstone of the new banking system, and it is well to appreciate that it is a novelty only in name. The maximum of bank borrowings or rediscounts was $175,000,000 in 1907. It is nothing unusual to find this item in the Controller's reports varying by scores of millions. In November, 1912, the rediscounts were $71,000,000, and in February, 1913, they were $51,000,000, which is about an average. The lowest total since 1907 was $24,000,000 in 1909. The present total is thought to be running above the average.

Undoubtedly such operations may have undesirable features, such as an exchange of certificates of deposit or unsecured promissory notes for advances, or conditional sales of securities. But such loans between banks are abuses of the rediscount facility and ought not to cast undeserved discredit upon regular operations. If rediscounts were regularized banks would be less reluctant to appear as borrowers, and would not seek to make their reports in forms concealing the fact. Rediscounts lack respectability in our banking business, because there is no American discount market, a fact to be regretted, as all banking reformers agree. It arises from the fact that American customers do not like to have their paper floating about in strangers' hands. But payment of commercial paper at its date is something to be encouraged, and it is no harder to pay one man than another. When a promissory note becomes a mortgage and the bank carries the loan because unable to take over and liquidate the collateral, the seeds of trouble are sown. It is true that the national banking law does not favor rediscounts and that they are authorized only by indirect construction of the law. Nevertheless it is an indispensable function, as may be realized by recalling the situation after the California earthquake or the Dayton disaster. The banks' business was adjusted to normal conditions, and unless they were able to rediscount their receivables they would not be in condition to assist their needy and deserving customers. There is no essential reproach in loans between banks. They often are highly creditable to both borrower and lender. If the transaction is objectionable it is for reasons apart from the quality of the operation itself. There is no essential or necessary connection between rediscounts and speculation, although banks which have entangled themselves in their consumers' business may find it necessary to relieve themselves when their loans are for the purpose of carrying warehouse receipts, instead of marketing products.

TAXICAB PROFITS.

Testimony damaging to those instituting the taxicab injunction suits was printed in THE TIMES yesterday in the interview with Secretary ARMAND of the Independent Taxicab Owners' Association. Secretary ARMAND has found it profitable for himself and for the 140 members of his association, who own from one to three vehicles each, to operate under the legal 30-cent rate. He supplied full details of his business. His own machine, which cost him $980, makes, at the lowest reckoning, a profit of $1,550 yearly. In strong contrast with Mr. ARMAND's testimony is that of a large taxicab company, which is resisting the ordinance intended to abolish private cab stands and to cheapen taxicab rates. This company, while asserting it earned no profits last year under the prevailing high rates charged, and that the ordinance will operate to confiscate its property, declines to enter into details as to various matters of cost and upkeep, because this would be "giving away "business secrets of which rivals "might take advantage." Business secrets of what—its methods of achieving losses?

"Lower the rates and you will have "such a rush of new business that "you will make money if you don't "make it now," Assistant Corporation Counsel FARLEY advised in defending the injunction suits brought by the taxicab owners against the city. The independent taxicab men are making money now, they had made money for a year prior to the enactment of the ordinance. It is absurd that passengers should be mulcted 50 cents for the first half mile driven when taxicabs are making over 50 per cent. profits at the 30-cent rate. But the injunctions obtained by the companies can hardly be made permanent without the production in court of actual facts and figures on which a decision may be based.

SWORD RATTLING.

The phrase attributed to the German Emperor, "I don't like Austria to rattle my sword," may be the invention of MAXIMILIAN HARDEN or some other audacious journalist, but it hits the present situation and throws light on some of the events of the last ten months. In a way Austria has been allowed and encouraged to rattle the sword of Germany ever since the Balkan war began, and even before when she annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina. How true this is and what effect it has had on the course of events can be seen by trying to imagine what would have been the result had Austria been allowed to rattle her own sword only. She would either have been laughed out of the futile operation or she would have involved herself in very perilous complications.

When Austria deliberately tore up the Treaty of Berlin of 1878 and defied Russia to protect her rights under that treaty, Germany massed troops on the eastern frontier and forced Russia to submit. It was this insolent departure from the avowed principles of the European Concert, with its demonstration of Turkey's helpless isolation, that, more than anything else, encouraged the Balkan States to undertake their attack on Turkey. When this attack proved so amazingly successful that the actual banishment of Turkey from Europe was threatened, with the complete possession of all her European provinces by the allies, Austria menaced Servia and attained the exemption of Albania from the rule of the allies. And in the latest phase of the situation, when Bulgaria undertook to seize territory won by Servian arms, the diplomatic aid of Austria was on the side of the aggressor. From the first to the last of these proceedings the German Government, whatever private influence it may have used with its pet ally, openly backed Austria. Whenever the peace of Europe seemed menaced—and it was frequently menaced—it was by the conduct of Austria, and always the question asked anxiously in the Chancelleries was, What will Germany do? There was sword rattling, plainly enough, that disturbed opinion in all the capitals. The doubt that perturbed all observers was whether it was the sword of Germany, and Germany would not deny it.

It is to be conceded, of course, that Germany did prevent the war which her favorite ally kept hanging over Europe. Emperor WILLIAM, it was plain, did not wish war, and the world owes him a great debt for the masterly manner in which he prevented it. But it is to be noted also that he made use of the obvious risk of war, a risk largely due to the conduct of Austria, to accomplish a very large increase in the military force of his empire and to confirm the superiority of that force against all comers. It would not be fair, with the evidence at hand, to say that he kept Europe racked by the thought of this risk for nearly a year in order to achieve this object. But Europe was racked, the object was achieved.

Perhaps it is because the object has been achieved that the German Government now feels more inclined openly to deal with the bellicosity of Austria, and it comes easy to attribute to the Kaiser the tart remark about rattling his sword. His sword obviously is more to be dreaded than it was a year ago, and his jealousy as to the use that may be made of it may have become deeper. The situation, as it now presents itself, is intensely interesting. The avowed, the somewhat boastful, fashion in which Germany "in shining armor" has stood by Austria has been the most striking and perhaps the most significant fact of the history of the past year. Now not only is Germany objecting to meddling with the Bucharest Treaty, as Austria wishes to do, but she is marking her emphatic approval of the treaty by decorating the Rumanian Premier, assuring the King of Rumania that he has made "a definite peace," and appointing King CONSTANTINE of Greece a Field Marshal in the German Army, perhaps because he did not "stay at home and comb his dogs," as it was intimated that FERDINAND of Bulgaria did.

And we have the unexpected spectacle of Vienna growling at Berlin and the Russian press scolding France because she shows no disposition to join Russia in favor of Austria and against Germany. The field of European politics, in which up to last week were arrayed the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente over against each other, seems to have been turned into a kaleidoscope, with all the elements changing places in bewildering fashion. And it appears to be the peace-loving, peace-enforcing WILLIAM II. of Germany who has set them dancing.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The Dragon of China. Despite the steadfastness with which the Oriental mind has clung to ancient tradition and custom, the Chinese revolutionists have resolved to erase from their flag the symbol of the five-clawed dragon. From time immemorial this has been the peculiar and universal emblem of their Emperors. Its design was extensively used by the native Ming and other dynasties, as well as by the present Ching dynasty, and it has become symbolical of the Emperor. His person was called "the dragon's person," his countenance "the dragon's face," his eye "the dragon's eye." The discarding of the dragon means, according to Mr. CHURCHILL RIPLEY, who contributes an article to the current number of The Open Court, that the revolutionists are determined to wipe out every vestige of imperial power, and "to create a new China by subduing the 'dragon force,' or imperialism itself."

But while the revolutionists may find it easy to remove the dragon symbol from their flag, they will not find it so easy to erase it from the minds and hearts of the people. The Chinese peasants believe most implicitly in the existence of this mysterious and omnipotent creature; it appears in their ancient history and religion, the legends of Buddhism are filled with its doings, the tales of the countryside recount its terrific appearances and its tremendous powers, and its portrait serves as a universal ornament in the arts and industries. The revolutionists may do harm to their cause by attacking this emblem.

Baseball and Its Vocabulary. How shall baseball be reported? A Chicago newspaper has started the controversy and a howl has gone up, not from the "fans" proper, but from the university professors, who clamor for "the lingo" and cry down "the straightaway stuff"—"who prefer the vernacular to a clean, plain English report." Mr. CHARLES A. COMISKEY is all against the vernacular which obscures facts and wearies the reader, who wants to know merely who won the game and how it was done. For this, declares Mr. COMISKEY, plain prose English, such as MILTON or MACAULAY might have used, suffices.

But it doesn't. Every sport has its own peculiar vocabulary, but there is none among them which boasts the rich, crackling, onomatopoetic morsels that the describers of diamond doings have evolved. Baseball slang was developed for descriptive purposes, for the one supreme end of placing action in words before a very conglomerate lot of readers. And it does it. In the hands of the expert, the baseball "write-up" depicts the game with a vividness which leaves plain English out of the running. The university professors know this better than Mr. COMISKEY; teachers of the art of writing, many of them, they realize the power of this vernacular to reproduce "atmosphere," to make both the office boy and his employer fancy for the moment that they really had taken that Saturday afternoon off to see the game.

The whole point is, however, that the description be in the hands of a master. There are baseball reports which show a nicety of diction, a fitting of sound to sense, of adjective to action, which might well make FLAUBERT turn with envy in his grave. On the other hand, there is work of the bungler and the flimsy imitator, whose helter-skelter chatter it is which has probably called forth the harsh verdict of Mr. COMISKEY. A pure slang law is out of the question, but we hope a noble art can survive the need of it.

Woman Physicians Not Increasing. The status of the woman physician was discussed at the final session of the International Congress of Medicine, held in London, and attention called to the superior opportunities for women in the medical profession of America. One fact, however, has evidently escaped our colleagues of London and Berlin, that with the increase of these opportunities in the past twenty years the number of women attracted to the profession remains relatively the same. There are no statistical data which show the actual number of women practitioners in the United States; conclusions must be drawn from the census of the medical schools and the proportion of students, greater in the case of women than of men, who fall by the wayside after graduation, discounted from the number. These figures show, if anything, a slight decrease within the past ten years in the number of women studying medicine, a fact which is hardly to be reconciled with the opportunities afforded them for study at any of the medical institutions of the country on an equal footing with men students, and with such influences as the increased attention to children's diseases.

On the other hand, taking up at random a report of the recent proceedings of the Royal Society of London, we note a woman physician's name prominent in the table of contents. Reflecting likewise at random, we can think of no woman physician in this country as noteworthy, for instance, as Dr. MARIA MONTESSORI, better known with us as an educator, but first recognized in her own country as an able psychiatrist. On the whole, the existence of unrestricted opportunity for the woman physician in the United States signifies very little.

ABOLISH SING SING

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Prison Association of New York favors most earnestly the abandonment of Sing Sing Prison and the construction of a farm and industrial prison upon an adequate acreage at the earliest possible moment. To this end we urge the passage of the bill now before the Legislature providing for an appropriation of $125,000 for the purchase of a site and $500,000 toward the construction of such a prison.

It is entirely unnecessary to repeat to you how thoroughly inadequate and unjust the physical conditions of Sing Sing are. As an example of a modern prison Great Meadow Prison in this State can be cited, which shows what the State can do to provide reasonable physical conditions for its prisoners.

The Great Meadow Prison has also demonstrated the remarkable possibilities inherent in the honor system of treating prisoners, and the splendid physical and mental results of proper outdoor employment of prisoners.

Napanoch Reformatory has demonstrated that practically an entire prison can be built by prison labor. We believe that the new prison should be economically constructed and that a large portion of the work can be done by inmate labor.

THE NIPPUR TABLET.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The newly translated Nippur tablet may prove to be of great chronological interest. It dates back to 2500 B. C., but "no later than Hamurabi, about 2100 B. C." A date within thirty-six years of this, viz., 2064 B. C., (or its equivalent,) is fixed by Erastosthenes for the birth of Venus, Mother of Gods. (Massey, BB., ii., 277.) The Greek chronologer evidently got this legend from Babylon, whose Nintura and the Paphian Venus were the same. Eusebius fixes the same date for the appearance of Bel-Esus (Chron. i., 12.) Andrew Laing credits the same date to Nara-Sin, son of Sharrukin, whom the Brahmins recognize as Varruguin, the third appearance of Vishnu. As Nara-Sin was overthrown by Hamurabi, a historical character, the date assumes the character of a reality.

Assyriologists assign the same date to Sargon I., son of Ishtar, who is represented in the Nippur tablet as a contemporary of Nintura; perhaps as the same Great Mother by another name. The Chaldean legend of a female Creator was also current in Egypt, where she was called Thoueris. The date of the Nippur tablet also synchronizes with the "epoch year" of Phamenoth. (Schmidt's "Chronology of Egypt," 307.) The same date is traceable from Egypt back to India, where it stood for one of the nirvanas of Buddha. ("Worship of Augustus Caesar," 52.) As most of the ancient chronological systems spring from this date, backward or forward, by ecliptical cycles of 658 years, the connection of the Nippur tablet with the reign of Hamurabi, if it can be traced with assurance, would prove to be of considerable importance.

Though themselves fabulous and unreal, ancient myths have sometimes proved to be the only gates through which a view has been obtained of the obscure origins of civilization. GEORGE M. JOHNSTONE.

GRADE CROSSING SIGNALS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The multiplicity of terrible accidents that happen to motor parties at railroad grade crossings has called forth many suggestions for making crossings safer, but I have not yet seen any writer suggest the simple device of having a red electric light for night and a semaphore of special shape or color for daylight. These warnings could be suspended over the tracks in full view of motorists, and could be operated automatically, as the present country crossing bells are; that is to say, by the train itself closing an electric circuit as soon as it enters upon a certain section of the track at some sufficient distance from the crossing.

At night no overhead red light showing would mean safety; the red light showing would mean a train approaching (or receding) within, say, 400 yards of the crossing. In the daytime the semaphore at horizontal could stand for safety; down for danger. These rules would soon become known to motorists all over the country. The small cost of installation of such warnings would be nothing compared to the cost of either bridging or tunneling the crossings for safety or altering the contour of the road.

Injuries Caused by Street Games.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Can nothing be done to stop ball playing in our streets? The writer was passing through the block in which she lives and a parcel was knocked out of her hand by a ball. Sitting at the window a few days ago, I saw a lady stop and apply a handkerchief to her bleeding nose, which had been struck by a ball. Even full games of baseball are played, not only on the avenues in this neighborhood but on the narrow streets. The streets have become almost as dangerous as battlefields. OLD NEW YORKER.

FIGHTING MATERIALISM.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The dispatch from Paris to the effect that a society, at whose head are MM. Rostand, Maeterlinck, and Flammarion, has been formed to combat materialism is of more than ordinary interest. The cause which the society represents is one that is inherent in human nature.

Men who believe in idealism ought to unite in emphasizing many of the immaterial things of life. Why should their combined efforts be Quixotic? Churches and schools are, at least were, for the same purpose, and another organization would do no harm in spite of the imperfection of some of its charter members. Who is not against us is for us.

It may be the world is getting better, more intellectual and spiritual, as you assert, for the reason there are more good books read and a more extensive appreciation of the beautiful manifested than ever before. On the other hand, it is also getting worse. There is an increase in the number of undesirable books and a greater indulgence in things not refining. The more leisure now as compared with what people used to have is responsible for the increase on both hands, and constitutes one of the problems. To know how to spend one's vacant hours is as practical as to know how to earn one's bread.

Schools, until recently, were the citadel of idealism, but present-day pedagogues are capitulating to the advocates of the materialistic in education. Nowhere is this more evident than in the Summer schools for teachers. In many of them the best organized and most efficient efforts are those for material advancement. One hears more about bringing the pupil into harmony with his physical surroundings than with his spiritual environments, and the productivity of the soil seems to be of greater concern than that of the intellect. This materialistic movement is confined to no particular locality: it seems to be general. There could then be no better place for organizing a society to combat this tendency than Paris, which, after all that can be said to the contrary, is the world's great distributing centre for ideas. BEGINNERS IN FARMING.

Advised Not to Invest Too Much Capital at First.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While preparing my published letter I necessarily had in mind "XX," not a real farmer but a would-be farmer, a city man who would have time to gain little practical training or experience before beginning for himself. Such a man would be unwise to commence farming on the largest scale that he could finance, if he had large capital to draw upon. In general his chances of failure would not decrease with the largeness of the scale upon which he commenced, notwithstanding the economies practiced and that may be practiced while operating on a large scale. For example, he might fail because of being his own farm superintendent or because of error in selecting his superintendent of a large farming operation, combined with detailed causes, or because of other unfortunate circumstances existing or arising; and the larger the operation the larger the failure that is possible.

Therefore I would advise the beginner who can command large capital not only to prepare himself, by means of study and apprenticeship, but also to safeguard by moderate caution his large capital, if he has it, by not putting all of it into the venture at first. Indeed, if he can lease a good truck farm or large market garden for a period of years, with an option of purchase in the lease, at an agreed reasonable price, that will be an ideally cautious beginning. If thus successful soon he would make the farm largely pay for itself, as many have done wholly.

One of your readers asked my opinion as to the least capital advisable for a beginner in farming. My opinion is that it may reasonably be anything between $10,000 and $1,000, according to whether he buys at first or leases, the amount of land and equipments needed for the locality, the marketing requirements, the kinds of crop production, fruits, poultry, dairying, stock-raising profits in the locality, &c. Moscow Society Grateful.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Allow us, as the representatives of the Moscow Society for the Promotion of Technical Knowledge, to express through the medium of your newspaper our sincere gratitude to the American people in general, and particularly to those organizations which took care of our party during its stay in this country, for the unprecedented kindness and hospitality extended to the party.

We hope that our nation will be able in the near future to reciprocate this kindness and hospitality.

English Ivy Fails to Cling.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Can any of your readers explain why English ivy refuses to cling to the brick walls of my house erected a year ago? The ivy was planted last November on the north side of the house and is growing profusely, but its suckers, of which there are plenty, do not take hold of the brick. The walls are common Hackensack (N. J.) brick, with good rough surface, and when the house was completed they were washed with a solution of muriatic acid to remove the white scale from the brick. An American ivy planted on the west side seems to cling without difficulty. WEIYOH.

THE SUMMER FATHER.

Father stays right in town
Working all day in his office,
Pulling the money down.

It's up to him to stay
And struggle to meet expenses
While the fam'ly goes away.

Father is never gone;
He has to work for money
For the rest to play upon.

Everybody plays but father—
Day after day he plods
Hard at his task in the office
In town. But what's the odds?

Father, the poor old Dad,
Slaving and spending for something
That father never had.

Leisure to him is forbid;
Father can't play in the Summer,
The others could not if he did.

Everybody plays but father—
He has to stay in the jam
And slave for the pleasure-seekers,
But they never givadam.

Him for the wormwood and gall.
Everybody plays but father,
And he never plays at all.
What?
Oh, you Little Old New York!

COLORED APPOINTEES.

Negro Editor Questions Wilson Administration's Consistency.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

At this stage of my life I find the consistency of color prejudice as bewildering as were the relative values of x, y, and z some years ago when I first took up the study of algebra. I shall cite several reasons why I am becoming more befuddled on the subject: At Washington, D. C., the capital city of the United States, radical Southern Senators have insisted that the white and colored clerks in the departments be separated, maintaining that the working side by side of the races, a policy which has been followed for fifty years, is an evidence of "social equality." Only two weeks ago James C. Napier, a colored man, resigned as Register of the Treasury rather than enforce an order issued by the Treasury Department to segregate the negro clerks in his department. The radical Democratic Southerners, who seem to be in complete control of the Government, have issued the edict that during the present Administration "social equality" between the white and colored employes must cease. They are now advocating that the capital city of the United States be disgraced by "Jim Crow" cars.

President Wilson sent on Aug. 7 to the Senate for confirmation as United States Minister to Haiti the name of Madison R. Smith of Missouri, to succeed H. W. Furniss, a colored man. Mr. Furniss held the post under Presidents Roosevelt and Taft. He is a native of Indiana. For years the Government has followed the precedent of sending a colored man to represent the United States at Haiti, and it is understood that the black republic, knowing that color prejudice is rampant in this country, prefers a colored man to represent the United States at Port au Prince. Despite the rantings of Vardaman, Tillman, and Hoke Smith about "social equality" they insist on the appointment of a white man as United States Minister to Haiti. Of course they fully understand that one of the chief duties of our new Minister will be to fraternize with the black people of Haiti. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will not only be entertained around the festal board, but they will have to entertain the Haitians.

To Santo Domingo and other Southern countries where colored people are in control of the Government the Administration at Washington has found it advisable to send white men as diplomatic representatives, irrespective of its policy to do everything in its power to stamp out "social equality." A rumor is current that the radical Democrats are even in favor of sending a white man to Liberia as Minister. This little African Republic has never had a white United States Minister. It is said that among those who are applicants for the position are three Southern white men who, like Madison R. Smith, are willing to lay aside their color prejudice—at least temporarily.

President Wilson sent to the Senate two weeks ago the name of A. E. Patterson as Register of the Treasury, a negro Democrat of Oklahoma, who had been an enthusiastic and active Wilson man throughout the Wilson campaign. Several Southern Senators registered protests against the confirmation of Patterson, declaring that no colored man should ever be over the white clerks in the Register's office as long as they could prevent it. Patterson was persuaded to withdraw his name and an Indian from Oklahoma was appointed to succeed him. Maybe an Indian is not a colored man, but is white. To quote The Greensboro (N. C.) Daily News: "Substituting an Indian for a negro as Register of the Treasury might be called 'revising the job downward.'"

Each day I find myself having more profound respect and admiration for the author of the popular saying: "Consistency, thou art a jewel." For the older I grow and the more thought I give to the consistency of color prejudice the more truth and philosophy I find in this axiom.

A Barbarous Game.

There is a popular game going on in the so-called "Bowery" section of Coney Island which would not be tolerated by any civilized country in this world. The game is well known to any one who ever visited Coney Island. It is something of the character of an old-fashioned shooting gallery, with the difference that the target is a curly-haired negro's head and the bullets good and hard baseballs. Three balls are rented for 5 cents to any one who is desirous to hit the negro. His business is to amuse the public by trying to evade the hits, withdrawing his head whenever the balls may hit him. Will not some one get after the fellows who employ poor devils for paltry wages for the enjoyment of people who in their moral insanity patronize a game that every decent citizen condemns with disgust and horror?

GOODHUE TO WORK ALONE.

Architect Will Withdraw from Firm Formed Twenty Years Ago.

Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson of New York and Boston, the architects, well-known for their work at West Point and for numerous cathedrals, churches and public libraries in the United States, are to dissolve a partnership that has existed for twenty years. For a long time there have been rumors of a lack of harmony among the members of the firm, and yesterday afternoon Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue confirmed the report that dissolution was imminent. He said:

"I believe it is impossible to get up any sentiment for a design not made by an individual. I do not think two personalities can appear successfully in one design."

Mr. Goodhue said that two personalities had long been traceable in the work of the firm. Architects, he said, could distinguish between these, even when they worked together. He instanced the case of St. Thomas's Church, for which Mr. Cram made the plan and for which Mr. Goodhue made the elevation and ornaments. Mr. Cram's tendency, he said, has been toward the earlier and sterner forms, while he preferred the later developments and the tendency toward the maximum amount of light. With the exception of the work on St. Thomas's Church and the United States Military Academy at West Point, for years the business association between the three partners has been dwindling until it has become merely a question of dividing the profits.

Mr. Goodhue expressed great admiration for the work of the partner whom he is leaving, and mentioned Calvary Church, Pittsburgh, which Mr. Cram designed, as "the finest spired tower in America."

He has been in charge of the New York office, and Mr. Cram of the Boston office.

Mr. Goodhue will retain the New York offices of the disbanded firm, and devote much of his time to work on the new Baltimore cathedral. Mr. Cram and Mr. Ferguson are in Boston at the present time, and it is probable that they will keep an office in that city after the dissolution.

MUSEUM HAS NEW SCULPTURES ON VIEW

The Metropolitan Museum places on exhibition this month a number of interesting sculptures recently acquired. One of the most important is a thirteenth century marble relief from the ancient Spanish monastery of Poblet. This bas-relief represents a chevalier, and appears to have come from the side or end of a tomb, where it was placed in memory of some personage of high rank. The artistic value of the work is very considerable. The knight is well poised on his spirited horse, with the ease of bearing of one trained to the saddle, and although the proportions are grotesque, the knight being more or less a dwarf and the horse more or less a monster, the energy of the composition overbalances technical defects. The marble appears to have been painted in bright colors, and traces of red and green remain. To the student of armor this bas-relief is especially interesting, showing, as it does, in detail, the trappings of the horse and the suit of mail typical of Spanish armor in the thirteenth century.

The curb bit is merciless, as a writer in The Bulletin notes, and it "speaks clearly of a time when a rider expected instant obedience; he had other things to do than struggle with his horse; his hands must be largely free for the use of buckler and sword." The modeling of the rider's surcoat shows clearly that a heavily padded garment was worn under the coat of mail, and on the extended arm is a typically Spanish buckler.

Other sculptures in the present exhibition are those purchased in 1912 for the classical department, two of which already have been shown and noticed. One of the eight remaining pieces is a gravestone of the fourth century B. C., in the form of a vase with relief decoration, a charming scene, showing a man and woman clasping hands, and a seated woman holding out a bird to a little girl.

It is assumed that the monument was in memory of a woman who is thus shown in two aspects, in her relation to her husband, to whom she is quickly bidding farewell, and in her relation to her child, with whom she is playing as she might have been any day during her life. The feeling throughout is characterized by classic reticence and suppression of emotion.

There is also a head of an old woman allied in style to the statue of the old market woman acquired by the museum in 1909, and there is a naturalistic head of a baby belonging to the Roman period.

Among the terra cottas are two vigorous mural reliefs of the Roman period, four reliefs from the Canosa vases of the Hellenistic period, and a statuette of the Tanagra type showing a graceful lady in unconventional attitude arranging her hair with the aid of a mirror perilously balanced on her left knee. There is purple on chiffon and mantle and blue on the face of the mirror which is of a kind common during the fourth century B. C.

The celebrated raven recently acquired in Paris at the sale of Dr. Edouard Mene, the well-known collector of Japanese ironwork, was on view last month, and remains in the Recent Accessions Room. The lifelike character of this bird, which was the capital piece of the collection from which it came, makes an extraordinary impression. The pose is motionless. An article in the bulletin discribes him with the zest he inspires in right-minded critics:

"'Tis a thieving raven that is pictured, but one with a twinge of conscience, alert on his spread legs, his wings with just a degree of readiness about them; a raven that hesitates to make a sound, but has his beak slightly opened as though he feels it his duty to say something. But he still remains undecided in spite of the intense thought which causes him to cock his head sidewise."

The author adds that when he was exhibited at the Hotel Dronot at the time of the sale visitors would come up, glance at him hastily, then settle to quiet examination, and finally circle about him for the perfect point of view, their remarks showing their appreciation of the artist's idea.

The raven is an okimono or ornament for the ceremonial niche in a Japanese room, and is signed by Myochin Munesuké.

The Bulletin also records valuable gifts of lace received from Mrs. Edward S. Harkness, Mrs. Harlette Goelet, Mrs. John C. Gray, Mrs. Russell Wellman Moore, Mrs. Russel Sage, Miss Emily Tuckerman, and others.

WATCHED FOREIGN POLICE.

Raymond D. Fosdick Returns from Eight Months' Trip Abroad.

Former Commissioner of Accounts Raymond D. Fosdick, who for the last eight months has been abroad making a close study of the police organizations of the principal cities of England, France, Germany, Austria, and Holland, arrived from Southampton on the White Star liner Oceanic yesterday afternoon. Mr. Fosdick, who was accompanied by Mrs. Fosdick, went to Europe last January, and during the eight months that have elapsed since he spent practically all of his time studying the police forces of London, Paris, Berlin, and other great cities. In London Mr. Fosdick said he practically lived at Scotland Yard.

Mr. Fosdick went to Europe as the representative of the Bureau of Social Hygiene, of which organization John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is the principal supporter. He said yesterday that the mass of information that he had got would be published in book form under the title of "Police Organization," and that pending the writing and publishing of that work he would have little to say regarding his mission.

In London, in which city he spent more time than in any other, Mr. Fosdick was greatly aided in his work by Sir Edward Henry of Scotland Yard. Sir Edward is the man who introduced the finger print system of criminal identification into England and is one of the world's leading authorities on secret police work.

Mr. Fosdick said that he would not refer to the social evil in his book nor to white slavery, both of which subjects have been studied and reported upon by Abraham Flexner, who, like Mr. Fosdick, worked under Rockefeller auspices. The questions of police grafting, of the training of policemen, and of department organization are some of the things that Mr. Fosdick will deal with in his forthcoming publication.

Since the Rosenthal murder and the wide publicity given that crime and the revelations that grew out of it Mr. Fosdick said that there was a tendency in certain of the European cities to look down upon the New York police. When asked what he thought the New York department needed, he answered by saying, "There is room for improvement in every big city."

Mr. Fosdick said there was a great difference in the relative efficiency of the detective force of New York and those of foreign cities.

"Whether the difference is for good or for evil, I cannot at this time say," Mr. Fosdick added.

Asked about the mentioning of his name in connection with the appointment of Commissioner of Immigration at Ellis Island, Mr. Fosdick said it was all news to him. He would not discuss local politics in any form yesterday.

ANGRY MOOSE DEFY FORCES OF FUSION

ASSAIL THE REPUBLICANS

Insist That They Must at Least Have the Nomination for Sheriff on the County Ticket.

If the Fusion Committee does not give the Progressive Party the representation it wants on the various county tickets which the Fusionists are now making up, the Progressives will throw the whole Fusion slate overboard and nominate candidates of their own. This course was agreed upon last night at a meeting of the Progressive district leaders held at their county headquarters, 32 Washington Square West.

The Bull Moose men were angry all the way through when they got together last night in answer to a call issued by County Chairman Francis W. Bird, and they didn't care who knew it. Mr. Bird presided, and he did not mince words in describing how, in his opinion, the Republicans were trying to "bull-doze" the Fusionists into making them give up the choicest nominations.

"The Republicans are bluffing all the way through," said Chairman Bird. "They have made demands upon the Fusion forces that are absolutely untenable. We will not stand for it."

Mr. Bird said that his organization had given the Fusionists notice that they wanted the office of Sheriff of New York County, and if they didn't get it there would surely be trouble. He said the Progressives had submitted three names for the Fusionists to choose from in making up their Sheriff's slate, Joseph E. Savage, Timothy Healy, the labor leader, and David Goldstein, and they wouldn't take "no" for an answer. He said that this office was the only one the Progressives wanted in New York County, but that the other county organizations were making their own demands.

The Progressives have also asked for representation on the Judicial ticket, and they have furnished a list of names, but they are willing to accept the Fusionist decision in this regard, providing that men of high standing are nominated.

"While we have submitted several names of well-known Progressives for the nomination of Supreme Court Justice, we do not insist upon their selection," said Chairman Bird. "We do want the office of Sheriff, however, and if we don't get it, we will nominate our own candidate. We have been very reasonable in our requests, but we do not propose to stand for the kind of cheap politics the Republicans are trying to play with the Fusion committee."

Some of those whom the Progressives have suggested for nomination on the Judiciary slate are Hugh Gordon Miller, Judge Leon Sanders, Charles H. Strong, President of the City Club, and George W. Alger for Justice of the Supreme Court, and Jacob J. Lesser and Andrew F. Murray for Judge of the City Court. Any one of these men would be satisfactory to the Progressives.

At the meeting last night a committee of seven, with Mr. Bird as Chairman, was appointed as a sort of "war board" to watch what the Fusionists are doing and decide if their party in New York County will accept the Fusion slate.

Mr. Bird said this committee would not makeany more requests of the Fusionists, but would "sit back" and wait. If the Fusion committe did not give them what they wanted they would report to the County Committee and advise a bolt all along the line.

The Progressives have a club over the Republicans in the shape of a deal regarding Aldermanic candidates. The Republicans want to elect as many Aldermen as possible this year, and the Progressives have promised to help them if the right kind of men are nominated. It was said last night that this deal would be called off if the Republicans insisted upon grabbing all the Fusion offices in sight.

The three sub-committees named by the Fusionists on Tuesday to thresh out the situation in New York, the Bronx and Kings Counties met yesterday, but adjourned after a long wrangle without arriving at any decision.

The announcement that District Attorney Whitman was to be the sole arbiter between the Republican organization and the Fusion Committee as regards the making up of the Fusion slate sent a number of office seekers and others to see Mr. Whitman yesterday. Mr. Whitman was told that the Fusionists did not take kindly to the suggestion that the Republicans wanted Dr. Frederick L. Marshall for Sheriff. The Progressives especially, he was told, would oppose Mr. Marshall's selection.

One of those who called upon the District Attorney was Marcus M. Marks, the Fusion candidate for Borough President of Manhattan. Mr. Marks explained that he had merely called upon the District Attorney to congratulate him upon his selection as their candidate for District Attorney.

"I have been out of the city and returned this morning. It was the first opportunity I have had to talk to Mr. Whitman," he said. "I also wanted to tell Mr. Whitman that as a result of conferring with labor leaders throughout the city I have found them overwhelmingly in favor of Mr. Whitman's nomination."

Other callers on Mr. Whitman were William M. K. Olcott, Abraham Gruber, ex-Judge William H. Wadhams, who is the Republican choice for Supreme Court Justice, and ex-Congressman William S. Bennet.

The Judiciary Committee of the Fusion Committee appointed to make up a slate for Manhattan only held a meeting yesterday, but did little to untangle things. The committee considered for some time the merits of Charles C. Nott and Isidor Wasservogel, both assistants to District Attorney Whitman, who have received considerable backing, principally from the Republicans, for the nomination for Supreme Court Justice. Both are warm friends of Mr. Whitman, and it is said that either would be acceptable to him. It is understood that he has left the selection to the Fusion Committee.

It was said by several Fusionists last night that the situation as regards the county slate in the Bronx, Queens and Brooklyn was as badly mixed as it is in New York County, and that it was very unlikely that any agreement would be reached before next week.

The Empire State Democracy is planning to take an active part in the Municipal campaign. The organization will try to get a place on the ballot through petition so that candidates opposed both to Tammany and the Sulzer régime can be nominated.

FIRST GAYNOR BANNER UP.

East Side Raises One—Mayor May Define Position on Monday.

Mayor Gaynor, who is still the choice of most of the Tammany leaders and followers for the head of the Democratic city ticket, would not comment upon politics either yesterday. It was rumored, however, that the Mayor intends to issue a statement on Monday stating his position regardingthe Mayoralty. A committee from the Citizens' League of Brooklyn which nominated him on Tuesday night called upon him yesterday and notified him of what had occurred. What the Mayor said to the delegation is not known, for he would not discuss it in any way and the members refused to answer any questions.

The East Side Gaynor League and the Gaynor League of Foreign-Born Citizens opened the campaign for the Mayor last night at the National Theatre at East Houston and Essex Streets. There were about 2,000 residents of the east side present, and a huge Gaynor banner was strung up at the intersection of the two streets. Several speakers were cheered enthusiastically.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 13.—Baltimore was chosen by unanimous vote as the place for holding the next convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies at the closing session here to-day. Officers were re-elected as follows: President, Charles I. Denechaud, New Orleans; Secretary, Anthony Matre, St. Louis, and Treasurer, F. W. Heckenkamp, Quincy, Ill.

Mrs. Mary Kingdon, the mother of Mrs. George Gould, who died in Paris, France, on June 6, 1911, left personal property valued at $43,229, according to the appraisal of her estate in New York State, filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Court. As she died a resident of New Jersey, there was no estimate made of her realty, some of which was in Canada. The property taxable in New York amounted to $24,661, and consisted of securities with the exception of a bank account of $11,134.

Under her will, of which George Gould is executor, she bequeathed the bulk of her estate to her two sisters, Emily Brummell and Margaret Carter. To Kingdon Gould, Jay Gould, and George Jay Gould she gave emerald rings, the remainder of her jewelry passing to Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould.

GIFT BLOOD FAILS TO SAVE.

Transfusion of blood from the veins of his brother and of his employer to his own failed to save the life of Arthur Priess of 41 West Twenty-eighth Street. The operation was performed at Bellevue Hospital last night.

Priess was entering the freight elevator of the American Woolen Company at 221 Fourth Avenue yesterday afternoon, when ar wrench weighing ten pounds which had dropped from the sixteenth floor fell on his head. He sustained a compound fracture of the skull and was removed unconscious to the hospital. There it was found that he had lost so much blood that it was necessary to pump new blood into his veins to save his life.

Joseph Priess, Arthur's brother, and David Goodman, President of the May Waist Company, by which Arthur was employed, promptly volunteered to supply the blood. Dr. Lauer of the hospital staff examined them and found them fit, and Dr. Edward Linderman then and there transferred a pint of blood from each to the veins of the injured man.

CLUE IN RUMSEY ROBBERY.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 13.—The departure of a detective to-day with a servant from the Summer home of Charles Cary Rumsey, whence jewelry valued at $125,000 disappeared a few weeks ago, was followed by reports that a new clue had been discovered in this mysterious case.

Neither the detectives nor members of the family would discuss the matter to-night. It is understood that the detective and the servant went to New York.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Aug. 13.—Miss Louise Marie Hinck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Hinck and a niece of Mayor Ernest C. Hinck, was married this evening to Reginald Victor Hiscoe, son of Charles C. Hiscoe of 12 East Forty-eighth Street, New York. The ceremony was performed in the rectory of St. John's Episcopal Church, the Rev. James Thornton Lodge officiating. Miss Margaret Hinck, a sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. The best man was William Struthers of New York. Mr. Hiscoe is a member of Struthers & Hiscoe, brokers, in New York.

Kills Himself on Ferryboat.

Ernest Mayo Wyatt, a young clerk of 9 Clinton Street, Brooklyn, committed suicide early yesterday morning aboard the municipal ferryboat Manhattan just as she was leaving the slip at St. George, S. I. He put a bullet in his right temple. In his card case was a note directing strangers to send notification of his death to Robert and John Wyatt of the Clinton Street address.

ONLY $501,053 LEFT BY JARMULOWSKY

WIFE WAS FULL PARTNER

Under Her Contract She Becomes Entitled to One-Half the Profits of the Business.

Sender Jarmulowsky, who founded the private banking house of S. Jarmulowsky at 54 Canal Street, left an estate valued on the day of his death, June 1, 1912, at $501,053, according to the report completed yesterday by Appraiser Goldenkranz. The property of the banker was reduced by debts and administration expenses to $446,660.72. At the time of his death rumor put his fortune in the millions.

The Appraiser did not include among the estate's assets any good will of the decedent in the banking business because of the testimony of his sons and officials in the bank to the effect that the bank's business was due almost entirely to Mr. Jarmulowsky's personality and his knowledge of the people of the east side. The decedent's interest in the bank which was taxed consisted entirely of a special account of $100,000, a general account of $57,771 representing the profits to which he was entitled at the time of his death, and an interest of $48,428 in the building housing the institution.

Albert Jarmulowsky, a son, testified at hearings before the Appraiser that his father had been in sole charge of the bank for twenty-eight years, and that his success rested on his personality. He had the confidence of the people, the son said, and in making loans to them he took into consideration their characters as known to him, and often disregarded their financial standing. The banker received no stipulated recompense for his labor, according to his son's testimony, but took what he needed from the profits. A just recompense for these services, the son stated, would have been $50,000 a year, but this sum would have eaten up the profits. Largely on this testimony was based the Appraiser's decision not to tax good-will in the banking business.

Among the documents submitted was a report on the bank's profits for three years preceding Mr. Jarmulowsky's death. For the half-year beginning July 1, 1909, and ending with Dec. 31, 1910, the profits were estimated at $33,346. This was the difference between assets of $3,172,700 and liabilities of $3,139,354. For the following year the schedules showed: Assets, $3,367,915; liabilities, $3,316,878; net profit, $40,000, and depreciation fund, $11,037. For the period from Jan. 1, 1912, till Mr. Jarmulowsky's death, the books showed assets, $3,583,689.33; liabilities, $3,541,552; net profits, $30,000; depreciation fund, $12,146.27. The average net profit was placed on the Appraiser's schedules as $34,000.

Under an agreement entered into on March 13, 1899, the banker, out of consideration for the services which his wife had rendered in connection with the management of the bank's affairs, took her into partnership with him, giving her during his life a profit of $1,000 a year from the business, offset with a liability for loss up to $1,000. Under this contract the wife, upon her husband's death, became entitled also to one-half of the entire profits of the business. These profits, the sons said in testifying before the Appraiser, had dwindled greatly since their father's death. This, they said, was due both to his loss to the business and to the shrinkage in bond values, especially those of New York City, which had depreciated 10 points.

In his will Jarmulowsky left the half of the banking business remaining in his possession to his children, Mrs. Amelia Clark, Mrs. Blume Ettlinger, and Albert, Louis, and Meyer Jarmulowsky, but directed that from this they should pay to his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Jarmulowsky, an annuity of $10,000. In addition to this his wife received under the will all his household goods and a life estate in his two residences, one at 16 East Ninety-third Street and the other at Arverne, L. I.

The will also provided that at the time of his death $100,000 should be set aside as "a fund for the security of persons who may then be depositors, in case the good-will and assets, when disposed of, should be insuffiicent to pay all the depositors in full."

Among the loans of the bank covered by collateral, as reported by the executors of the estate, was one of $200,000 to Zimmerman & Forshay of 9 Wall Street. In the decedent's private loans was included one of $30,000 to his son, Albert Jarmulowsky. This was reduced in the appraisal to $10,099. Through testimony taken to prove the validity of a debt of $8,000 held by Louis Jarmulowsky against his father it was shown that there had been a family dissension, resulting in the son Louis suing his brother Meyer for breach of contract. In order to settle this amicably, the father had agreed to pay half the sum sued for, or $8,000. On his death the son held his father's estate liable to this amount.

The assets of the estate did not include any securities. The largest item was the realty, a total of $323,463. The bank building at 54 Canal Street was valued at $250,000, but from this amount was subtracted $201,571 as improvements which it was necessary to make in the building and liens held by the sons as interested in the banking business.

The appraisal of the estate of John G. Brown, the painter of street boys, who died on Feb. 8, was filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Court, showing total assets of $107,520, of which bonds and mortgages amounted to $75,356, and his paintings to $17,675. For many years before his death Mr. Brown had been in the habit of placing his paintings in a safe deposit vault, not to be opened until after his death. This he did in order to take advantage of the usual rise in value affecting an artist's works after his death. The pictures thus stored away were appraised at $15,700, and included nearly 100 pieces.

The highest values placed upon these, many of which have never been seen by the public, were $1,000 on both "Heels Over Head" and "The Sidewalk Dance." Many of his pictures sold for twice this sum a few years ago when his art was in vogue. All of Mr. Brown's fortune was won through his painting. He emigrated to this country in 1854 from London, and although at that time a painter by profession, was forced by poverty to work in a glass factory here before he could get started in art lines. The list of his assets showed that he was not in the habit of speculating in stocks, there being no securities included in his property schedules.

All his estate he gave in a life trust to his wife, Mrs. Emma Brown, on condition that she should not remarry. Upon her remarriage she was to receive only her dower rights in the estate. Upon her death or remarriage the estate, it was provided, should pass in equal shares to six children and his sister, Mrs. Sarah Jessie Plumb.

Mrs. Trask's Condition Unchanged.

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The condition of Mrs. Spencer Trask, who is critically ill at Triuna, her Lake George Summer home, has remained unchanged for the last twenty-four hours. Dr. Glentworth R. Butler of New York, her physician, who had been at Triuna for five days, found it necessary to leave Lake George to-day, but is keeping in constant touch with Mrs. Trask's condition by telephone and telegraph.

FRANTIC OVER LOST 'CREDIT'

The Guest from Paris Amazes the Hotel Cashier.

When the gentleman from Paris got safely away from the Breslin yesterday morning for a short sightseeing trip outside of New York the cashier remembered that early in the morning he had thought for a time that he would have to telephone to Bellevue for an ambulance to come for the Frenchman.

It was just about the usual breakfast time when the pompadour of the visitor suddenly bristled just outside the protecting bars that screen the money man from those who may wish to question items on their bills. Two saucer-like eyes glared between the brass rods and a voice said:

"Where is it? Where is it? It is stole. I had it; I have it not. It is gone. Some one has stolen it."

With the screen between him and the guest the cashier felt he could afford to be calm, so he asked, in the vernacular—he speaks several languages:

"What is it, that it is?"

"My credit! My credit!" exclaimed the other. "Quick! I must have it."

The cashier gazed at the other, and his fingers stole in the direction of the push button that summons the strong-arm men. Then he happened to think.

"Oh!" he said, relieved. "You mean your letter of credit?"

"Yes, that is him. Quick. Summon an agent of police. It must that I take the train. I have look and look, but I no find him."

"Explain, if it pleases you, monsieur," requested the cashier, with real Gallic politeness.

"Ah! I will. It was this morning that I dress myself. I pack my bag so carefully. I put everything in, the shirts, the collars, the ties, and all. I put my credit into the bag. Of that I am well sure. Unfortunately I do not lock the bag. I depart from the room. I descend. I have my coffee with milk and my little bread, and then I ascend in the ascender. I think of my credit. I look in the bag. By blue! It is gone. Some one has made entrance. He has taken it."

"On what local bank was it drawn?" asked the cashier.

"Ah! That I do not know. It says the credit. The credit is for 2,500 francs. It must that I have it, because there will be need of more money before I return."

The cashier called the hotel detective, who listened to a voluble explanation. He suggested that they look in the room. They went up. The bag was still open.

"Have you looked through the bag?" the detective asked.

"But certainly," replied the other.

The detective looked into the receptacle, and began taking out the articles, the owner insisting that it was no use to do this, because he had gone through it himself. By and by the sleuth came to some shirts which were strapped in the bottom.

"Have you looked under these?" he demanded.

"But no," was the reply. "Why should I look under them? I certainly would not have put the credit under them."

The detective undid the strap and took out the shirts. As they unfolded an envelope fell to the floor. The Frenchman sprang forward with an exclamation.

"Ah! Now I remember," he said. "I put the credit in the shirt because I think nobody will look there for him."

The detective grunted and went back downstairs.

"Nut," he said to the cashier.

WOULD DIE NEAR HIS HORSES

Strikebreaker Farley Insists on Following Them to Monroe.

"If I am going to die I'd rather die near my dear old horses than anywhere else," said James Farley, the former strikebreaker, yesterday, when his physician advised him to remain in Yonkers rather than to go with his horses to the trotting meeting at Monroe, N. Y.

The physician said that if Farley started to Monroe he might die on the way, but the patient was insistent that he wanted to be with his horses, and he was placed aboard a limousine machine and headed for Monroe.

Since last Thursday, Farley, who is dying of consumption, had been lying on a cot near the stable in which his horses were kept during the trotting meeting at the Empire City track. He originally made the trip from his hotel in Manhattan to see one of his horses compete in a race. After the race he had a relapse, and his physician advised him to remain at the track, considering it unwise to attempt to remove him to his hotel.

3 KILLED IN AUTO WRECK.

BUFFALO, Aug. 13.—The Rev. Dr. Peter C. Bommer, his wife, and Miss Alice Pagels of Rochester were killed and three others who were riding in Dr. Bommer's automobile were seriously hurt near Westfield, Chautauqua County, to-night. A tire blew out as the party was coming down a steep hill and the car ran wild, finally turning a complete somersault and landing right side up in the road. The injured are Miss Louise Bommer, a sister of the dead clergyman; Martha, his four-year-old daughter, and the Bommers' maid, Mary Whocazen. Miss Bommer may die.

Dr. Bommer was pastor of the First German Evangelical Church of Buffalo and also President of the Young People's League of the German Evangelical Synod of North America. Miss Pagels came from Rochester to visit the family, and to-day Dr. Bommer drove the party in his car to Chautauqua Lake.

Miss Pagels was caught under the car when it overturned, and her head was nearly severed. Mrs. Bommer fell in the road and her neck was broken. Mr. Bommer's skull was fractured, and he died ten minutes after the accident.

7-Year-Old Boy Killed by Auto.

Playing in the street in front of his home at 1,498 Pitkin Avenue, Brownsville, yesterday afternoon, 7-year-old Samuel Schlumper, Jr., was struck down and run over by a taxicab. His mother had seen his danger and tried to drag him from the machine's path, but there was not time enough. The boy died late last night in St. Mary's Hospital. The machine was owned by the Pitkin Auto Company and was driven by Benjamin Maltz of 1,371 East New York Avenue.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Doris Keane sailed for home yesterday on the Olympic after a Summer in Europe. She will be seen during the coming season in her play of last year, "Romance," which will be put on in New York before taking to the road.

The completed cast for Ferenc Molnar's new comedy, "Where Ignorance is Bliss," which will open the new season at the Lyceum on Aug. 28, consists of Julian L'Estrange, Rita Jolivet, Frederic de Belleville, Florine Arnold, May Greville, Marion Pullar, and Kivet Manton.

Willette Kershaw is on the Olympic returning from a vacation in Scotland, most of which was spent with Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson, to resume her place with the Princess Players at the Princess.

William Hammerstein announces for the opening bill of his regular Fall season at the Victoria on Sept. 15 a vaudeville novelty which he calls "Found at Coney Island." The nature of the offering is not disclosed, the affair being simply described as a novelty which he found in one of the music halls of the Summer resort.

Walter Law and company will present a new playlet next week at Proctor's Fifth Avenue, called "His Big Brother."

Emma Trentini in "The Firefly" will be the opening attraction for the first season as a combination house booked by the Shuberts of the De Kalb Theatre in Brooklyn. McIntyre and Heath in "The Ham Tree" were at first announced to inaugurate the theatre's new policy, which will take effect on Labor Day.

A new one-act play by Percival L. Wilde, called "Via Victor," will be offered next week at the Halsey Street Theatre, Brooklyn, with a cast headed by J. Hooker Wright.

Max Rabinoff sailed from Plymouth yesterday after six weeks in Europe in the interest of the National Opera Company of Canada and Pavlowa's coming tour of this country under his management.

D. S. Samuels announces among the organizations and artists to tour the United States next season under his direction the Orchestral Society of New York, a symphonic orchestra under the direction of Josef Pasternack, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera House; the Russian Balalaika Orchestra, Maximilian Pilzer, violinist; Loretta J. Hollisy, soprano; Mme. Maria Winetzky, contralto; Charles de Harrack, pianist; Mme. Helen Sherman Gue, contralto, and Bertha Genthon, soprano.

TOO MANY BUYERS FOR HOTELS HERE

Invasion of Out-of-Town Merchants Said to be Unprecedented in the City's History.

PROMISE LARGE ORDERS

Conservatism of Former Seasons Has Forced Shops to Restock Without Waiting for Tariff Changes.

The buyers who arrived at the Broadway hotels at the end of last week have not departed, and since Monday morning so many more have come to the city that hotel men say all records for such gatherings in this city have been broken. At Broadway hotels the managers said yesterday morning that they had had to send hundreds of patrons to other taverns because their own houses were overcrowded.

At the McAlpin it was said yesterday that 1,738 guests had registered there on Tuesday night. This took every available room, and there were many double rooms. According to the room clerk some 300 persons were sent elsewhere.

At the Imperial 100 persons registered yesterday for whom no rooms could be provided. They hoped the clerks could give them quarters by evening. According to Manager Townsend 100 late arrivals on the day before were turned away. Assistant Manager Richards of the Martinique said that he could have used 150 more rooms than his hotel contained. The Grand and the Breslin reported that they were crowded.

"I have never seen so many buyers in New York at one time," said Manager Townsend. "And one good feature of the trade is that every one seems to be really buying, and is not here merely to get a few sample lots."

Managers of some of the Broadway hotels commented upon the fact that the presence of a big new hotel in their immediate vicinity had not affected their trade. Those who discussed the subject said that they had expected that the McAlpin, with its great capacity, would cut into their business considerably at this season, but such had not proved to be the case.

"One thing that interests me," said one, "is where the 1,738 persons who slept in the McAlpin last night slept the same night last year. Of course, there has been a sort of readjustment of hotel patronage since last Winter, when the McAlpin opened, but the taverns in this neighborhood are filled to their utmost capacity just now, and there are at least 1,738 persons with us who were not with us last year. That is one indication, it seems to me, that the number of visiting buyers has increased tremendously.

"What brought about the congestion of yesterday and last night, which is continuing to-day," said another, "is the fact that so many who it was expected would depart on Saturday, went to the seashore or to resorts near by. Many of them kept their rooms. Some neglected to do this, and when they returned on Monday morning they found others in their quarters. I will venture to say that more of the visitors will stay in New York next Sunday than stayed here last Sunday."

Managers and clerks who have talked with buyers say the buyers report that they are here to close large orders. It was feared that owing to the fact that the tariff bill had not been disposed of, and the probability that its passage might cheapen many lines, there would be much hesitation in buying at this time. Out-of-town merchants have been buying so carefully in the last few years that there are many empty shelves, and these must be restocked. The managers of one of the large hotels near the Pennsylvania station predicted a volume of business continuing until after Dec. 1.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—John Raymond Auch, 18 years old, son of John F. Auch, Vice President of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad, eloped from his parents' Summer home in Ocean City with Miss Edith West, a trained nurse, several years his senior, and they were married at "The Little Church Around the Corner" in New York last Friday. To-day the boy, who has returned to Philadelphia, said he was considering the advisability of letting his father tear up his marriage certificate. This, to his mind, was the logical and easy way of calling the marriage off. Young Auch admitted he had sworn he was of age when he got the license.

The boy said to-day his courtship had been a matter of four weeks. He added that he had talked things over with his wife, her friends, and his friends, and had come to the conclusion that perhaps it was best to call off the marriage.

The bride would not discuss annulment proceedings or the tearing up of the certificate, but cheerfully asserted that she and her husband would probably go to Baltimore, her old home, where her father is a contractor and builder. The father of the young man to-day said he had not decided what steps would be taken. He added that his son had no money.

The boy's mother said that it was more than likely the young man's father would take steps to have the marriage annulled as quickly as possible.

ZURICH, Aug. 13.—August Ferdinand Bebel, the German Socialist leader, died here to-day of paralysis of the heart. He was 73 years old.

August Bebel was probably the best known of the modern Socialist leaders. He joined the German labor movement in 1862 as soon as he had reached manhood and continued to struggle for the cause of the working classes until his death. He was a member of the Imperial Parliament almost continuously since its first formation in 1871, after the Franco-Prussian War had brought the various German States into an empire.

Not long after the first session of the Imperial Parliament he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment on a charge of high treason against the empire and to another nine months' confinement for lesê majesté.

The Socialists of Germany regarded him as a brilliant leader and organizer, and he was able to keep the ranks of the party united at nearly all times. He lived to see it represented in the Imperial Parliament by over 100 Deputies. Bebel was not a great orator, but his speeches were convincing, and he was heartily beloved by his followers.

He was a good writer and published many books, most of them naturally dealing with Socialism in its various connections.

Bebel actively opposed Bismarck's anti-Socialist laws, and was often arrested and fined when they were in force. The annexation of Alsace-Lorraine was another of his pet aversions which he called Bismarck's "fatal crime."

He was a poor man,and when he first entered Parliament was compelled during the recesses to work at his trade of turner in order to earn his livelihood. His death will have little effect on the activities of the party, of which for several years he had been more a source of inspiration than the actual leader. His infirmities of late had prevented him from playing an active part in the Imperial Parliament, where he confined himself to occasional brief remarks on points of order. He was able to attend the party convention last year, but his physicians prohibited him from actively participating.

Bebel's last appearance in the Imperial Parliament, of which he was the Dean in point of service, was made as the final vote was taken on the bills for financing the increase in the German armaments. He voted "yea" with the rest of the Socialist members. His action was hotly criticised within the party, but Bebel favored this step as necessary to the building up of a Liberal majority.

He was born in Cologne on Feb. 22, 1840. His parents were in very humble circumstances and he never spoke of them. They moved while he was yet a small child to Rhenish Prussia. For two years after his twelfth birthday the future leader was permitted to attend an elementary school, but when he was fourteen years old he was apprenticed to a wood turner.

C. L. REYNOLDS DROPS DEAD

Father McGrath Prevents Robbery, But One Man Is Shot.

Patrolman John Kelly of the Charles Street Station last night shot an alleged gangster known as Charles Delaney, 30 years old, of 584 Hudson Street, after the man and a companion, according to the police, had knocked down and attempted to rob three intoxicated sailors at West and Bethune Streets and threatened to shoot Kelly, who was pursuing him. The bullet struck the man in the fleshy part of the thigh, and did not inflict a serious injury, although Delaney was taken to Bellevue Hospital for the night. A man who described himself as Thomas Daly, 28 years old, also of No. 584 Hudson Street, was arrested with Delaney, and both were charged with assault and robbery.

Father Philip J. McGrath of the Seamen's Mission was primarily responsible for the arrest of the gangsters. He was at the foot of West Twenty-second Street when he noticed the men loitering around the pier. The men walked south along the waterfront, said Father McGrath, until they came to Bethune Street, where three intoxicated sailors were leaning against a truck. Before the priest could warn the sailors, he said, the gangsters sprang upon them and knocked all to the ground and started to go through their pockets. Father McGrath ran toward the sailors, blowing his police whistle.

When Policemen Kent and Kelly arrived the gangsters were cornered and offered resistance. Kent struggled with Daly and Kelly with Delaney for several minutes. Then Kent succeeded in knocking his man out with his night stick, and at that Delaney broke and ran. Kelly followed close on his heels and fired three shots into the air to frighten him into stopping, but the fugitive ducked under a truck half a block from where he started running, and, say the police, shouted to the policeman:

"Stand back or I will shoot you."

At this Kelly shot to hit, and struck Delaney in the fleshy part of the thigh. The sailors disappeared in the mix-up.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Prices rose still further on the Stock Exchange yesterday—in some cases the advance was very sharp—but they moved more nervously and less certainly than on the earlier days of the rise. Stocks came out rather freely as higher quotations were reached, and before the close of the session substantial reaction occurred, although this did not go far enough to deprive many stocks of substantial net gains for the day. In some issues short covering seemed an important element, but in others continued purchases for the long account offered the chief explanation of the further forward movement. Many observers thought they detected signs which indicated that a good deal of "acceleration" of prices was under way. It seemed at least that the markets of the last couple of days were not such as are explained primarily by investment purchases. In the explanations proffered in Stock Exchange discussion of the movement in prices, buying by this, that, or the other trader, or short covering by some unlucky speculator was mentioned about as frequently as were any underlying facts which semed to offer basis for the strength which prices have lately been showing.

Nothing was added yesterday to the list of influences which had previously been making themselves felt in the stock market. Circumstances served, however, to reduce some of these to more tangible form. Such was the case, for example, with the proposed distribution of Treasury cash to the banks because of the understanding that the actual turning over of this money will begin to-morrow. The success of the Southern Pacific underwriting, which has been another important influence this week, was also brought into clearer relief. It is plain that one of the immediate effects of the programme which the Treasury has mapped out will be to relieve the pressure upon the money market this Fall, and that is an influence that will be of continuing effect.

It has played a large part in what has happened in the stock market since the Secretary of the Treasury's announcement was made, but it does not necessarily follow that this favorable prospect justified so rapid a movement in the stocks upon which trading operations have centred. Certain changes for the better which lately occurred seemed to invite the establishment of a better market for stocks, but there are those who hold to the view that the permanency of the higher level of prices would be better assured if present quotations had resulted from a somewhat more orderly movement than that of the last couple of days.

Receding prices for steel products were pointed to in the weekly reviews of the steel trade as a noteworthy factor at present in that trade. At the same time production continues on a very large scale, and even in the falling off in new orders, which is also a matter of comment, the experience of steel makers does not seem to be uniform. One of the large independent companies is understood in fact to be receiving orders this month on a larger scale than during July. The current position of the steel trade supplies further evidence of the fact that only in forward business has there been any material curtailment. The volume of business in the steel trade and in other trades will have some close relation to the farming results of the year, and they, of course, will be substantially influenced by the fortunes attending the corn crop. The market, however, paid no more attention esterday than it had on other days recently to the damage which is occurring to that crop in some important areas of production. The news regarding that crop, should, it would appear, exert tempering influences even though it be granted that the position of some other important crops is so good as to offset the disappointment which otherwise would be more keen over the reduced prospects for the crop which makes the largest contribution of any one crop to the aggregate value of this country's farm yields.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2@2½ per cent., with the last loan at 2 per cent. The renewal rate was 2¼ per cent.

Time money rates were 3½@4 per cent. for sixty days, 4½@4¾ er cent. for ninety days, 4¾@5¼ per cent. for four months, 5½@5¾ per cent. for five months, and 5½@5¾ per cent. for six months.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3⅝@3¾ per cent. for short bills and 3 13-16 per cent. for three months' bills. Paris, 3¾ per cent., and Berlin, 4⅞ per cent. Money was 4½ per cent. in Berlin and 2¾ per cent. in London.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 25 centimes, and the Berlin check rate on London, was 20 marks 45 pfennigs.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Fighting the Advance.

The more experience a speculator has had in Wall Street the more ready he is, as a rule, to accept a loss. "Cut your losses and let your profits run" is a Street proverb that is always cited to beginners, but which is only accepted by them in respect to letting their profits run. The amateur speculator summarizes conditions, decides that prices should go up or down, and acts accordingly. When the trend runs counter to his expectations he is at a loss to account for the error in his calculations. He is usually so sure that it will not be long before the people who are making the market come to see things from his viewpoint that he holds on while the market moves steadily away from him. When it has left a gap of eight or ten points between his price and the current quotations he may grow desperate and take his loss, or he may doggedly wait the turn that may be a year or more in coming.

There is reported to be a large number of persons who sold Steel short between 50 and 55 who are still in doubt as to whether it would be cheaper to cover their sales now or hang on for a reaction for which they have been looking ever since the price touched 60. A broker who was called upon by a large customer to help him decide this question told him Monday morning that one man's opinion was as good as another's, but that he as a broker of long experience thought the advance was going on. The customer thought otherwise, and has seen the market move four points farther away from his position.

Paper Profits and Real Losses.

Few people are constitutionally fitted to become successful speculators. It is human nature to try to buy stocks at the bottom and sell at the top. A student of financial history may sit down in his room away from the sound of a ticker, or the shallow advice of his acquantances and make a solemn resolve to buy some stock at the market, take five points profit if the security goes up, and get out. He reaches his broker's office, and finds that the issue he picked out has already moved up a point. Some one tells him that a reaction is bound to come, and he waits while prices advance another point. At the high price for the day he usually loses patience and puts in his order. If the market is strong and his stock continues to advance he soon convinces himself that he might just al well take six points, or ten. His careful reasoning is thrown to the winds, and if he ultimately sells at a profit it is through accident or good luck.

There is occasionally to be seen in a big customers' room a sad-faced man whose acquaintances shun him to avoid the embarrassment of refusing him a small loan. He could not raise $5 with a firm that would have paid him $40,000 two years ago to close out his account. This man brought a few thousand dollars to the Street and bought stocks recommended to him by a partner in the firm. They advanced, and he utilized his augmented credit to buy more. When he had a profit of about $30,000 the broker called him aside and urged him to sell his securities. The customer was flushed with success and laughed at the suggestion. When he had a $40,000 credit he had the evidence to prove that he knew more than his broker. Again he was entreated to sell, and again he refused to do so. The market turned, but the customer felt sure it would come back. He was carried as long as he had a few points margin over the purchase price, and finally was closed out for the broker's protection. Success had made him give up a salaried position, and he had no resources left. The quotation board still draws him downtown when he has carfare, and the partner who tried to save him from himself sometimes takes him out to lunch.

Union Pacific's Dividend.

It has been the custom to figure the Union Pacific's dividend as being dependent to the extent of 6 per cent. upon the transportation earnings of the company and to the extent of 4 per cent. upon its income from investments. Union Pacific has been receiving $7,600,000 a year from holdings of Southern Pacific stock which have now passed from its control. In its stead the company has $21,273,000 each of common and preferred stock of the Baltimore & Ohio, from which it will get an annual return of $2,127,000, and an expectation of about $76,000,000 in cash to come from the sale of the $88,357,000 of Southern Pacific stock held by the Central Trust Company. If it could realize a return from this money of about $5,420,000 per annum its income position would be unchanged from recent years. If the money were invested to bring in 4 per cent. it would return a little more than $3,000,000. Rumor has it that the proceeds of the sale of the Southern Pacific will not be reinvested, but will be distributed in large part to the Union Pacific shareholders as an extra dividend. In such an event the holders would hardly expect to continue to receive 10 per cent per annum. The suggested reduction in the rate would not, however, be a matter of necessity. In each of the past six years the Union Pacific has earned enough, exclusive of its income from Southern Pacific stock, to pay 10 per cent.

Cheap Dividends.

The Central Trust Company certificates for Southern Pacific stock may be exchanged for shares carrying $3 in accumulated dividends, so that most people who watched prices yesterday expected to see them sell that much higher than the Southern Pacific stock in the market. As a matter of fact, the difference proved to be only about half that throughout most of the day, and at the highest point for the certificates and stock the former sold only one point above the shares. One explanation offered was that much of the buying of Southern Pacific was in the interest of speculators who were covering short sales, and for their purposes the certificates, which cannot be exchanged until some time after Sept. 2, were not available. Holders of Southern Pacific stock who do not hold any shares of Union, and who, accordingly, will not be prohibited from exchanging certificates for stock, were said to be arbitraging yesterday by selling their Southern Pacific stock and buying certificates for the same number of shares.

Steel Advancing Abroad.

Steel manufacturers are speculating less about possible competition from abroad under a reduced tariff than they did a fortnight ago. The reason is that prices abroad are firming up. When tight money began to exert a firm grip on general business in England and on the Continent earlier in the year, steel makers resisted for a time the temptation to lower quotations for the sake of getting orders, but at last they yielded. Prices of bars and other leading unfinished products fell to a cent a pound. Even with their cheaper labor, local steel men say, the foreign producers quickly found that there was too little profit in sales at that figure to make business worth while, and dissatisfaction with conditions was voiced by members of the different associations of manufacturers which have the power of making prices. It was reported from London and Berlin that the organizations were threatened with dissolution several weeks ago if something did not occur to increase net income. At this time money eased slightly, and steel buying picked up somewhat, with a consequent rise of prices.

Some Improvement Noted.

Despite statements in the steel trade that the tendency of prices is now clearly downward officers of some of the companies believe that orders are running on a scale sufficiently large, to insure maintenance of quotations on the major unfinished material, such as bars, blooms, and plates. At the Republic Iron and Steel Company's office it was said yesterday that new contracts were coming in at a higher rate than in July, while specifications had been received so far this month at a rate of 20 per cent. higher than in July.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Reactionary symptoms showed in the closing dealings on the Consolidated Stock Exchange, and the bears on the floor talked about the market looking "tired." There was large selling to secure profits on the long side, and the floor element was working for a substantial setback to prices, which, it was claimed, was much overdue. Earlier in the day the market had again moved up sharply under the lead of United States Steel. That stock accounted for 23,690 shares out of a grand total for all stocks of 56,080 shares. Commission houses handled a large business in Steel on the buying side, but it was supplied by the floor element at the higher levels.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

graph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 14.—The Times in its City article to-day will say:

"There was no change in the terms of day-to-day advances and short fixtures. The discount rate was firmer in tendency, owing to the withdrawal of £200,000 ($1,000,000) in sovereigns for Egypt and the news that Brazilian Treasury bills were being placed; but quotations for all maturities were nominally unaltered. The gold received by the Bank of England from South America was, as expected, much smaller in amount than that originally shipped, the bulk having been intercepted for France. The Bank of England bought a fair quantity of bar gold.

"The tone of the stock markets remained firm, and in most departments a further advance in prices was recorded. Mexican railway stocks were in renewed request, and other foreign railway stocks advanced. Canadian Pacific and American shares closed appreciably higher. California Oil had a big rise on the news of the provisional arrangement made for the sale of the property of the California Oil Fields, Limited, to the Shell Transport and Trading Company and its ally, the Royal Dutch Company, for £2,600,000, ($13,000,000,) of which £400,000 ($2,000,000) is to be paid in cash and £2,200,000 ($11,000,000) in Shell shares, of which 400,000, valued at £5 10s ($27.50) each, be issued by the Shell and Royal Dutch Companies."

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Trading was dull, but prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Bank of France's Metal Holdings.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The weekly statement of the Bank of France when issued to-morrow will show an increase in gold holdings of 35,999,000 francs and a decrease of 11,945,000 francs in silver.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Prices Generally Strong, with United Cigar Stores in the Lead Under Active Buying.

The price tone was strong yesterday in the outside market. United Cigar Stores continued to advance with vigor, and the other tobacco shares were in good demand. New Haven debentures eased off in early trading, but recovered toward the close. A number of the low priced mining issues gave a good account of themselves.

Seven Cotton Mills to Reopen.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 13.—The seven cotton mills of the Fall River Iron Works, which have been shut down since early in May, will resume operations on Aug. 25. Notices were posted to-day. The mills employ 5,000 hands and supply cloth to the American Printing Company.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Wheat advanced yesterday under light trading, the trend of operations indicating that the market was waiting for assurances of more satisfactory yields. Corn continued its upward progress, influenced by direful weather reports in Kansas. Oats quotations were practically unchanged on the day. Cotton moved back and forth nervously, closing with small losses.

WHEAT.

A steadier tone prevailed in the wheat market throughout the greater part of the day, and final figures were ¼@¾c net higher. The volume of business was not large, but offerings were also limited, and the market showed a disposition to rally quickly from depressions. The liberal movement and the steadily increasing supplies failed to have much influence on sentiment, and operators generally seemed inclined to await developments in connection with the corn market. Furthermore, there was a disposition to limit operations until it has been more clearly demonstrated how the Spring wheat crop in the Northwest will turn out.

The crop in Canada is subject to damage by early frost, and a prominent foreign authority predicted European requirements this season of large proportions, which may be nearly as great as during the past season. The foreign markets were steady, owing to less favorable weather on the Continent and smaller offers of native wheat, while an official French report placed the condition of the crop in that country on Aug. 1 at 68.4 per cent., compared with 73.9 per cent. a month ago. Reports from the West said it was rumored that half a million bushels of wheat were sold for direct export through Baltimore, but this could not be confirmed among local exporters, who intimated that there may have been something done to fill freight engagements, as Baltimore has been trying to resell ten loads of freight room through local brokers.

Bradstreet's visible showed an increase east of the Rockies of 3,948,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 239,000 last year, while world's stocks increased 4,269,000, against a decrease of 7,531,000 a year ago. In the local market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at 93½c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York port, and 95c, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern, Spring, 98¼c, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

Private reports from Iowa and Nebraska as well as from Illinois indicated an improvement in the crop from rains, but The Price Current said that in Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Missouri, and a large part of Illinois and parts of Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee the crop is beyond restoration, and during the greater part of the day the market ruled firm, closing at a net advance of ⅜ to ⅝c. No rain has yet fallen in Kansas, and advices from that State indicated a crop calamity. Buyers were cautious about taking heavy risks, however, as the technical position is believed to be weaker, as few traders are thought to have taken chances on the short side.

Bradstreet's visible showed a decrease of 1,532,000 bushels, compared with an increase last year of 364,000. In the local market export corn was quoted at 81c, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

The firmness in corn exerted a stimulating influence on oats, but receipts were very large at interior points and late in the day the market was barely steady, closing at net unchanged to ¼c lower. Bradstreet's visible decreased 938,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 81,000 last year. The local cash market was steady; standard white quoted at 47 to 47½c; No. 2, 48c; No. 3, 46 to 46½c; No. 4, 45½c to 46c; ordinary clipped white, 46 to 47½c; fancy clipped white, 48 to 49c, all elevator.

COTTON.

The cotton market was nervous and unsettled yesterday, owing to rather conflicting weather reports from the Southwest, and while official advices indicated no effectual breaking of the drought with a prospect for continued clear and hot weather, the close was within a point or two of the lowest, at a net decline of 3 to 6 points. There was quite an active selling movement at the start owing to low cables and private reports of showers or rain in Texas and Oklahoma. Offerings, however, were well absorbed by the profit-taking of recent sellers, who probably felt that the precipitation had been insufficient, and after opening at an advance of 1 point on August, but generally 1 to 4 points lower, the market rallied.

The less favorable view of weather conditions was encouraged by the official Western belt forecast and detailed reports for the Houston and Oklahoma districts, but demand failed to broaden, and a rally to a net advance of 3 or 4 points was followed by renewed weakness. Private reports that it was raining at Austin and Victoria, Texas, contributed to the late decline, which was also influenced by unfavorable trade advices from abroad and talk of an easier spot basis in Texas.

According to official weather advices, there was only a light precipitation at a few scattering points in Texas and Oklahoma, and there was nothing in the weather forecast to hold out any promise of any immediate change in positions. Temperatures continue high in both States, and there were further reports of deterioration. Some of the people sending in these deterioration reports, however, claim that the Southwest will still make a yield approaching that of 1911, when Texas production exceeded 4,000,000 bales. With nearly all advices from the Eastern belt indicating large crops in that section also, bearishly disposed traders have not seen fit to abandon their expectations of a fully adequate supply.

Foreign advices yesterday were of a more bearish average. Liverpool reported selling by importers, and claimed that the trade outlook was unfavorable both in Manchester and on the Continent.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was weak and lower under continued liquidation and selling by packers. The cash trade was said to be light, and receipts of hogs were larger than expected, while prices were generally lower. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 32,000; estimated for Thursday, 20,000; Kansas City received 11,000 and Omaha 9,100.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The cottonseed oil market was again very irregular, with the near positions weak, while the late months were comparatively steady. The September position was under heavy pressure with liquidation as well as selling on stop loss orders, and prices for this month dropped to 7.80, making a net loss of 180 points from the high of the recent bull movement. The decline in the near months appeared to be due almost entirely to technical conditions arising from overspeculation on the bull side, and recently there has been a rapid narrowing of differences between the near and the distant months.

The recent weakness in lard and the decline in cotton had some influence on sentiment, and there were also indications of some increase in offers of new crop crude from the Southwest. At the close near months were 40 to 55 points net lower, while the late positions showed losses of 1 to 5 points.

COFFEE.

Interest in the coffee market was largely in the form of switching from the near to the distant position, especially from September to March, at 66 to 67 points, and from December to March, at 30 points, and out of total sales of 89,500 bags, 49,500 were exchanges. Opening steady at an advance of 4 to 6 points, the market continued to gain, closing firm at the top, 11 to 16 points, net higher. Havre closed ¼ franc up, while Hamburg was ½ to 1 pfennig lower. Rio was firm, 50 reis up, while the Santos spot market was quiet and unchanged, and futures there were 125 to 150 reis lower. The cost and freight market was irregular and about unchanged. The trade still watches closely the weather conditions in Brazil, and a supporting feature was that in the district of Avare, where the weather had cleared; it was colder, although the minimum temperature of 44 3-5 degrees was not low enough to cause serious apprehension for the crop.

Spot coffee, steady and unchanged; Rio 7s, 9¼c.

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

BEEF.—There were no prices changes reported yesterday.

SUGAR.—The refined sugar market continued unchanged on a basis of $4.70 for fine granulated. The local raw sugar market was unchanged as to prices, but holders were a little more willing to sell at old figures. Buyers, however, were holding back. The London beet sugar market was quiet and unchanged, excepting for August, which was quoted at 9s 3½d.

MOLASSES AND SYRUPS.—The molasses market was quiet, but prices were about steady. Syrups were in fair demand and prices were steady in the absence of offerings.

RICE.—The market was quiet, with buyers still pursuing the hand-to-mouth policy pending the arrival of the new crop. Prices were firm and about as last quoted.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—Little developed in this market, business being mostly of a jobbing character. Prices were well maintained. Rye flour dropped and was quoted at $3.50@$3.75; choice to fancy at $3.85@$3.95.

OILS.—Refined petroleum and linseed oil were steady and unchanged.

NAVAL STORES.—There was a better feeling in the market. A fairly active jobbing demand with increased firmness in the South featured the day's business. Tar was steady and unchanged, and resin was barely steady at old prices.

PAR VALUE OF STOCK OF THE

REPRESENTED BY CERTIFICATES OF INTEREST ISSUED BY THE CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE, UNDER THE FINAL DECREE, DATED JUNE 30, 1913, OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE DISTRICT OF UTAH IN THE SUIT OF UNITED STATES OF AMERICA vs. UNION PACIFIC R. R. CO., et al.

To Stockholders (Common and Preferred) of the UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY:

Supplementing the circular of the undersigned Companies dated July 11, 1913, offering to stockholders registered on the books of the Union Pacific Railroad Company at the close of business on August 7, 1913, the right to subscribe (to the extent of twenty-seven per cent. of their holdings of Union Pacific stock, preferred or common) to Certificates of Interest in 883,576 shares of the capital stock of the Southern Pacific Company, notice is hereby given as follows:

The date on which the right of subscription will terminate (hereinafter called the "subscription date") is September 2, 1913.

The price of subscription is $92. for each share represented by such Certificates of Interest, payable in full on or before the subscription date, or, at the option of the subscriber, in two instalments, viz.: $25 per share on or before the subscription date, and the balance (i. e., $67.), with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum to the date of payment, on or before the second day of September, 1914.

The said price of subscription is equivalent, as of the subscription date, to $88. per share and accrued dividends, since the Certificates of Interest offered for subscription will represent, as of the subscription date, in addition to the stock, the two quarterly dividends thereon payable April 1, and July 1, 1913, of 1½ per cent. each, which have been collected and are now held by the Trustee, as well as the portion of the dividend for the current quarter which will have accrued on the subscription date.

The Subscription Warrants issued by the undersigned Companies, evidencing the subscription right, must be surrendered by the stockholders or by the persons to whom the Warrants have been assigned, with the subscription form endorsed thereon duly executed, on or before the subscription date, either in New York at the office of the Trustee, the Central Trust Company of New York, 54 Wall Street, or in London at the office of Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., 8 Bishopsgate, E. C., accompanied in either case by payment of the first instalment, or of the full amount, of the subscription price, as the subscriber shall elect, and all Subscription Warrants not so surrendered with such payment on or before the subscription date shall be void and of no value. Checks or drafts in payment of subscriptions must be drawn either in favor of the Central Trust Company of New York in New York funds, or in favor of Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., in London funds at the rate of exchange as fixed by them.

Said Trustee, directly or through Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., as its agents in London, will, on surrender of the Warrants and on payment of the first instalment, issue Subscription Receipts which will be transferable by assignment, and will also, upon full payment and surrender of the Warrants or Subscription Receipts, as the case may be, issue Certificates of Interest registered in the names of the purchasers. To those making full payment in London, Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., Ltd., as agents for the Trustee, will in the first instance deliver temporary receipts, exchangeable, free of expense to the holder, for Certificates of Interest as and when received from the Trustee. Subscription Receipts and Certificates of Interest delivered in London will bear the English stamp. The Certificates of Interest and Subscription Receipts will be in the form appended to the above mentioned Final Decree of June 30, 1913.

No affidavit is required to be signed as a condition of subscribing. There is no restraint upon the acquisition or subsequent holding of Certificates of Interest by stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad Company. The affidavit as to non-ownership of Union Pacific stock is not required to be filed until Certificates of Interest are presented for exchange into shares of stock of the Southern Pacific Company deposited with the Trustee, and as a condition to such exchange, or as a condition to obtaining a proxy to vote at stockholders' meetings of the Southern Pacific Company.

Dated August 11, 1913.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Why Silk Imports Gained and Lost.

No little interest was evinced yesterday in the local silk trade in the gains and losses show in the Silk Association of America's report of receipts of raw silk for last month. In the report on European silks a gain of nearly 25,000 pounds was shown. This, it was said by a prominent importer, was due to the increased call for piece-dyed silks, in which Italian filatures were freely used. The sharp decline in imports of Japanese silk was attributed to the fact that there had been a considerable stock of organzine and tram, dyed in the skein, held up by the recent strike of the dyers in Paterson and other New Jersey silk centres. This resulted in a holding up of shipments from the primary market. A gain in shipments of Canton silks was said to have resulted from the wide call for crepe fabrics, in the manufacture of which these silks play prominent parts. The sharpest falling off in the list was shown in China silks. High prices asked in the primary market was cited as the reason for this. An increase in the manufacture of cotton and silk goods, together with an increased demand for fancy silks in which tussahs enter, was responsible for the gain shown in that raw material.

Prices Down at Claflin Sale.

While buyers were hardly as active yesterday at the dress goods sale of the H. B. Claflin Company as they were on the opening day, it was said that the aggregate yardage disposed of during the day would run into hundreds of thousands. Buyers were present from several of the larger Eastern cities, as well as buyers for local stores and representatives of the cutting-up trades. The offerings consisted largely of staple fabrics, such as whipcords, melrose, storm serges, wool batistes, brocades, and taffetas. Brocades were said to have been well taken, and some of these fabrics, with whipcords and serges, which were regularly valued up to 35 cents, were sold at 24 cents. A number of woolen remnants which sold at 41 cents a yard represented values up to $1.10. A line of storm serges, unfinished worsteds, and taffetas, sold by the case only, were priced up to 79 cents a yard. These goods also represented values up to $1.10. The sale will be continued to-day.

Trade Publishers to Meet Here.

A number of prominent publishers, educators, advertising and business men wil take part in the eighth annual convention of the Federation of Trade Press Associations, which will be held at the Hotel Astor on Sept. 18, 19 and 20. H. M. Wilson, President of the New York Trade Press Association, will deliver an address of welcome at the opening session, and H. M. Swetland head of the Federation, will make his annual address. An "inspirational" mass meeting will be held, at which the principal speakers will be F. A. Parsons of the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts; W. H. Ingersoll, President of the New York Advertising Men's League; Dr. Talcott Williams of the Columbia School of Journalism; R. H. Waldo, President of the Quoin Club; Prof. W. D Scott of Northwestern University, and H. N. Casson of the H. K. McCann Advertising Agency. Among those who, it is expected, will speak at the annual banquet are Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, John Kendrick Bangs, Charles F. Moore and Dr. N. M. Waters.

New Advertising Method.

An enterprising clothing concern recently brought out a pamphlet which was strikingly original, according to The Clothier and Furnisher. The covers, inside and out, every page, and even the envelope in which it was mailed, were printed in imitation of a sample of the cloths carried by the firm. Each one was different, and printed in the natural colors of the goods. On the inside pages these different cloths formed the borders for colored illustrations of the suits made from each pattern. This afforded out-of-town customers a quick method of telling what the house had to offer, prices for each kind of cloth made up in a variety of styles being quoted.

Books by Parcel Post.

Representative Lewis's resolution directing the Postmaster General to consider extending the classification of parcel post matter to include books, came as good news to the booksellers. Many mail orders are continually being received specifying shipments in that way, and dealers are put to considerable trouble explaining the impossibility of such delivery.

The lower rate for the parcel post service, the rate of insuring packages and the greater weight limit, eleven pounds, cause booksellers to view the proposed change with satisfaction. Books are now sent as third class matter, at a rate of one cent for two ounces and with a weight limit of four pounds.

Export Deliveries Good.

Exports of domestics and cotton duck from this port last week totaled 7,018 packages, valued at $537,552, against $569,638 for the previous week. The greatest amount shipped to one country, $276,859 worth of goods, went to the Philippines. There was little new business transacted with the latter country, however, as merchants there are well stocked and awaiting developments of the market. There was practically no trading with Mexico. Practically no news regarding conditions in China has reached here, but the fact that there were no requests to hold up shipments, leads merchants to assume that conditions there are not generally upset. India merchants are placing no new business, and the African and Red Sea markets are said to be well supplied with American goods.

Completing Canners' Laboratory.

The first laboratory ever established in this country by a trade organization for scientific research will be in operation after Sept. 1, when the National Canners' Association expects to open its new plant in Washington. For the canners themselves the laboratory is to render valuable service by settling technical trade questons, such as what sort of can is best suited to a particular product. Besides this, there is to be extensive research work along lines connected with the canning industry. The results of this research will be made public and ought to be of wide interest. Last year's statistics show that the average consumption of canned goods for every man, woman and child in the country was eight cans.

TEXAS COMPANY'S BIG GAIN.

Its Stock Advances to 123 on Large Improvement in Earnings.

Stock of the Texas Company, following a three point advance on Tuesday, moved up four points more yesterday, to 123, the highest point of the year, on the strength of the annual report, which showed 24.7 per cent. earned for the shares. In the preceding fiscal period the company earned 8.16 per cent.

The statement for the year ended on June 30 showed gross revenue of $25,882,864, as compared with $11,529,541 in 1912. The balance available for dividends after paying out $13,838,645 for interest on bonds, running expenses and taxes and reserving $5,381,000 for the sinking fun was $6,663,123, as compared with $2,203,882 in the previous year.

The general balance sheet showed total assets of $67,514,969, against $51,952,235 at the close of the 1912 fiscal year. Oil stocks were valued at $16,703,000, a gain of more than $5,000,000, and bills receivable were some $9,000,000 greater at $14,395,000 than in the last previous report. Cash in the treasury was $2,233,347, a gain of about $400,000.

S.P. STOCK OVERSUBSCRIBED

Allotments to Syndicate Members to be Made Known To-day.

Responses to the invitation of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., as managers, to become members of the international syndicate which will underwrite the offering of $88,357,000 of Southern Pacific stock, it was announced yesterday, have been so general that no applications for participation received after Tuesday will be granted. Allotments were being worked out last night, and will be made known this morning.

While stating that the offering had been largely oversubscribed, the bankers would not make known the total amount of subscriptions received. It was learned yesterday by local houses which tried to increase the amount of their applications with the advance in the market price of Southern Pacific, that the offering had been closed.

The new syndicate will not be as large as the one formed last Spring, when it was proposed to offer the entire amount of $126,650,000 of stock, but it is expected to number between 600 and 700 individuals and firms. A gratifying feature of the underwriting is the response made by European bankers. The Balkan troubles and the attendant financial stringency abroad had made foreign houses very conservative in the matter of international undertakings, so the willingness of foreign bankers to share in the Southern Pacific offering is taken to mean that a great change for the better has occurred in sentiment abroad. Financial institutions in Germany, France, England, Holland, and Belgium will join in the underwriting.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

The Board of United States General Appraisers decided yesterday that white china plates, etched with designs to be gilded later, were dutiable under the Tariff act of 1909, at 60 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 93, as decorated or ornamented china. M. T. Wynne, the importer, contended that the goods were undecorated, and should pay only 55 per cent., under Paragraph 94.

L. H. Mace & Co., imported masks, returned by Collector Mitchel at 45 per cent. ad valorem, under Paragraph 332, act of 1909, as manufactures of cotton. The importers asserted that they should have been taxed either as toys or as masks of paper, at 35 per cent. ad valorem. The board found that some of the articles were in chief value of paper, but were not toys. While affirming the Collector's assessment on the major portion they directed a reliquidation at 35 per cent. ad valorem on the paper masks.

The board sustained the American Ever Ready Company on carbon battery rods, which had been taxed 35 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 95 as earthy or mineral substances. The importers established that as the goods were not provided for by name in the present law they were dutiable at 20 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 480, as unenumerated manufactured articles.

STEEL PRICES GOING DOWN.

A marking down of some finished steel products is noted by authorities in the trade as the feature of the week. The reduction amounts to about $1 a ton for wire and wire nails, with smaller recessions in other directions. The Iron Age says:

> Reductions announced this week in prices of wire products and butt weld pipe are more definite recognition by manufacturers of the tendency in all finished steel lines. Sheets are also lower. In primary products the chief change is a formal reduction of $2.50 a ton by the foreign makers of ferro-manganese.
> From the level to which the $1 a ton advance of March 19 carried wire prices the reduction of this week is $3, but in fact the new prices are $1 a ton lower than those prevailing for a good many weeks, making wire nails $1.65, Pittsburgh, and plain wire $1.45. It is evident that the wire market is influenced by conditions affecting all lines, and the response to the new prices is not pronounced as yet, though in some directions demand is better.
>
> The question on which another two months may throw light is the basis of prices on which buying will become freer. There is so much on the books at the full contract prices that have held for the past ten months that important price changes are not likely for some weeks. With the period of lower iron and steel duties near at hand the probable effect of these is having more attention from buyers. The July dip in Continental billets to $19, Antwerp, showed the possibility of laying down duty free billets at Atlantic ports at $5 a ton below the Philadelphia price of the past few months.
>
> August has brought a slowing down in new business from the July rate, with no advance signs of the fall movement that has been so generally predicted.

The Iron Trade Review says:

> Restricted buying and declining specifications have resulted in lower prices in some finished lines. This softening was foreshadowed by reduction in unfilled orders on Steel Corporation's books. With the exception of the heavier finished lines, independent steel manufacturers comparatively are not so well situated, and the end of their future delivery tonnage is in sight. In the East, the tapering off of the finished steel demand is reflected by declining ingot production, one or more open-hearth furnaces having been shut down in several plants. It is logical that Eastern works should feel the effect of the contraction in the buying movement, as, in a large measure, they have been dependent upon early delivery demand. Absence of railroad demand is being keenly felt, particularly by iron mills, and the unsettled condition of the market is indicated by quotations as low as $1.25 in the East and $1.40 in the West.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Receipts, 9,000, against 4,000 for the previous week, none last year and none two years ago; exports, 30,000, against 40,000, 28,000, and 10,000 respectively; stock, 282,000, against 304,000, 206,000, and 51,000 respectively; receipts for the entire island, 16,000, against 11,000, 8,000, and 8,000 respectively. There are six centrals grinding, against six last week, eight last year and two in 1911.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The butterfly hat is a recent creation in Philadelphia and is proving popular. It is a filmy lace affair, with outstretched wings at the back. The hats are in black and frequently have a touch of velvet in addition to the lace and satin.

The feather boa is now replacing furs. Later models have an end falling at the back, and in some instances a wide ostrich feather is worn. In either case the boa matches the costume.

Suits of white ratine, with a black hairline stripe forming a three-quarter inch square, are now being featured. The skirt is plain, being made on straight lines. The jacket, which extends to the hip line and is double breasted, has lap pockets.

Nets are the rage in nearly every department of dress, and none has met with so much favor so far as the craquele effects.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

Although the totals for both exports and imports increased over 1911 in the Dominican Republic as a whole, the northern half shows a decrease in both classes. A long drought, followed by a shortage of labor and transportation facilities, was responsible for the falling off of exports, which was most marked in tobacco and cacao. Of the larger exports coffee alone showed an increase.

The German colony in Manila will soon erect a new club to be located in the Paco district, bordered on three sides by San Marcelino and Kansas Streets. The main building will be two stories high and designed in the style of modern German club buildings. The work of construction will begin Sept. 1.

The Nitrogen Products and Carbide Company, an English concern, has closed contracts for the purchase of Dettifalls, the largest waterfall in Iceland, situated about thirty-five miles from the sea coast, in the River Tokulsa, which flows over Northern Iceland for 100 miles and empties into the Arctic Ocean. The company will erect large works and construct a railway from the coast to the falls. Fertilizer will be produced and the plant will require some 400,000 horse power.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

The Daily Consular and Trade Report notes the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding them may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, care of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

11,448. ELECTRICAL GOODS.—An American Consular officer reports that a business man in his district is prepared to receive propositions for electrical supplies from interested firms in the United States. He confines himself to electrical work exclusively, having under way several contracts, among which are the electrification of a wharf, railroad station, docks, telephone service, &c. He intends shortly to organize an electrical supply and construction company in the city in which he is located.

11,449. GRAPHITE.—The American Consul at Tamatave reports that a local firm of buyers of Madagascar graphite would like to furnish American importers of this product. The firm may be addressed in care of its local agent, or at its European headquarters.

11,450. DRY COLORS FOR PAINTS.—A well-established firm in Europe informs an American Consulate that it desires to secure a connection with some American firm manufacturing sulphate of copper, Parisian blue, and schwenfort green colors. Correspondence with manufacturers direct is desired, and English may be used. Price lists and, where possible, samples should be sent.

11,451. TRIPE.—A report from an American Consular officer in Portugal states that a local business man is anxious to get in touch with American exporters of tripe and desires that quotations and catalogues be sent him. At present he is importing tripe from Germany, but would like to secure American connections. Correspondence should be in Portuguese.

11,452. FURNISHING GOODS.—A merchant located in a Russian city, for many years engaged in the gentlemen's furnishing business, desires to secure the latest novelties in his line of American manufacture. A Consul writes that shirtings, collars, socks, buttons, ties, shirt studs, and links are especially desired. Correspondence, if not in the Russian language, should be in either French or German.

11,453. AUTOMOBILE AGENCY. — An American Consular officer in a European country reports that a well-known representative of various machinery manufacturers desires to secure the agency for a first-class American automobile. He wishes to correspond with manufacturers only and those who manufacture upon a large scale.

11,454. REFRIGERATING CARS AND MATERIALS.—A foreign firm is about to inaugurate a service of refrigerating cars between two European cities with a view to developing a market for fish. The first refrigerator cars are to be built by a local company. A Consular officer writes that it might be well for American manufacturers of suitable materials to get in touch with these two concerns. Other cars are to be built, and American firms willing to compete for the contract should write to the person inaugurating the system.

11,455. DRY HIDES.—A report from an American Consular officer states that a business man in a city of Southern Europe desires to represent an American firm exporting dry hides and requests that he be placed in communication with such exporters. Prices cost, insurance, and freight, port of destination, terms, discounts, &c., are desired. References can be furnished, and correspondence may be in English.

11,456. CONCRETE MIXERS.—An American Consul reports that a foreign firm anticipating a growing demand for concrete mixers in connection with important irrigation projects soon to be undertaken would like to get in touch with some American firm making a suitable mixer, as it desires to secure an agency.

11,457. CORRUGATED ASBESTOS SHEETS.—A business firm in India informs an American Consul that it would like to ascertain if any American firms make corrugated asbestos sheets for roofing. This firm knows at present of these sheets being made only in Canada, and would like to secure competitive quotations if possible from the United States and act as agent for any American concern which may turn out a reliable and low-priced article. It is thought that India presents a good field for corrugated asbestos sheets for roofing, as these would prove cool and light for the hot Indian climate.

1914 AUTO SHOW DATES ANNOUNCED

New York Exhibition Jan. 3 to 10, and Chicago Jan. 24 to 31—Discuss Westchester Roads.

Dates for the national automobile shows to be held in New York and in Chicago next Winter have been settled. The exhibition here will be held in the Grand Central Palace during the week of Jan. 3 to 10. That in Chicago will be held, as heretofore, in the Coliseum and First Regiment Armory, Jan. 24 to 31. Both shows will be under the auspices of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce. This will be the first time that one organization has controlled both exhibitions since the Selden patent litigation proved a bone of contention for the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers. Madison Square Garden, which has been the home of New York automobile shows for many years, housed part of last year's exhibit, but as there was a good deal of dissatisfaction at the division between two buildings the Palace is to house all the cars and accessories for 1914.

Four floors of the big building will be utilized and 50,000 square feet more floor space than was available last year will be occupied. Automobiles will occupy the first and second floors and all the wall spaces of the other floors. The space about the wall on the second floor and other sections there will be devoted to the display of electric cars. On the third floor, in the spaces not occupied by cars, will be shown the exhibits of the Motor and Accessory Association, which will also occupy 15,000 feet of space on the fourth floor. It is expected that the Motor Cycle Manufacturers' Association will also exhibit on that floor. In other words, there will be room for the exhibits of all manufacturers of pleasure vehicles and their accessories and parts.

There is to be no commercial vehicle show here this year. There is to be but one day during this season's show when double admission will be charged, instead of two, as in former years. These days have come to be known as "Society" days. S. A. Miles, General Manager of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that application blanks and diagrams would probably be issued about Sept. 1.

John N. Carlisle, State Highway Commissioner, has called a meeting for the discussion of State highway matters in Westchester County, to be held at the County Court House at White Plains at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Good Roads Committee of the Westchester County Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Supervisors, Village Presidents, automobile associations and other interested bodies have been invited. It is hoped that the meeting will result in the completion soon of the three State highways in that county. These roads are known as routes No. 1, No. 2 and No. 41. No. 1 passes through Mount Vernon, White Plains, Bedford, and Goldens Bridge. No. 2 passes through Yonkers, over Central Avenue, Greenburgh, East View, Briarcliff Manor, Ossining, and Peekskill. No. 41 is the Boston Post Road, running along the Sound from Pelham to Port Chester. On the various routes there remain about twenty-seven and one-half miles of State highway for which no contracts have yet been signed.

There is a clause in the new Pennsylvania automobile regulations which requires a driver of a motor car who is neither the owner nor a professional chauffeur to have a license. Licenses of this kind are issued without charge to applicants. The speed limit at signs reading "Danger" or "Drive Slowly" has been increased from twelve to fifteen miles an hour. In the open country twenty-four miles an hour is permitted under the stipulation that the driver shall never proceed at a greater rate than is reasonable and proper under the conditions. According to the A. C. A., the town of Langhorne, on one of the main roads between Trenton and Philadelphia, has made the limit in its vicinity thirty miles an hour, or six miles faster than the State law. In spite of this leniency a number of motorists have been arrested there for exceeding the thirty-mile limit.

Lose Motor Licenses for Odd Cause.

TRENTON, Aug. 13.—Because three charges, including drunkenness and recklessness, had been made against their chauffeur, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Ruter of Jersey City were ordered by State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Lippincott to-day to surrender their motor driving licenses. This action was taken because, the authorities said, that they did not assist them in finding the offending employe.

French Line Changes Sailing Day.

For the first time in seventeen years there will be no French liner sailing for Havre on Thursday. Yesterday the company inaugurated its weekly Wednesday morning service, when the Savoie sailed for Havre. The change of sailing day gives the liners plying between the two ports an equal number of days in Havre and New York.

COL. WILSON FEEDS ALL IN CANAL ZONE

GOVERNMENT'S BIG STORE

Lieut. Col. Eugene T. Wilson, U. S. A., considered by the canal workers in Panama the most important man in the service of the United States, because he looks after the feeding of every man, woman, and child in the canal zone, arrived in New York from Colon yesterday. While in the United States he will inspect many of the large plants from which Uncle Sam buys supplies.

Col. Wilson, who is head of the commissary department of the Panama Railroad, not only buys the food supplies for the zone, but in reality conducts one of the largest department stores in the world. In the stores of the Isthmian Canal Commission scattered through the towns in the zone, all under the watchful eye of Col. Wilson in Cristobal, the canal employe and his family can buy anything that can be bought in New York City—and usually cheaper than he can buy the same article here.

There has not been a day when the canal employe could not get porterhouse steak at least a cent a pound cheaper than it could be bought here, and wearing apparel as well as foodstuffs is sold for less than in the home market.

The great store conducted by Col. Wilson does a business running into several millions of dollars every year, and although no attempt is made to show a profit, the Government being perfectly content to "break even," the balance is always on the right side.

Careful buying and buying on a tremendous scale make it possible for the commissary stores to cut prices even after transporting the goods nearly 2,000 miles.

Panama Merchants Protest.

Panama merchants have again begun a movement to restrict the operations of the Panama commissary system to the field defined by the treaty between the United States and Panama made in November, 1903. The treaty provides that the United States Government may import for the use of its employes any articles that are convenient and necessary free of duty, but that if these articles are later taken into Panama territory for use the regular duty must be paid upon them.

In 1905 the Panama Government protested against the importation of tobaccos, cigars, and liquors by the Commissary, and the United States, in what was known as the Taft Agreement, made an executive interpretation of the treaty that forbade the importation of these articles. In 1908 the merchants endeavored to have the United States so interpret the treaty that the words "necessary and convenient" would mean "both necessary and convenient;" but this effort failed.

Since that time, by consent of the Government of Panama, the privilege of purchasing at the commissaries has been extended to all diplomatic representtives on the Isthmus, and to a number of Government officials, among them President Porrs himself. The two American clubs, the University Club in Panama City and the Strangers' Club in Colon, also have the privilege of purchasing at the commissary.

The present effort of the merchants is to have the law enforced according to the letter, so that every person who now enjoys the privileges of the commissary and does not work on the canal or Panama Railroad will be forced to make his purchases in Panama from local merchants. There is no cold storage plant in Panama, although ice is manufactured in Panama and Colon. The stock of provisions handled by the Panama merchants is almost wholly canned goods, and the meat in the market is from animals slaughtered on the day the meat is sold. The prices are about 50 per cent. higher on foodstuffs than those of the commissary.

Cutting the Cost of Living.

A report of the Subsistence Department of the Isthmian Canal Commission shows remarkable results of the co-operative system of running the messes at which the majority of the forty thousand canal workers get their food. There are three classes of messes, eating houses for white Americans, mess halls for European laborers, and mess kitchens at which food is cooked for the West Indian negro laborers.

In one month twenty of the messes for Americans served 208,745 meals at a total cost of $64,200, and the total revenue from them was $62,600. Sixteen messes for European laborers were conducted at which 73,000 rations of three meals each were served at a total cost of $27,900 and the revenue was $29,400. Sixteen kitchens for negro laborers were conducted, at which 36,400 rations of three meals each were served, at a total cost of $9,500, with a revenue of $9,800.

The Hotel Tivoli is also run by the subsistence department, and this made a profit of about $100,000 last year. Out of this surplus any deficit in the running of the canal workers' messes is made up. Thus the tourist contributes a little cash each month to the maintenance of the canal builders.

Meals for white Americans cost 30 cents each, for Europeans, 40 cents for three meals, and for the negroes, 27 cents for three meals. The close margin on which this extensive feeding business is run is possible because the subsistence department maintains its own supply depot and has evolved an effective method of scientific management of the messes.

OBJECTS TO POSTER GIRL.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—The Oregon Women's Christian Temperance Union is up in arms against the Portola poster that is being sent broadcast over the country to advertise the festival to be held in San Francisco in October. Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, State President, contends that a poster depicting a woman with the legs partly bare in a dancing position is an insult to womanhood, and should not be permitted to represent any festivity on the Pacific Coast.

"The East thinks we women of the West are wild and woolly enough," said Mrs. Unruh last night. "We don't need to have this additional impression sent forth."

The union has addressed a protest to United States Senator Lane, to Gov. West and to State Unions throughout the West.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The weather has been unsettled with showers during Wednesday in the Middle Atlantic States, the eastern portion of the North Atlantic States, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi Valleys, and in the northern plateau region. The weather has been generally fair in the Plains States, the Missouri and Lower Mississippi Valley, and the Gulf States.

Temperatures have risen somewhat in the North and Middle Atlantic States, but are still below the seasonal average. They have risen also in the North Plains States, and the weather was warm Wednesday between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi River.

Indications are for showers and thunderstorms on Thursday in the Mississippi and Missouri Valleys and in the Middle Atlantic States, scattered showers continuing during Friday in the last named district. The weather will be fair during Thursday and Friday over practically all the region west of the Mississippi. Temperatures will continue high in the Plains States and moderate in eastern districts.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND FRIDAY.

New England—Generally fair Thursday and Friday; light to moderate southwest winds.

3 A. M.	73	66	4 P. M.	83	70
6 A. M.	73	68	6 P. M.	82	67

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Builder Buys Thirty-five Lots in the Bronx for Improvement—Elizabeth Street Tenement Sold—$80,000 Apartment for Brooklyn—Many Private Dwellings Leased.

It was a quiet day in the realty market yesterday. About the only deal of especial note was furnished from the Bronx, where the estate of Marcus Nathan sold to a builder a plot of about thirty-five lots, fronting on Zerega Avenue, Maclay Avenue and Fuller Street. The property will be improved with two-family houses. John Cook & Co. negotiated the transaction.

Elizabeth Street Tenement Sold.

The six-story tenement at 196 Elizabeth Street, between Spring and Prince Streets, has been sold by Joseph L. Conte & Co. for the Altavista Realty Company of Dr. M. Scimeca. The plot is 26.2 by 97.

Bronx Borough.

Brooklyn.

Joseph Metzger sold for Mrs. L. Cohn to S. Rheingold for investment 453 and 455 Tremont Street, two three-story dwellings, each on a lot 20 by 100.

$80,000 Brooklyn Apartment House.

A four-story brick and stone apartment house is to be erected on the west side of Bay Thirteenth Street, 125 feet north of Benson Avenue, Brooklyn, by the Fram Construction Company. According to the plans filed with the Building Bureau, the project will cost $80,000.

The building will cover a plot of ground 60 feet by 86 feet and accommodate sixteen families. It will be one of the largest apartment houses in this section of Bath Beach.

Private Dwellings Leased.

John A. Black has leased from R. Fulton Cutting 22 East Sixty-seventh Street, a four-story and basement dwelling occupying a lot 24 by 100.5, and adjoining the southwest corner of Madison Avenue. It has been in the market for lease recently at $10,000 per annum.

Douglas L. Elliman & Co., in conjunction with Connor Lawrence, have leased for Mrs. Charles H. Isham 30 East Sixty-third Street, a four-story high-stoop dwelling with an extension, on a lot 20 by 100, to Mrs. Reynolds.

H. C. Senior & Co. have leased for Eugene Vallens the four-story brownstone dwelling at 3 West Eighty-fourth Street to a client for a term of years.

S. J. Taylor leased for Ernest Hall the residence 2,411 Walton Avenue, the Bronx, to George D. Burnside.

Worthington Whitehouse has leased 45 West Forty-eighth Street for Sarah F. Zabriskie and 47 West Forty-eighth Street for Arthur R. Gray and Sarah F. Zabriskie for a term of years to Mrs. J. C. Tomlinson.

Commercial Leases.

Unger & Watson have leased for Simeon Morgan Barber the corner building at 655 Lexington Avenue, southeast corner of Fifty-fifth Street, to Mrs. Reinhold Witte for a term of years.

L. & A. Pincus have rented the store in the building at 119 to 125 West Twenty-fourth Street to the National Cloak and Suit Company, completing the renting of the building.

Tenement Mortgages Placed.

Joseph L. Conte & Co. have placed the following first mortgage loans: On 1 and 3 Hancock Street, a new six-story tenement, 40 by 100, and 5 and 7 Hancock Street, a similar building, $36,000 each, for three years, to A. Gardone, for the Italian Savings Bank; on 70 Bayard Street, a seven-story tenement, 23 by 100, $30,000, for three years, to M. Lalli, for an estate.

Foreclosure Suits Against Currie Realty Company.

The United Assets Corporation of Long Island City has filed lis pendens in forty-five actions for foreclosure against the Currie Realty Company, a corporation which has been conducting building operations on Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Graham Avenues, Long Island City.

The extent of the operations of the company have been between $400,000 and $500,000. The actions were commenced in the Queens County Court, before Judge Burt J. Humphreys, through the firm of Leach & Williams, attorneys.

The United Assets Corporation is holder of mortgages on the property of the Currie Company, and the action was taken to conserve the interests of the United Assets Corporation in the operations.

EDUCATION NOTES.

There was no session yesterday of the Executive Committee of the Board of Education because a quorum was not present. Of the sixteen Commissioners comprising the committee only five were on hand—President Churchill, Vice President Greene, Messrs. Wilsey and Thompson, and Dr. Wile. President Churchill declared the meeting adjourned, subject to a call from him.

The Committee on Finance has reported in favor of appropriating $537.50 for the payment of a bill of the Superintendent of State Prisons for grates for Public School 43, the Bronx.

The Committee on Buildings has recommended the promotion of Reinhold H. F. Halsey, architectural draughtsman in the Bureau of Buildings, from a place paying $1,831.67 a year to one paying $1,942.50 a year. It has also recommended the appointment of John W. McCarthy as an Inspector of Masonry and Carpentry in the Bureau of Buildings at a salary of $1,600 a year.

The Bronx Neighborhood Association has asked permission to occupy the playground of Public School 30 from Oct. 5 to Oct. 11 for a bazaar, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of a flag for the school and for the relief of needy children.

NEW JERSEY—FOR SALE OR TO LET.

AN ABSOLUTE BARGAIN.

Last year I built a house intending it for my future home. Owing to business conditions I am obliged to sell. House has 10 rooms, is built by day's work under my own supervision. Health, time, and money were spent to make this house perfect. Stands on large plot of ground convenient to transportation, only 30 minutes to Manhattan. An ideal location; in fact, all one could ask for who desires a model home. I will sell this place for $8,500, terms to suit purchaser. This is about 1-3 less than it is actually worth. Let me show you the place. W. V. CHAMPLAIN, 522 West 156th St., New York City.

"Unusual Results"

The New York Times:

FURNISHED ROOMS. COME to us for rooms, apartments; no charge for service. Parke, Room 510, St. James Building. Phone 6678 Madison Square.

Not only have we had unusual results from our first use of your paper, and come in touch with a most desirable class of people, but we have reached sections of Brooklyn that we thought could be reached only through local newspapers.

It gives us great pleasure to testify to the efficiency of The New York Times as an advertising medium. PARKE & CO.,

It being the same premises which Irving A. Bachman and Laura S., his wife, and William J. Dingee and Virginia R., his wife, by Indenture bearing date May 19, 1909, and recorded in the office for the recording of deeds at Easton, in and for said county, in Deed Book E, vol. 38, page 643, granted, conveyed, and confirmed unto the said Northampton Portland Cement Company, its successors and assigns, in fee simple.

And all buildings, tools, apparatus, and machinery and any and all leases, contracts, inventions, patents, rights, and franchises of every kind owned or acquired by said defendants for use in or in connection with the business or manufacturing and dealing in cement or analogous products.

The aforesaid property, premises, franchises, and personal property will be sold without liability on the part of the purchaser to see to the application of the purchase money.

The offering of the property will be subject to the right of the court to accept the bid or bids which it shall deem the highest and best in interest of the parties.

As to such personal property as has been delivered to and taken by the First National Bank of Easton, Pennsylvania, as pledgee, under and in accordance with a certain agreement and lien, on the part of the Northampton Portland Cement Company (of Delaware), terre tenant, one of said defendants, and in said agreement and lease described and scheduled, bearing date the 31st day of October, 1911, and therein and thereby set apart to and held by said bank as collateral security for a certain loan or indebtedness owing by said defendant to said bank, being at the date of the said decree the sum of $22,868.23, with interest thereon from April 30, 1912, the purchaser shall take title subject to said lien; but nothing in the decree or in this notice contained shall constitute, or be deemed an adjudication upon said lien, nor in favor of, nor against, any purchaser under this decree or other person with respect thereto, save that as to a purchaser hereunder it shall be deemed notice of the fact and general terms thereof.

At such sale there shall be paid to the trustee or to its duly authorized representative or attorney, by the purchaser or purchasers at the said sale, immediately upon the said property being struck down to him or them, the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars on account of the purchase money. Such sum may be paid by approved certified check or certificate of deposit. In default of such payment the premises and property as aforesaid shall be immediately resold, and such bidder or bidders shall be personally liable to the trustee for the amount of the difference between the price obtained upon such resale and the amount of the previous bid.

There shall be paid in cash, of the price at which said property shall be sold, in addition to the amount paid at the time of the sale, such further portion of the purchase money as the court shall direct.

The remainder of the purchase price shall be paid within thirty days after the date of sale, either in cash or in bonds or overdue coupons secured by the mortgage on the property, reckoning each bond or coupon so appropriated and used at such sum as shall be payable thereon out of the net proceeds of the sale.

Any person proposing to purchase the properties at the said sale is referred to said decree in this notice specifically mentioned, for a more full and complete description of the properties therein directed to be sold, and which it is proposed to sell in accordance with the foregoing notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said property shall be made. The said decree may be found filed in the Prothonotary's office of the Court of Common Pleas of Northampton County, Pennsylvania at Easton, Pennsylvania, and is subject to the inspection of the public generally. A certified copy of such decree is in the possession of the trustee, at its office, at No. 37 Wall Street, New York, and will be in its possession at the time and place of sale and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

MASTER'S SALE.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE PURSUANT TO ADJOURNMENT.

CHANCERY SALE.—In pursuance and by virtue of second amended decrees of foreclosure and sale in favor of the Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, made and entered in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, and of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, and of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, which second amended decrees were dated on the 12th day of May, A. D. 1913, and entered in said Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, May 12, 1913; in said Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, May 13, 1913, and in said Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, May 16, 1913, in causes pending in said respective courts and entitled: The New York Trust Company, Complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company et al., Defendants; Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, Complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, Defendant; William J. Courtney et al., Complainants, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, Defendant; (Consolidated Cause, in Equity;) the causes pending in the said Districts of Ohio being ancillary to the cause pending in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, and in pursuance of adjournment of sale had on June 28th, 1913: Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Special Master Commissioner of said courts, will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidders on Thursday, the 28th day of August, A. D. 1913, at twelve o'clock noon, standard time of said day, at the former Delray Station Building of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, on River Street, the same being in the City of Detroit, in the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, the following-described property by the said second amended decree in favor of Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company directed to be sold, to wit: Ten hundred and fourteen (1,014) shares of preferred stock of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, being certain property of the said Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company included in the mortgage or deed of trust from that company to Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant herein, dated May 2, 1905, to secure certain bonds designated as Consolidated Bonds. The Master will accept no bid for the said shares of stock from any bidder who shall not place in his hands or deposit with him at the time of making the bid as a pledge that the bidder will make good his bid if accepted by the court the sum of twenty-five dollars per share in cash, certified cheque, or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder, if successful, shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of said decree, and any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise, but which said sum shall be applied on the purchase price of the said stock in case of such compliance, or will be returned in case the said bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the court. The right of the court is reserved to reject any bid and to resell the said stock, or any part thereof, upon the failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the court as to the payment of the purchase price, or any part thereof, in cash or otherwise, as may be directed. If the said shares of stock shall be purchased by or on behalf of the holders of the said Consolidated Bonds, the remainder of the purchase price over and above the amount in cash required to be paid at the time of sale may be paid either in cash or in receivers' certificates, or in claims payable under Article 3 of the aforesaid decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, or in Consolidated Bonds, and overdue coupons thereon, at such proportionate value as the holders thereof will be entitled to receive thereon, respectively, on distribution of the proceeds of such sale, in case such purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

Any person proposing to purchase said stock at the said sale is referred to the said second amended decrees in this notice specifically mentioned for a more full and complete description of the said stock which it is proposed to sell in accordance with the foregoing notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said stock shall be made.

The said three second amended decrees in favor of Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, Complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and may be found filed and recorded in the offices of the Clerks of the United States District Courts at Detroit, Michigan; at Toledo, Ohio, and at Columbus, Ohio, respectively, and are subject to the inspection of the public generally. Certified copies of the said second amended decrees will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale, and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

FIREBOAT NOZZLE KILLS A FIREMAN

FIRE DOES $200,000 DAMAGE

Devoe Oil Tanks Have to be Emptied When Blaze Starts in the Case Factory.

When a costly fire started early yesterday morning in the case factory of the Devoe oil yards at the foot of Ninth Street, Long Island City, the Abram S. Hewitt was one of the fireboats that came in from the water side to supplement the fourteen land companies that were fighting the blaze from the shore. The storage close by of immense quantities of oil increased the chances of great disaster a hundredfold and to check as best they could the advance of the flames the fireboats pushed in through the smoke as close to the blaze as the heat would allow.

That was what the Hewitt was doing when the great nozzle known as the "bow gun" was ripped loose by the force of the 130 pounds pressure of water. Nozzle and base weighing close to half a ton were shot into the air like some mammoth projectile. Bertram Johnson, the fireman at the nozzle, was struck in the head a crashing blow and lay on the deck as the Hewitt backed out for repairs. The two surgeons who came aboard said he was dead, so his comrades covered him over with a bit of tarpaulin and sent the Hewitt pushing back into the thick of the fight against the flames.

Two other bad accidents entered into the record of this fire. Lieut. Matthew O'Farrell of Engine 262, Astoria, was on his way to the foot of Ninth Street when he was thrown to the street, and he now lies in St. John's Hospital with his skull fractured.

The third accident befell a spectator. Fourteen-year-old Joseph Aolines, of 58 Eighth Street, Long Island City, was pushed off the dock and struck with the falling débris as he was swimming to shore. He, too, is in St. John's Hospital with a bad wound in his head.

The chance for further accident came when the firemen were still working over the ruins at 8 o'clock. Two alarms were sounded from St. John's Hospital in Jackson Avenue, almost ten blocks away. With the alarm came the report that the hospital with its more than 250 patients was on fire.

The tired firemen sprang into new action. Uncoupling their hose and leaving it in the street, one after another the engines, trucks and tenders started pell-mell through Ninth and Tenth Streets on their way to the hospital. Their wild drive led them across Vernon Avenue, which is dug up for repairs, but without a moment's hesitation the horses and engines and machines plunged ahead, making the crossing somehow. The fire chiefs in their automobiles were not to be outdone. They, too, took the trenches and piles of cobblestones. On the good pavement of Jackson Avenue they all straightened out and charged ahead like batteries going into action.

Arrived at Eleventh Street they found that while some one had turned an alarm in from the hospital, the blaze was really a trifling affair in an apartment house at 16 Pearson Street.

The Devoe blaze did $200,000 damage. Discovered shortly after 4 o'clock, it needed four alarms to bring enough apparatus to fight it. The company is a Standard Oil concern, and while there were no oil tanks in the yard where the flames were, the danger of their spreading led to the pumping of hundreds of thousands of gallons from the tanks in the adjoining yards to receiving tanks in Constable Hook, N. J.

MAPLEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 13.—Frederick Mathes, a laborer employed at the country home here of Edwin D. Hatch, a New York banker, is dying in the Orange Memomial Hospital from injuries suffered when he was attacked by a prize Jersey bull in its stall last night. His ribs were broken and he was gored severely.

Mathes was attempting to empty some food into manger when the animal attacked him. He was found bleeding and unconscious under the manger by another workman.

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J., Aug. 13.—Walter W. Ervey, a farmer of Hardwick Township, is lying dangerously injured at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Andrew H. Hill, near this place. He was attacked by a cow in a field near his home early this morning. He was crossing a field toward a small trout stream when a cow to which he had brought a handful of salt occasionally approached him. It bent its head to his hand and not finding any salt, gored him.

NEWARK GAMBLERS HELD UP

Italian Prizefighter Arrested as Leader of Men Who Robbed Resorts

Newark contains gamblers and gunmen who prey upon them. This was disclosed when "Young" Stanzo, an alleged gangster, of 18 Bedford Avenue, Newark, was held yesterday in $3,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of having held up several gambling resorts early Sunday morning.

It was said that the places visited by the gunmen were all in the immediate neighborhood of the "Four Corners," the busiest part of Newark. In each case the gamblers, proprietors, and players were threatened with revolvers. While the owners of the places visited by the gunmen made no complaint, Acting Capt. Caffrey of the First Precinct, heard of the hold-ups and forced one of those robbed to tell of his experience. Detectives Ryan and Farrell on Monday night arrested Stanzo, an Italian prizefighter, who was said to have led the gunmen.

EARL & WILSON

"The kissing champion" is what the amused spectators called a stout Frenchman with a pointed beard who, when he arrived at the French Line pier to board the Savoie just before she sailed for Havre yesterday, attempted to take a fond farewell from every one in sight. He succeeded in kissing one chauffeur, one priest, five young women, and one elderly woman, but was rather roughly rebuffed when he sought to press his lips to the rosy red cheeks of Moody and Leeson, the Central Office detectives who watch the transatlantic piers.

The Savoie sailed at 10 A. M., and the kissing Frenchman, who was booked first cabin, arrived at the pier about ten minutes before sailing time. He arrived in a taxicab, and as he handed the fare to the chauffeur he surprised that individual by suddenly leaning forward and kissing him full, fair, and squarely on the lips. The chauffeur tried to caress him in return with a left hook, but the Frenchman dodged and darted down the pier. Near the gangway a priest was taking leave of a friend when the Frenchman came along, put his arms around the priest's neck and bestowed a hearty kiss upon his cheek. The priest was too surprised to utter a word.

At the pier end of the gangplank were massed hundreds of persons, who were there to bid relatives and friends good-bye. The Frenchman, beaming with smiles, kissed a path through the crowd. Five comely young women were kissed before they had a chance to object. Every one of them got mad, too, but the crowd was demanding encores and the Frenchman obliged by kissing a nearsighted old lady who had asked him what everybody was laughing at. Then he dashed aboard, and as the liner drew out stood at the rail and waved kisses at everybody on the pier, Moody and Leeson included.

ARREST SIGHTSEEING AUTO.

Sixty Passengers Go First to Station, Then to Court.

A sightseeing automobile, packed with men and women bound for the Polo Grounds, was caught in Times Square yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Mahoney, who told the "lecturer" that the car was outside the bounds of any public stand designated by the Mayor, and bade him alight and be arrested without further delay. The lecturer, who gave his name as Moses Small, declined to descend, and with this prospect of diversion the little knot of spectators grew in a twinkling to such proportions that Patrolman Weiland and Patrolman Hearn, who came to Mahoney's support, had to brandish revolvers before a spot could be cleared for the struggling Small to stand in while he was being handcuffed.

Meanwhile, the sixty passengers in the car had been making harsh comments. Their uproar was deafening when they heard that the car, too, would have to go to the West Forty-seventh Street Station. One man said he would go along, another seconded the motion, and thereupon the entire party stuck to their seats while the big machine was driven first to the station and then to the West Side Court.

The passengers all swore that they would be witnesses for Small, and as such they filled the spectators' seats, but none of them was called, as the examination will not be held until to-day, when the "lecturer" will also have to answer the charges of having resisted arrest and using abusive language. Small said he lived at 50 St. Mark's Place.

ALIMONY FOR MRS. DE BOST.

Supreme Court Justice Giegerich signed an order yesterday awarding alimony at the rate of $60 a month and $150 counsel fees to Mrs. Fannie P. DeBost, pending the trial of her suit for separation against Louis L. DeBost. Mrs. DeBost, who gave her address as 225 West 102d Street, asked for $100 a month alimony.

According to Charles Harwood, her lawyer, Mrs. DeBost was formerly the wife of Eldridge Gerry Snow, Jr., whom she divorced, receiving $4,000 a year maintenance for herself and their two children. In 1907 she married DeBost. She said that she had instituted suit against DeBost for a separation once before and had withdrawn it on his promise to refrain from drinking.

SHERIFF BACKS WATER.

Sheriff Julius Harburger continued his correspondence yesterday with F. A. Mathews of 41 West 118th Street, whom he had offered to make a special deputy sheriff to suppress noise. The Sheriff was obliged to withdraw his offer, because F. A. Mathews turned out to be Miss Frances Aymar, and the law does not provide for women deputies. In her second letter to the Sheriff, Miss Mathews said that her great grandfather was the founder of Tammany Hall. To this the Sheriff replied:

"You do not seem to be an admirer of Mayor Gaynor. I am. I am glad you mention that your great grandfather was the founder of Tammany Hall. I m a Sachem of the Columbian Order, where I get my inspiration for patriotic themes and as Sheriff of this county carry them into effect."

FIRE LAW BREAKERS ARE FINED HEAVILY

PRISON THREAT FOR FIVE

Men Who Locked Factory Doors Told They Would Be Sent to Jail if Convicted Again.

Forty-six manufacturers of this city and their employes were brought before the Justices of Special Sessions yesterday charged by agents of the Bureau of Fire Prevention with having violated the factory laws. Fines ranging from $20 to $75 were imposed, and the Justices warned five manufacturers found guilty of locking the doors of their plants while operatives were at work that if they were convicted of the same offense a second time, they would be sent to prison.

"In the future," said Justice Zeller, speaking for the court, "it is the intention of this court to make an example of men who persist in violating the law. There is not going to be another Triangle Shirt Waist Co. fire if this court can help it."

The five men convicted of locking the doors of their plants were Harry Schreier, a manufacturer of sample cards, at 404-408 East Twenty-seventh Street, with twenty-five employes; Louis Amdur, a clothing manufacturer, of 683 Broadway, with five employes; Irving L. Lewis, a cap manufacturer, of 39-41 West Third Street, with seventy employes; Harry Preiss of 707 Broadway, a clothing manufacturer, with 100 employes, and Samuel Kaufman, a cloak manufacturer at 49 Division Street. The first three men were fined $75, with the alternative of twenty days in the Tombs. The others were fined $50 each.

According to the complainants, who were either officials of the Bureau of Fire Prevention or members of the Fire Department detailed to inspection service, the lives of 2,000 employes were imperiled by forty men who were arrested for smoking. Three of these offenders were owners of factories, and they were fined $50 each. They were Abraham Epstein, a dress manufacturer at 52 East Broadway; Hermann Kirsch of 82-86 Rutgers Slip, a manufacturer of trousers, and Charles Weibke, a machinist, of 135 West Third Street. The others, who were all employes, were fined $20 each, with alternatives of either one or two days in the Tombs, according to the circumstances of the case. Many of the men were unable to pay the fines, and were sent to prison.

In nearly every instance the defendants pleaded not guilty before the Magistrates in the courts and changed their pleas in Special Sessions. Before the Magistrates various excuses were offered. One employe said that the pipe he was alleged to have been smoking was an old one, and at the time of the Inspectors' visit he was cleaning it. Others said that cigarettes had been handed to them by other persons as the Inspectors entered. One employe asserted that the smoke the Inspector saw did not come from a cigarette at all, but from a gas iron he was using.

Two men were fined for violations at 23 Washington Place, the building in which the so-called Triangle fire occurred. Louis Brill, an elevator man, paid $20 for smoking a cigarette, and Jonas Levy paid the same amount for a similar offense. There were eighty-seven cases of factory law violations on the calendar, but only forty-six were brought up yesterday. Sentence was suspended in the case of Jacob Lissner of 313-319 Lafayette Street, who was accused of not installing proper receptacles for waste materials. He explained that the place where the violation was charged was an annex of his plant, and was used mainly for the storage of piece goods.

IN NEW JERSEY.

NEWARK.—Warned that it would be dangerous to remove his three-year-old daughter, Viola, suffering from burns received Monday, from the City Hospital, Alfonso Pagliaro, of 10 Seventh Avenue, took the child home and two hours later she was dead.

ENGLEWOOD.—Miss Marguerite Stapleton and another young woman were held up at the point of a revolver by two young men on Hudson Terrace, between Englewood and Tenafly, and robbed of a gold watch and a ring.

HACKENSACK.—Commission Government was adopted by the voters of Union township, by a majority of 27 at a special election; the vote being 299 for, and 272 against.

BUTLER.—The water famine which threatened the Boroughs of Butler and Bloomingdale has been averted through the generosity of Morris and Warren Kinney, the "cigarette kings," who have agreed to lift the sluice gate of the lake at Kinneylan, three miles from here. Mayor Paul Witteck of Butler has urged citizens to use as little water as possible for cooking and drinking purposes.

LONG BRANCH.—The Visiting Nurse Association is planning to hold a "Better Babies' Contest" on Aug. 18.

STEVENS TO CONTINUE.

That the bankruptcy petition filed recently by the John F. Stevens Construction Company of 55 Wall Street will not prevent the concern from carrying out its contract with the city to build Section 1 of the new Lexington Avenue Subway was indicated yesterday when Judge Julius M. Mayer of the United States District Court issued an order authorizing Receivers Joel Rathbone and Frederick W. Stelle to issue $25,000 worth of receivers' certificates for that purpose.

The company, which has completed one-ninth of the job, is to receive a payment of about $40,000 from the city this week. This money, together with the $25,000 raised by the issue of certificates, will tide the work over temporarily, as the company's payroll for labor on the subway amounts to only $7,500. It is also regarded as likely that the receivers will get permission to issue more certificates when necessary. The completion of Section 1 of the new subway, according to the receivers, will mean a profit of $300,000 to the contractors.

It was said yesterday that it is likely that a reorganization of the company will follow, and the creditors will be paid in full. The city was fully protected against any possible default in the fulfillment of the contract, as it has held John F. Stevens's bond for $75,000, of which $65,000 was furnished by the National Surety Company.

CUT PAY TO DODGE ALIMONY.

Pinkham, Who Got $18 a Week, Asked Employer to Make Wages $10

G. Lester Pinkham, a bookkeeper, of 166 Lincoln Street, Flushing, charged with abandoning his wife and child, asked to have his salary reduced to escape paying alimony, according to the testimony of his employer, before Magistrate Conway, in the Flushing court yesterday. Pinkham testified that he received $10 a week, and his employer, A. M. Ryon, confirmed the statement.

"Is he worth more money?" the Magistrate asked.

"He certainly is,' replied Mr. Ryon; "I formerly paid him $18 a week, but he asked to have his salary reduced to 10 a week."

The Magistrate directed Pinkham to pay his wife $5 a week, and to furnish a bond of $520 to guarantee that the money would be paid.

MAYOR INSTRUCTS MARSH.

Hints That Street Speakers Should Give Notice of Plans.

Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary of the Lower Rents League, who was arrested recently at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Twenty-third Street after delivering an address on the theme of halving the tax rate on improvements and raising it on real estate, yesterday received a letter from Mayor Gaynor in reply to one sent to him by Mr. Marsh complaining about the action of Magistrate Corrigan in finding him guilty and suspending sentence. The Mayor wrote:

"Of course you have to abide by the decision of the Magistrate. I cannot overrule it, no matter how absurd it may sound to me. The paramount right in the street is that of the people passing to and fro. Subject to this right, people have a right to speak in the street. If they obstruct travel they must be made to move on. The way we work it out practically is for those who want to speak in the street to give notice to the police in advance, so that an officer may be there to see that the street is not obstructed and that the speaker is not interrupted."

"Dopey Benny" Says Sergeant Led Him to Policemen Waiting to Attack Him.

Benjamin Fein, known to his friends as "Dopey Benny," who is held in the Tombs on a charge of making a felonious assault upon Police Sergt. Patrick E. Sheridan of the Clinton Street Station, asked the District Attorney yesterday to permit him to make a statement in regard to the case to the Grand Jury.

Fein, it was said, told the District Attorney that on the night of Aug. 10 he was standing at Forsyth and Grand Streets when Sheridan approached him and said: "Come with me, Benny." Instead of going toward the nearest police station, Fein said, the policeman took him to Grand Street and the Bowery. There, Fein asserted, other policemen joined them and beat him with blackjacks. He was taken to the station, and there he said he found that an ambulance was waiting for him. Fein said he had fifteen witnesses who would substantiate his story.

McManus Association Outing.

The Thomas J. McManus Association will have its annual outing and games at Witzel's Grove, College Point, L. I., next Monday. The association will start for the grove on the steamboat Sirius from Fiftieth Street, North River, at 10 A. M.
